Labor To Seek Higher Wages, Shorter Week

Indonesians Hint U.S. Can Be Mediator

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Dec. 11 (UP)—An Indonesian government spokesman said tonight that Indonesia would welcome a U.S. offer to mediate its bitter dispute with the Netherlands over control of Dutch New Guinea.

"If the United States offered to mediate we would be glad to accept," Foreign Office Spokesman Ganis Harsono said in replying to a question by an American newsman.

At the same time, Indonesian President Sukarno cancelled a scheduled tour of Europe and Latin America and told the Indonesian people they must be prepared to face hardships and sacrifices in a showdown struggle with the Dutch.

Campaign Goes On
The developments occurred amid a continuing anti-Dutch campaign that has resulted in seizure of many Dutch-owned businesses and plantations and growing exodus of Dutch Nationals from Indonesia.

Russian Ambassador, chairman of the Indonesian National Council told a rally tonight that all Dutch bank, estates, and industrial enterprises in East Java would be taken over "systematically" by the government.

The Indonesian Foreign Office spokesman said that Indonesia would accept an American mediation offer if the United States made simultaneous approaches to the Dutch and Indonesian governments.

It was the first reliable indication that the Indonesian government would be receptive to mediation attempts by a third party in its campaign to gain control of West New Guinea (West Irian) from the Dutch.

Bulganin's New Note Receives U.S. Brush-Off

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—The United States today brushed off Russian Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin's proposal for East-West peace talks as an apparent effort to sway next week's NATO summit meeting in Paris.

Official U.S. reaction to Bulganin's surprise proposal, made in a letter to President Eisenhower and other western leaders, was voiced by State Department press officer Lincoln White in a carefully-prepared statement.

"I think it can be assumed that the timing of the delivery of this letter and the intention of the Soviet Union to publish it indicate an intention to influence proceedings at the NATO conference," White said.

Letter Not Discussed
He made the statement after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reported that he and President Eisenhower had not even discussed the Bulganin letter during a last-minute conference on plans for the NATO meeting.

Dulles, who leaves for Paris Thursday, said he had not read the letter yet. His statement emphasized American determination not to let the Soviet torpedo American efforts to beef up the sagging NATO alliance during the Paris talks.

The President, buoyed by an encouraging medical report from his doctors, leaves for Paris Friday to head the U.S. delegation. The United States hoped his presence would bolster the morale of European nations in the face of Russia's missile-satellite successes.

Blast, Fire Hit Hotel In Texas Town

Several Feared Trapped Inside Greenville Bldg.

GREENVILLE, Tex., Dec. 11 (AP) A gas explosion followed by fire shattered the Beckham Hotel in downtown Greenville tonight. At least two persons were seriously injured and others were believed trapped in the wreckage.

Leon Shift, hotel manager, and his wife were at Beckham Hospital in serious condition. None of the other two hospitals in town reported receiving any victims at 11:30 p.m.

Fire followed the explosion and "a few people were taken out on stretchers," Ralph Marcom, Greenville radio newsman said.

Windows were knocked out in buildings across the street.

The blast occurred just before 11 p.m. It was felt blocks away.

W. C. Pool, former newspaper publisher and a resident of Greenville, said he could hear screams from trapped guests coming from the building.

He said it was burning fiercely. All fire, police and ambulance (Continued On Page 5-A)

Time, Harmony Asked At Hearing

By SAM HANNA Staff Writer

CAMDEN, Ark., — Monroe officials again moved against pollution of the Ouachita River here yesterday before they were asked for "time and cooperation" by the newly-formed Arkansas Statements urging the Arkansas Water Control Commission to prevent pollution of the river were filed by Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez of the City of Monroe.

He headed a delegation of nine in presenting Monroe's interests in the problem before the commission for the second time. The hearing was called to receive testimony on pollution in West Two Bayou.

Results of the first hearing, held at El Dorado October 8th, were seen taking shape yesterday when a group of South Arkansas independent oil dealers asked Monroe for "time and cooperation."

In an unofficial meeting following the hearing, Robert E. Adair, association president, of El Dorado told the Monroe officials a "time plan" would be arranged and presented to the commission.

He explained that they organized the association to express fear of an effort by Monroe officials to apply an injunction of federal law 666.

Explain Disputes
They testified at the El Dorado hearing, explaining that salt deposits from their wells empty into the Ouachita River.

Adair said yesterday that with "time and cooperation," the association would work out its own system of solving the El Dorado problem.

Rodriguez told the association that the City of Monroe had no authority "to make an arrangement" and urged the group to work through the Arkansas Commission and the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Adair, who explained that the association covers an area from Camden to the Louisiana line, said a report would be made and filed with the Arkansas commission within the next six months.

"All we ask for is time and cooperation," Adair stated. "If we don't get it, it would ruin the (Continued On Page 5-A)

Truman Blamed For ICBM Missile Lag

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Rep. Ford (R-Mich.) contended today the United States would have had a workable intercontinental ballistic missile — ICBM — four years ago but for an economy order by former President Truman.

Ford said in a statement that Truman, in impounding research funds which Congress had voted, acted contrary to the advice of President Eisenhower, then chief of staff of the Army.

Truman has said his administration had a missile program and that it was scrapped

IN RICHLAND PARISH

Man, 40, Charged In Mother's Death

RAYVILLE (Special) — Forty-year-old Nelson Johns was charged late yesterday with murdering his 75-year-old mother by either shooting or clubbing off her head with a shotgun in a nocturnal outburst at the family home near Warden.

Assistant District Attorney W. R. Coenen of Richland parish announced that charges had been filed against Johns last night in the grim slaying of Mrs. Ruth Johns, 75, who was shot or clubbed to death.

Johns, 40, was held at the Rayville Jail. He was charged with the murder of his mother, who was found dead in her home near Warden.

Earlier, officials had thought Mrs. Johns had been shot and that she was beaten after she was dead. In his admission of the crime to Chief Deputy Sheriff Audrey McKinney, Johns said "I beat the head off her body."

In reconstructing the crime, Deputy McKinney said Mrs. Johns apparently had been lying in bed fully clothed and for some undetermined reason had gotten up. She was killed moments later and she fell near the front door of the small frame house.

The severed head, which had been pulverized by repeated blows, was found on the porch by officers who arrived on the scene after being summoned by Archie Johns.

Awakened By Noise
The younger brother told McKinney and Delhi City Marshal Hershell Morris that he was awakened by noise, saw what had happened and ran about 100 feet to a neighbor's house to call for help. The neighbor, Cooper Russell, called McKinney at his home in Delhi.

"I was in bed — I couldn't help it," McKinney quoted Archie Johns as saying.

After the killing, McKinney said, Nelson Johns took the gun and beat out all the windows of the house and his brother's car. The weapon, a 12-gauge shotgun, was a crumpled mass when officers found it.

When they arrived on the scene, McKinney said he knocked on the door and Nelson opened it. "I took him by his arm and led him to the car," the deputy said. "Nelson was mumbling 'I just went insane.'"

The officer said they still had (Continued On Page 2-A)

Torpedoed Ship Reports Blamed On Maneuvers

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—A flurry of reports of a torpedoed ship today turned out to have been caused by only a joint exercise drill of the Canadian and U.S. Navies.

The flurry started when the Coast Guard in Miami received a radio report from the tanker South Carolina. The tanker radioed that she had intercepted an indistinct message from an unnamed ship saying the vessel had been torpedoed.

The message gave details of the position of the supposedly torpedoed ship, putting it about 120 miles off Nova Scotia.

Later the U.S. Navy explained that vessels of the U.S. and Canadian Navies have been conducting sea and air exercises off Nova Scotia.

Apparently, officials said, the message the tanker picked up came from one of the ships involved in these exercises.

Such antisubmarine exercises are a routine weekly affair, the Navy added.

"The merchant ship didn't hear the first part of the message," said a Navy spokesman. "The message began, 'this is a drill.'"

Ready For Change

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 11 (AP)—People who live on Eisenhower Street asked the city council today to change the street name to Eastland Drive in honor of Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.).

City engineer Josh Halbert objected, saying Jackson already has a street named Eastland, which dropped to 34 that night.

Residents of Eisenhower Street left the council, determined to dig up another name.

BULLET-SHAPED Army Discloses Satellite Plans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The satellite which the Army proposes to send aloft is much bigger and somewhat heavier than either of those in the still-grounded Navy Vanguard program.

This was disclosed today with publication of official pictures of the bullet-shaped object which the Army expects to hurl into orbit with a souped-up Jupiter-C rocket.

The total length of the satellite assembly is 30 inches.

Of this total length, approximately 30 inches appears to be the tapered nose cone and tube of the actual satellite, containing radio transmitters and instruments to record and report cosmic radiation, temperature, pressures and other data.

Seven Feet Long
Still attached to this 30-inch length when the assembly goes into orbit at 18,000 miles an hour will be the tube which contained the final rocket charge—bringing the over-all length to approximately seven feet.

The assembly weighs 27.7 pounds, after the solid fuel of the final rocket stage has burned up. The Army says this compares with 21.5 pounds for the full-scale Vanguard satellite.

The instruments in the Army satellite will weigh a total of about 10 pounds, approximately the same as that for the Vanguard sphere.

The Army launching vehicle uses for the first stage a liquid fuel rocket engine of the type utilized in the Army Redstone missile. This engine, together with booster rockets, is considered adequate to loft the combined initial weight of the first-stage engine, the three additional stages, the (Continued On Page 5-A)

Goodfellows Report Many Ask For Food, Clothing At Yuletide

Many persons have given generously to the Goodfellows fund, but there are many others who have not seen fit to contribute to this cause.

This latter group is the one we are now urging to reconsider and donate at least a small sum that those who are needy, right in our midst of plenty, may have a Christmas season that is not marred by the pangs of hunger.

There are so many, as letters to the Morning World and News-Star indicate, who seek only food and clothes, not gifts, at this holiday time.

Others, understandably, ask a small toy for their children, and who knows but what this is almost as much of a necessity?

In Hospital
A mother writes that her husband will be in the hospital on Christmas day, and that as he leaves home to go where he can receive needed treatment, he will leave her, and the children, age 12 and 3, without a penny.

A few dollars from your purse could help remedy this, and many similar situations. Just address your donation to Goodfellows, News-Star World, Monroe, La.

South Feels Angry Bite Of Winter

By UNITED PRESS

A huge Arctic cold wave, packing snow, high winds and death, numbed the nation's midlands Wednesday and spread rapidly through the East and South.

It was the coldest day of 1957 in many areas. Temperatures hit 20 degrees below zero in Minnesota, zero through Wisconsin and Illinois, and broke records in Texas.

Some relief was in store for the Midwest by Thursday, but the cold intensified elsewhere.

Cold Warnings
Cold wave warnings were issued for practically all eastern states, including most of Florida. Weathermen predicted zero readings Wednesday night in most of the northeast, the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley, and as far south as the Pennsylvania mountains.

Surprise snows and freezing rains accompanied the cold and either slicked highways or made them impassable through the Midwest, New England and Dixie. The United Press counted at least 12 weather-caused deaths, most of them in traffic smashups.

Parts of the South measured their first snow of consequence in years, a first with temperatures which were lower along the Gulf Coast than those in eastern New England.

Twelve - above temperatures were predicted in northern Alabama and Mississippi and freezing rain made North Carolina roads west of Asheville impassable without chains.

New Dallas Low
At Charleston, S.C., it was the first snow in two years and the first "sticking snow" in three. Alabama roads were iced for a while. Virginia's Grayson county had four inches of snow, and the 21 degree low at Dallas, Tex., made it the coldest Dec. 11 on record.

The cold threatened tender crops along the Gulf Coast. Florida's southern tip was expected to escape the cold wave, but farmers elsewhere in the state got smudged pots to ward off an expected frost. New Orleans weathermen issued warnings to protect tender vegetation, exposed water pipes and automobile radiators.

Just as Georgia recorded its coldest day of the year, the regional Department of Commerce proudly announced that the seven-state Dixie area had turned out 65,382,000 gallons of ice cream in the past year—enough to give everybody in the area three gallons apiece.

Adlai Delivers His Final Report To Sec'y Dulles

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson personally delivered his final report to Secretary of State Dulles today, formally ending 24 days as the Eisenhower administration's Democratic consultant on NATO problems.

Stevenson called on Dulles at 2 p.m. After posing for pictures they conferred for about 1½ hours in Dulles' office.

From the farewell meeting, Stevenson went to his sixth-floor temporary office, gathered up his belongings, polished off a bit of detailed paperwork and checked out. He flies back home to Chicago and his law practice tomorrow afternoon.

There was no evidence that Stevenson's major suggestions were incorporated in the proposals to be unveiled by Eisenhower and Dulles in Paris next week. The conference, Monday through Wednesday, brings together the government chiefs of the 15 Atlantic Alliance nations.

Ship Hunted

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Coast Guard said tonight it was making a harbors and communication search for the Ralph S. Havens, 67-foot tug overdue at Carrabelle, Fla.

The tug left Ft. Myers, Fla., last Friday and was due in Carrabelle yesterday.

Arthur Harris of New Orleans, the owner, said he talked with the vessel off Boca Grande, Fla., at 10:30 p.m. (CST) last Saturday.

AFL-CIO Labor To Seek Higher Wages, Shorter Week

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 11 (AP)—The AFL-CIO set its sights today on substantial wage increases and a shorter work week in 1958 and buried irrevocably any idea of a wage freeze or work week expansion.

Keyed by Vice President Walter P. Reuther, AFL-CIO convention delegates gave a resounding unanimous vote to a resolution making "sizeable" wage boosts, a shorter work week and fringe benefit improvements their 1958 collective bargaining policy.

Reuther said the failure of purchasing power to keep pace with rising production is the reason for today's inflation.

"We are in trouble because big business is taking a disproportionately large share of the fruits of our developing economy," declared the United Auto Workers president.

He added: "What we do at the bargaining table in '58 will be an important factor in re-establishing this dynamic, expanding balance between greater productive power and greater purchasing power."

The resolution officially buried a labor leader's suggestion of last week that unions forego any 1958 wage increases and a recommendation made yesterday by Senate Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex) that the 40-hour work week be (Continued On Page 2-A)

Neville High Places 6 In Semi-Finals

Neville's High School students out-paced all Northeast Louisiana schools in placing six students in the semi-finals of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation's third annual competition of high school seniors for scholarships worth a total of four million dollars.

They were among 102 from the state who, along with a total of 7,500 semi-finalists, outscored about 300,000 classmates in a college aptitude examination given in 14,000 high schools Oct. 22.

The Neville semi-finalists are Donald C. Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Andrews, 2308 Hawthorne St.; Vernon G. Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dean, 712 Rochelle Ave.; William B. Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Fuller, 409 Lakeshore Drive; Warren F. Taylor, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Taylor, 1223 Fairview Ave.; Briscoe A. Trousdale, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Trousdale, Jr., 1405 Fairview Ave.; and Richard P. Wright, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Wright, 2700 Kenmore Ave.

Neville's seniors placed in the semi-finals at a rate of 4.6 per cent, compared to a national average of 2.4 per cent.

Last year, Martha Riser, then a Neville senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Riser, 408 Forsythe, went through to the finals and became the first Monroeville to win a National Merit Scholarship.

Later the U.S. Navy explained that vessels of the U.S. and Canadian Navies have been conducting sea and air exercises off Nova Scotia.

Red Germany Attempting To Halt Exodus

BERLIN, Dec. 11 (UP)—Communist East Germany today decreed drastic laws to halt the mass westward flight of refugees crippling the worker force.

The East German Parliament rubber-stamped the demand of the woman justice minister, Hilde Benjamin, for powers to prosecute fleeing citizens. They now are escaping from the satellite at the rate of about 800 a day.

The new laws stipulate imprisonment at hard labor not only for intercepted refugees but for friends and relatives who help them in any way.

Speaking before a Parliament session in East Berlin, Mrs. Benjamin declared: "The West German NATO organs are trying to interfere with our economic development by luring away manpower."

Wants Deaf Ears
She warned all East Germans that from now on they must turn deaf ears to the "Pied Pipers of the West."

East Germans attempting to escape can now be jailed for up to three years and heavily fined. Their assistant friends and relatives are open to the same penalties.

Prison terms of not less than six months are specified for anyone encouraging young people or skilled workers to go West. Heavier punishment is demanded for those charged with persuading people to leave the country in the service of Western underground agencies.

Another decree allowing East German courts to mete out death sentences for "high treason, espionage, subversive activities, and sabotage" probably will be applied in some refugee cases.

Flight from East Germany was described as treason by the Communist newspaper Berliner Zeitung.

Adlai Delivers His Final Report To Sec'y Dulles

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson personally delivered his final report to Secretary of State Dulles today, formally ending 24 days as the Eisenhower administration's Democratic consultant on NATO problems.

Stevenson called on Dulles at 2 p.m. After posing for pictures they conferred for about 1½ hours in Dulles' office.

From the farewell meeting, Stevenson went to his sixth-floor temporary office, gathered up his belongings, polished off a bit of detailed paperwork and checked out. He flies back home to Chicago and his law practice tomorrow afternoon.

There was no evidence that Stevenson's major suggestions were incorporated in the proposals to be unveiled by Eisenhower and Dulles in Paris next week. The conference, Monday through Wednesday, brings together the government chiefs of the 15 Atlantic Alliance nations.

Ship Hunted
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11 (UP)—The Coast Guard said tonight it was making a harbors and communication search for the Ralph S. Havens, 67-foot tug overdue at Carrabelle, Fla.

The tug left Ft. Myers, Fla., last Friday and was due in Carrabelle yesterday.

Arthur Harris of New Orleans, the owner, said he talked with the vessel off Boca Grande, Fla., at 10:30 p.m. (CST) last Saturday. (Continued On Page 2-A)

Truman Blamed For ICBM Missile Lag

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—Rep. Ford (R-Mich) contended today the United States would have had a workable intercontinental ballistic missile — ICBM — four years ago but for an economy order by former President Truman.

Ford said in a statement that Truman, in impounding research funds which Congress had voted, acted contrary to the advice of President Eisenhower, then chief of staff of the Army.

Truman has said his administration had a missile program and that it was scrapped when he was succeeded in the White House by Eisenhower.

Ford cited testimony before the House Appropriations Committee 10 years ago and said it supports his conclusion that:

"The Truman administration cancellation in June of 1947 of the only U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile contract for the design and construction of a test vehicle prevented our nation from having an operational ICBM by 1953."

Ford is a member of a House Appropriations subcommittee which handles defense financing (Continued On Page 5-A)

Fair And Warmer Loom For Area

Warmer weather and fair skies are expected in the Twin Cities area today, after real winter weather buffeted the area yesterday and last night.

Yesterday's high never climbed above 33 degrees, with the low dipping to a frosty 26.

This came on the heels of Tuesday's high of 73, which dropped to 34 that night.

Arkansas may also expect warmer weather, with partly cloudy skies.

GOODFELLOWS REPORT Many Ask For Food, Clothing At Yuletide

Many persons have given generously to the Goodfellows fund, but there are many others who have not seen fit to contribute to this cause.

This latter group is the one we are now urging to reconsider and donate at least a small sum that those who are needy, right in our midst of plenty, may have a Christmas season that is not marred by the pangs of hunger.

There are so many, as letters to the Morning World and News-Star indicate, who seek only food and clothes, not gifts, at this holiday time.

Others, understandably, ask a small toy for their children, and who knows but what this is almost as much of a necessity?

In Hospital
A mother writes that her husband will be in the hospital on Christmas day, and that as he leaves home to go where he can receive needed treatment, he will leave her, and the children, age 12 and 3, without a penny.

A few dollars from your purse could help remedy this, and many similar situations. Just address your donation to Goodfellows, News-Star World, Monroe, La.

not been able to fully reconstruct the crime. Coenen said Johns was incoherent.

McKinney said that Johns is a World War II veteran and had been married to a Japanese woman and was the father of two children. About three years ago, his wife returned to her homeland, taking her children.

The deputy said that Nelson and Archie both drew government checks, and like their brother Cecil, were unemployed. He said Nelson and Archie lived in the house with their mother, while Cecil lived in a small house several hundred feet from the main residence.

DEFENSE MEASURE

Weather Control Research Locms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—President Eisenhower may be advised soon to speed up research on weather control as a defense measure.

Some scientists believe control of the weather, if achieved by man on a large scale, could be used as a weapon of war.

Staff representatives of the Advisory Committee on Weather Control, a temporary federal agency, said today the subject may be discussed and accelerated research urged in the committee's final report to the President at the end of the month.

The advisory committee was established in 1953 to make a complete evaluation of public and private experiments in weather control, including "cloud seeding," to produce rain.

While indicating they believed the report would be devoted principally to evaluating experiments aimed at controlling weather for peace-time uses, the committee representatives said they believed the report would also refer to control for military purposes.

For example, they said, the report might include a statement made in a speech by Dr. Henry Houghton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology that: "I shudder to think of the consequences of a prior Russian discovery of a feasible method of weather control... an unfavorable modification of our climate in guise of a peaceful effort to improve Russia's climate could seriously weaken our economy and our ability to resist."

The committee representatives said experiments by the Department of Agriculture in Alaska aimed at lengthening the crop season have shown that placing of carbon-black dust on ice and snow can have a local warming effect both on the ground and in the atmosphere.

Therefore it's conceivable, they added, that similar type snow-casting, done on a large scale, might have military applications in two ways:

1. By conceivably affecting global patterns of atmospheric circulation, and
2. Possibly providing means of melting snow and ice on the polar ice caps so that large areas of land might be inundated.

Colmer Lisis 3-Point Plan To Aid South

LAUREL, Miss., Dec. 11 (UP)—Rep. William Colmer (D-Miss) outlined today a three-point program which he said would help the South assert its rights nationally.

Addressing the Laurel Kiwanis Club, Colmer said the South should:

1. Go as a united South to Democratic national conventions;
2. become a united bloc in Congress, and
3. if necessary, form a third party.

If the South had stood behind the States Rights Party in 1948 neither Harry Truman nor John Dewey would have been elected president, he said. Instead the president would have been chosen by Congress where each state's vote would be equal, Colmer argued.

"There is no difference in the philosophies of the two major parties," Colmer said. "The Republicans, at all costs, are now trying to recapture the Negro vote they lost to the Democrats in 1932."

Colmer said the South has suffered from its one-party system because "we are taken for granted and, consequently, the NAACP, the ADA and the CIO have more influence in our party than do we in the South."

Tourist travel in Israel increased between 1956 and 1957 by 36 per cent during the month of September.

ended because it "will not produce the ICBM—intercontinental ballistic missile."

"We cannot produce the weapons of security—on time—if we think more of the 40-hour week or business as usual," Johnson said in Texas yesterday.

Clarifies Statement Johnson told an interviewer in Dallas today his 40-hour week proposal applied only to the ICBM program and not to private industry or services.

"I have said nothing that would indicate that I felt our present laws should be repealed or the general industrial labor contract should be renegotiated," the senator said. "Anyone who says I have does not understand my position."

AFL-CIO President George Meany killed the wage moratorium suggestion last Wednesday. Reuther today, prior to Johnson's amplification of the 40-hour week suggestion, commented: "We won the war without abolishing the 40-hour week and we can win the present crisis without abolishing the 40-hour week."

Wants Leadership

Before longer hours are worked in Detroit and Pittsburgh, Reuther added, the Washington politicians should work longer hours providing the leadership America needs.

Reuther painted an unemployment picture showing 3.2 million unemployed in November with prospects of snowballing unemployment before the winter is out.

Unemployment will continue to spread, Reuther declared, until the "tremendous productive power of America" is balanced with adequate purchasing power.

In a statement late, Steelwork President David J. McDonald said the economic situation is as serious today in the steel industry as it was during the 1954 recession. Such major installations as Republic and Youngstown have closed down all open hearth furnaces until the end of the year, he said, while U.S. Steel, although operating at only 70 per cent of capacity will earn more net profit this year than it did in years of full capacity operation.

"We must develop the necessary purchasing power to stimulate our economy," he declared. "We must convince industry that it cannot continue to chart 'too high' prices and still hope to sell its products. We must take the profit out of inflation—if necessary by confiscatory taxes."

In addition to wage boosts and a shorter work week, the AFL-CIO resolution also fixes goals of

Man Admits Heading Group To Bar Negroes

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP)—John R. Bentley testified today he was an organizer of an association to keep Negroes from moving into the community of Levittown and that the group considered but rejected a plan to seek Ku Klux Klan help.

Bentley testified in Bucks County Court where he is one of seven persons against whom the commonwealth seeks a permanent injunction prohibiting harassment of the community's only Negro family.

Agitation and racial tension were precipitated last August when William Myers Jr., his wife, Daisy, and their three children became the first Negro family to move to Levittown. A number of arrests resulted. State police were stationed around the Myers home to prevent threatened violence.

Under cross-examination, Bentley denied the association ever meant to use force to get Myers to move. He said the aim was to try "peaceful means." He said the Ku Klux Klan had been discussed at meetings of the association in August.

Bentley testified the association, known as the Levittown Betterment Assn., had 1,000 members.

Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite gave attorneys for both sides 30 days to file written briefs.

Miss. Marriage Mills Wiped Out

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 11 (AP)—The Mississippi Legislature adjourned its special session today after passing a bill to close down border-county marriage mills.

In parliamentary maneuvering in closing hours, backers of the marriage bill paid a price for its passage—the House erased the requirement that county superintendents of education must have administrative experience.

The Senate adjourned finally at 3:59 p.m. and the House at 4:10 p.m.

Daniel Signs Bill To Close Texas Schools

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel signed into law today a bill allowing any public school in Texas to be closed if it is threatened by military occupation to force integration.

He also signed two other major anti-integration measures: A bill aimed at requiring the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to divulge its membership on the order of a county judge, and a second creating a $50,000 fund for the attorney general to defend local school boards named in integration suits.

All three bills were enacted at a recent special session of the legislature.

The "anti-tyro" bill was drafted by the governor. It was designed, he said, to prevent troop occupation of a school such as happened at Central High in Little Rock, Ark.

The registration bill does not specifically name the NAACP, but sponsors said that organization was the target of the measure.

The bill allows any county judge to hale any organization into court and require that it disclose its membership if he finds it is hindering operation of a public school.

The third bill provides the cash attorney general to assist, on request, any local district which has its segregation policies challenged in court.

Judge Studies Gulf Motions

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11 (UP)—Federal Judge Herbert P. Sorg has taken under advisement petitions to dismiss indictments against two defendants in the Gulf Oil Corp. map theft case.

The motions were argued Tuesday in behalf of H. Houghton Phillips, 58, of San Antonio, formerly of Butler, Pa., and Charles W. Washburn, 51, of Allison Park, a Pittsburgh suburb.

Both are charged with conspiracy to transport 61 of about 2,500 stolen Gulf Oil exploration maps from Pittsburgh to Texas.

It also was charged that Phillips secured leases for oil and gas development based on information from the stolen maps, which Gulf said were valued at $4 million dollars.

Anthony Benjamin Foster, of San Antonio, representing Phillips, argued the indictment did not state what type of value the maps had.

Earlier this week three other defendants in the case, Odie Seagraves, 73, of Houston, and two New York city brothers, Emanuel Lester and Edward Lieberman, petitioned federal court for early trials. Their plea was taken under advisement.

Awaits Results

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel said today he had been asked for comment on a "rumor" that Texas is going to launch a space satellite of its own. He said:

"We are thinking about it, but if we decide to do it, we will make no announcement until we get it into outer space."

There are 172 lawyers, 84 businessmen, 75 farmers and 62 medical men in the new 601-member parliament elected in Turkey last October 27.

The House voted 88-34 for a measure to delete from a 1953 law a provision requiring candidates for county superintendent of five years' administrative experience.

Rep. Ney Gore of Quitman County, who helped fight the 1953 education equalization program through the Legislature, objected to the bill's immediate release to the Senate. His objection would have killed the measure.

But Rep. Paul B. Jones of Tate County, a proponent of the bill to ease the requirements for superintendents, then arose and moved reconsideration of the marriage bill—which could have killed the marriage bill for the special session.

Withdraws Objection
Seeing the administration's marriage bill in jeopardy, Gore then withdrew his objection to release of the county superintendents' measure. Jones promptly withdrew his motion that the marriage bill be reconsidered.

Jones, among 11 House members to vote against the marriage bill earlier, told reporters he would not have made his motion to reconsider "if it weren't for the county superintendent thing."

Jones said he would have supported the marriage bill if it had been made effective in 1960 rather than next July.

"I don't believe in penalizing a man who has run for office and we don't know how much money he has spent getting in office," he said. He confirmed he was talking about circuit clerks.

In some border counties where the marriage mill business is heavy, the office of circuit clerk is hotly contested and campaigns are expensive.

Dies In Committee
In the Senate, a House bill to exempt from the 3 per cent sales tax all intra-state freight shipments died in committee.

Sen. William Burgin of Columbus, Finance Committee chairman did not call a committee meeting and did not report the bill.

The Senate also passed a House bill authorizing the Agricultural and Industrial Board to have access roads built from main highways to industrial sites built under the Balance-Agriculture with-industry program.

Sen. Earl Evans of Canton objected on grounds it would cost some 7½ million dollars in state

Aid Goodfellows

Christmas day is less than two weeks away and less than $1,700 has been raised by the Goodfellows to bring cheer to the needy. The time is short and the need is great.

Unless residents of this area respond quickly in the same generous manner in which they have contributed to this worthy fund in previous years, many little boys and girls and their parents will be hungry and cheerless on Christmas day.

For many years the Monroe News-Star and Morning World have sponsored the annual Goodfellow fund. In this they have been aided by individual citizens and in recent years by the Jaycee Jaynes.

No administration cost of any kind is attached to this fund. There are no salaries and nothing is charged for expenses. Every penny that is contributed goes toward making underprivileged children and others happy at Christmas-time.

The individuals and Jaycee and Jaycee Jayne members who offer their services do not expect nor receive one penny for their own use. These persons investigate the reported needy cases and make the decisions on who shall receive contributions. The News-Star and World have nothing to do with who receives assistance. This is left entirely to the public-spirited citizens who assist in the fund.

All donations are received and tabulated by the News-Star and World. Every contribution is individually reported through the columns of these newspapers. All funds are placed in the bank under the name of the Goodfellows.

Slapping Russia

Americans have always been notoriously poor international poker players. They lack the stoicism needed for this game. They are too confident and smug when things look good and too panicky and uneasy when they look bad.

We have just been through the complacency period and have entered the panicky phase. Now that everybody admits this country has made some mistakes and that Russia is ahead in missile and rocket development, everybody is offering sudden advice, a large proportion of which is bad.

One thing that both the national administration and the public may be making a mistake on is the question of whether or not to engage in peace talks with Russia. The general attitude is that Russia can't be trusted and that discussions are useless.

In support of this theory, the futile and disastrous discussion carried on by the late Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain with the late German Dictator Adolph Hitler is cited. After that great failure it was declared as futile to attempt to talk to the German dictator as to a mad dog. In many quarters the same attitude has been taken toward Russia, and with some apparent justification.

Nevertheless, giving the cold shoulder to the numerous proposals by Russia for peace talks does not seem the best way to encourage peace. If Russia is constantly affronted and mistrusted it is certain to turn more to thoughts of war than if its peace proposals were given at least a friendly hearing.

Wages Continue To Rise In Spite Of Recessions

In 1949-49, we had a recession, and joblessness in our land rose from 2 million to almost 3.4 million.

Yet, between 1948 and 1949, average hourly earnings of workers in all segments of manufacturing climbed from $1.35 to $1.40. And although as a result of the recession fewer hours were worked in our factories in 1949 than in 1948, workers in manufacturing still managed to hike their weekly pay to $54.92 — a peak unparalleled until that time.

In 1953-54, we had another recession and joblessness in the United States rose from 1.6 million to over 3.2 million.

Yet, during this downturn average hourly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries again climbed from $1.77 to $1.81. And although the pattern of a shorter workweek was repeated in 1954, from the current level of $2.08 to

Citizens and Jaycee workers make the purchases and prepare and deliver the Christmas packages. All Goodfellow and Santa Claus letters asking assistance are turned over to these citizens, who make the investigations, make the purchases and deliver the packages. All purchases are charged to the Goodfellow fund. Payments are then made by check from the Goodfellow fund under the authorized signature of a representative of the News-Star and World.

Those who like to contribute so that their donations go entirely to the aid of the needy, with none of the money being spent on administration, salaries or overhead, will find that the Goodfellows are just what they are looking for.

If there is enough money to go around, each needy family will receive a big bag filled with the food items necessary for a joyous Christmas period. If there is not enough money, some must be left off the list.

The Goodfellow fund has never failed to achieve its goal. Last year more than $4,000 was received and placed in the Goodfellow fund. This meant that the required number of bags was sent out.

At least as much money, and probably more will be needed this year. The time is short and less than $1,700 has been raised. This means that about $2,500 more must be raised in less than two weeks if none are to go hungry. It means that checks and donations must start coming in fast if the need is to be met.

You, the citizens of this area, have brought joy to children on Christmas day many times before. We are sure you will do it again this year.

This does not mean that we must show the same faith in Russia that Chamberlain showed in Hitler. It does not mean that we must accept any of the Russian proposals. It does not mean that we must accept defeat in an international poker game.

The central theme of psychology and psychiatry is that the subject or patient is allowed to talk himself out. It is not the advice of the psychologist or psychiatrist that helps the subject most but the fact that he loses his animosities, resentments, fears and tensions by opening the release valve and bringing these things into the open by talking and saying everything he wants to say.

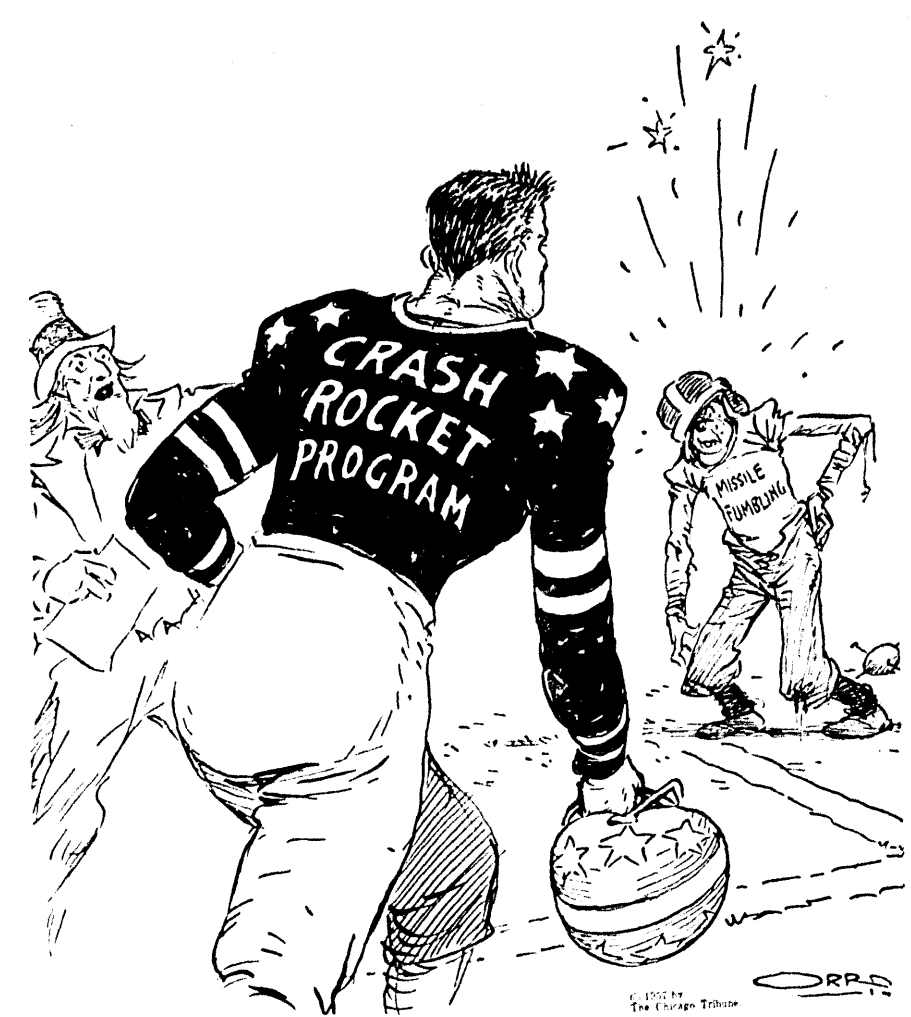

If we cannot trust Russia we can always consider the possibility that nation may talk itself into a good humor. We can rest assured that talking the matter over will not cause more ill-feeling than a blunt rejection of any overtures.

The argument has been made that Russia wants conferences only as a sounding board in order to impress other nations. Whether or not this is true may not matter greatly.

The final showdown will be between the United States and Russia. We must decide whether or not we are willing to try to find a way to peaceful co-existence.

The alternative will be that the United States and Russia must walk down the street like two gunmen to see which can draw the fastest and fire most effectively.

Armed Services Anxious To 'Tell All' To Public

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Up until the Russians announced their conquest of outer space, the three military services were almost smug in their refusals of information about the progress of their missile experiments, except that the reporter witnesses have seen little of the results of their latest tests did not fail to intimate that their branch of service was considerably ahead of the others.

Americans Panic When News Is Bad

When the news is good, Americans go to sleep. When it's bad, they go to pieces.

You listen to the panicky orators.

Daily Devotions

Sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving; sing praise upon the harp unto our God. — Psalm 147:7.

At this season we need to humbly count our blessings. We may feel that we need a great many things that we do not have and that we have been denied success in many endeavors. But even the most humble American, if he will but compare his lot with the circumstances of the downtrodden and destitute of other nations, cannot be other than truly thankful for his extremely good fortune.

Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for all Thy bounty and especially for the promise of eternal life, through Christ. In His name we give thanks. Amen.

But this is not the way it was in the recessions of 1948-49 and of 1953-54 and this is not the way it will be now. And the reasons can be put simply in three paragraphs.

First, under thousands of long-term wage contracts already signed, millions of workers are guaranteed pay increases in 1958. The pay hikes are written into the contracts; they will be granted automatically.

Second, some vitally important wage contracts will be up for renewal next year and the negotiations will begin early. In March, bargaining will start in the aircraft industry; in May, it'll start in autos; in August, it'll start in farm machinery. Against the expected economic background, labor experts are openly forecasting stiff, bitter negotiating, perhaps some crippling strikes. But, if any, believe the big unions won't win another round.

And third, any pay increases granted — under already written clauses or new clauses — will tend to push up wages generally. Just a glance at the size of the pay hikes automatically coming next year will bring this picture into focus.

The average raise for all manufacturing is authoritatively estimated at over 7 cents an hour. But in the construction industry, hundreds of thousands will get raises ranging from 10 to 15 cents an hour.

result that most newspapers have eyewitness stories crowding one another about new developments in the competition to reach the stratosphere.

The regrettable fact is that the reporter witnesses have seen little of the results of their latest tests did not fail to intimate that their branch of service was considerably ahead of the others.

Now they are tumbling over one another to get before the tax-paying public first hand demerits of what has been accomplished with billions of tax money.

partly as a bid for more of the same. Recent days have seen keen competition between Army, Navy and Air Force in throwing their tority from Washington and the reckless demands for spending — it's frightening.

And yet a generation has been indoctrinated to believe that we can buy ourselves into or out of anything, so the first impulse is to spend our way back from the brink.

The successful sprinter perfects the delicate balance required to stay on his toes without falling on his face.

I've never heard a better example of the disadvantage of fear and resultant anger than the one used by writer Mary D'Arcy.

She recounts how a chicken rather was perplexed each morning to discover several of his best hens missing.

He had strong, well-built pens surrounded with wire netting. It was high enough so the chickens could not fly over it, tight enough so nothing could get in.

Yet every morning several hens were missing.

There were only a few feathers scattered outside the pens to compound the mystery.

One night he decided to stay awake and watch. Here is what he saw:

Just before daybreak a wolf bounded out of the nearby woods and hurled himself, with all his force, against the wire netting.

This procedure so frightened the chickens that several of them frantically flew over the top of the netting.

The rest was easy. The wolf had only to chase them down and gobble them up.

Understand, the wolf did not smash through the wire fence. The chickens were quite safe, if they'd remained calm.

California city, marked the beginning of a new era in naval construction, ranking in importance with the historic ironclads, the Union Monitor and Confederate Merrimack, or the fleet Clipper ships which made the young United States a real competitor in world trade.

Numerous papers put the story back with the shipping and miscellaneous news, while the Vanguard, which failed even to get off the ground, had top play. That was proper news judgement, because the keel laying was a perfectly routine mechanical operation, picturesque only because of huge machinery employed. But the importance of a ship which will mean an entire new Navy, leaving sail, coal and oil propellants only as memories cannot be lost when future history is written.

The section of the keel itself was but 60 feet long, and weighed only eight tons, but as a huge crane swung in onto the building blocks this suspended token of a new age in ship building, with its triangular keel plates, it bore a weird resemblance to dragon's teeth. There it swung slowly in a 20 mile wind, while Bethlehem yard broke into cheers and the reporter who had first joked about the resemblance said "and the Navy may be needing dragon's teeth about the time this ship is launched."

The Long Beach will be the first atom powered surface U. S. war vessel and it will have no guns of important caliber. Its armament will consist of missile launching bases, and it is to be hoped that by its completion some effective missiles will be available.

Admiral Jerauld Wright, commander of the Atlantic Fleet, who probably will still be on active duty when the Long Beach is launched, did not boast of this advance in nautical science as Nikita Khrushchev would have, but he planted the idea that once again the United States was leading the way in naval construction, as it has since this country was founded.

The vessel represents only one aspect of the hurried change in guided missiles in the whole defense program, but somehow the feeling shared by those who witnessed the keel laying seemed different than that sensed at other revealing demonstrations of missile progress. The bickering over which service shall build which missile seemed to fade. Here was something concrete, something tangible to restore to the U. S. the advantage of its greatest line of defense — two broad oceans.

It emphasized the need of internal vigilance on defense in a way which every American can grasp — and which was forgotten through overconfidence at Pearl Harbor. The Navy, which had rehabilitated itself in World War II, and has since been referred to as obsolescent, could be visualized again as a sea going force, ready for daring forays against enemy concentrations on land and sea. The ghosts of Perry, Farragut, Dewey and John Paul Jones were there. And those who felt the importance of that moment knew that one day, American seamen will be able to fire missiles with the same accuracy which has made their predecessor invincible at sea throughout history.

But if she can frighten us into further deficit spending, greater debt, cheaper dollars, economic collapse.

Then the rest of the conquest would be easy.

Still we would not have been "invaded."

It is interesting that the Huns and the Vandals who were nibbling around the fringes of the old Roman Empire were the same Asiatics who are giving us all the heebie jeebies today.

Rome was not "invaded," Rome was overripe and rotten and assorted "border wars" left her bankrupt economically. Rome was worried to death.

And passed from there into what history has recorded as the Dark Ages, lasting a thousand years.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Russians Report Only Successes

It is not surprising or even very significant that the Vanguard rocket did not go off. That could have happened under any circumstances and we do not know and never shall know how many Russian tries took place before Sputnik I finally orbited. Let us face it: We are behind and we need to catch up not as an exhibition of capability but to achieve a balance of power that will save this nation.

The real tragedy of the failure of the Vanguard rocket is that we talk too much. We boast too much. We call in photographers, newsmen, reporters and commentators before we know whether the thing will work. We report our failures; the Russians only report their successes.

The next morning, it is announced that the President wants a full report on the failure. So what? What will he read in that report? A lot of scientific jargon that somebody will have to translate into English, just as it would have to be done for you or for me. That failure did not occur the day we saw it happen. It is due to incorrect organization and administration. It is due to excessive self-assurance. It is interesting to note that in his first article on his recent trip to Soviet Russia, William Randolph Hearst Jr., correctly points to the fallacies about Russia we hold to be true and like to cling to. Until we discard these fallacies we shall be making increasing errors.

The real failure was in the pressure put on our defense forces to do a job out in the open which should have been done behind closed doors, as it were. National security and national dignity ought not to be sacrificed for photography.

This is a vulgar era, in which good taste and good manners are sacrificed for a bit of fun, a laugh or a momentary excitement. It may be a reaction to the horrors of war or other human disappointments. But when manners go, morals are not far behind.

The last for pictures has made this generation lose all perspective. It is not only that in this instance some public relations guy set up a platform for photographers to take pictures of a possible failure which turned out to be a real failure. One sees it in every walk of life—the lure of the camera, the lust for personal publicity, the craving for personal advertisement, even if it is unfavorable advertisement.

"So what?" says the social butterfly. "So I did have four husbands! Who had more?"

"So what?" says the advertiser of our rocket failure—over a microphone, yet—"We had three tries and they were successful. The fourth—the one we had photographed—was a failure. Nobody is to blame. Something went wrong."

Let me quote the exact words of Herschel Schooley, chief information officer of the Department of Defense:

"It is well to keep in mind this is the fourth test of the satellite. All three tests have been successful. It is good in the rocket-research program to have three good, satisfactory tests and this is only the fourth one."

Precisely what does he mean? Sure, it is good to have three tests. Sure, it is good to have a fourth. But why do we have to advertise our failures? Is it not enough that we fail to advertise our achievements?

My first reaction to the failure was one of enthusiasm. "Now!" I said, "the bluff and bluster will be taken out of these generals, admirals, scientists and engineers and they will get a little humility which is the first station on the road to success." Of course, Sputnik I and Sputnik II did do something to improve the morale of our rocket and missile operators. Nevertheless, the Army and Navy and Air Force are still in competition, but who is working for the United States?

That question has not yet been resolved and the committee of Congress which Senator Lyndon Johnson heads has not had enough time to get at the documentary evidence or bring it out to the public. The question is whether anybody can document stupidity, bad taste, lack of moral absolutes. For these are involved in our failure and they may be the fundamental reason for our failure.

It is to be hoped that the next try will not be done in one of John Ringling North's circus tents.

DR. CRANE SAYS

God Is Helpful In Avoiding Tension

Pearl is a minister's wife but she found herself sleepless and tense. So she finally followed the method outlined in this column several months ago and asked God to take over the night shift. Notice what happened: Whether you are Jewish, Catholic or Protestant, you'll find that God will never refuse to team-up with you in that manner.

Case W-370: Pearl D., aged 34, is a vivacious wife of a talented young clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, my husband and I have been seasawing back and forth for two weeks," she began. "For we have been offered a splendid new pastorate in another city. But our present congregation has been wonderful to us and will match the other salary, so we don't know what to do."

"At bed time I have been so keyed up that even after I say my prayers, I have been unable to fall asleep."

"Three nights ago I decided to try your suggestion, wherein you recommended that we lift our right hand up in the air and say: 'Father, I am trying to be on your team. But I have a heavy day's work tomorrow and must get up early. Will you please take over the night shift for me, so I can sleep?'"

"Well, Dr. Crane, it works beautifully. After I say that, I let my arm drop languidly upon the bed covers and I have drifted off into deep slumber almost immediately. It is remarkable."

Although Pearl is a very fine woman and an active Christian, she still grew tense and sleepless until she turned her problem over to God.

Whether you are Jewish, Catholic or Protestant, if you are sincerely trying to play ball on God's team, then lift your right hand in the air, as if you are placing it in God's and repeat what Pearl said and did.

You will then be surprised at the miraculous release from your tension. In fact, you can feel it as your arm relaxes and falls listlessly upon the covers.

That flaccid arm will symbolize the fact that you have handed over the burdens of the night shift to your Senior Partner, who NEVER refuses to take over for you.

God is far better than tranquilizer pills or sleeping potions or any barbiturates or other sedatives which we medicos can ever prescribe for you.

Moreover, God is free and available to everybody, everywhere!

If any of you readers are still of the Doubting Thomas sort, then just test out this technique tonight and see for yourselves.

And start teaching your children to follow this type of pre-sleep ritual even while they are toddlers.

Don't wait till they become neurotic teen-agers and require a visit to a psychiatrist's office.

Instead, tutor them from infancy in the laudable habit of saying their prayers making their confession and then asking God to take over the night shift while they drift off into sound slumber.

Banish Insomnia
Millions of people develop insomnia at one time or another. In fact, a recent report showed that $30,000,000 was spent for sleeping potions even before the fact for (tranquilizer pills hit America).

But insomnia never kills anybody! So quit getting unduly disturbed about the fact you can't sleep.

As long as your body lies in the horizontal position, it gets most of the physiological benefits of sleep, even if you lie awake and read an educational book, magazine or the Bible.

So stop fretting about sleeplessness. And if you wish a surefire formula for quick slumber, then team-up with God, and repeat the request which Pearl found so helpful.

"When you have accomplished your daily task," said Victor Hugo, "go to sleep in peace; God is awake."

Reassure your youngsters with that comforting thought.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs which you send for one of his booklets.)

HIS OWN PETARD
SALVAGE CITY (UP) — After calling publicly for a crack-down on traffic violators, Gov. George D. Clyde was stunned by results. The next day a city policeman halted him for running a stop sign. Clyde hustled to headquarters, paid the $10 fine, praised the officer for "alertness."

Aid Goodfellows

Christmas day is less than two weeks away and less than $1,700 has been raised by the Goodfellows to bring cheer to the needy. The time is short and the need is great.

Unless residents of this area respond quickly in the same generous manner in which they have contributed to this worthy fund in previous years, many little boys and girls and their parents will be hungry and cheerless on Christmas day.

For many years the Monroe News-Star and Morning World have sponsored the annual Goodfellow fund. In this they have been aided by individual citizens and in recent years by the Jaycee Jaynes.

No administration cost of any kind is attached to this fund. There are no salaries and nothing is charged for expenses. Every penny that is contributed goes toward making underprivileged children and others happy at Christmas-time.

The individuals and Jaycee and Jaycee Jayne members who offer their services do not expect nor receive one penny for their own use. These persons investigate the reported needy cases and make the decisions on who shall receive contributions. The News-Star and World have nothing to do with who receives assistance. This is left entirely to the public-spirited citizens who assist in the fund.

All donations are received and tabulated by the News-Star and World. Every contribution is individually reported through the columns of these newspapers. All funds are placed in the bank under the name of the Goodfellows.

Slapping Russia

Americans have always been notoriously poor international poker players. They lack the stoicism needed for this game. They are too confident and smug when things look good and too panicky and uneasy when they look bad.

We have just been through the complacency period and have entered the panicky phase. Now that everybody admits this country has made some mistakes and that Russia is ahead in missile and rocket development, everybody is offering sudden advice, a large proportion of which is bad.

One thing that both the national administration and the public may be making a mistake on is the question of whether or not to engage in peace talks with Russia. The general attitude is that Russia can't be trusted and that discussions are useless.

In support of this theory, the futile and disastrous discussion carried on by the late Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain with the late German Dictator Adolf Hitler is cited. After that great failure it was declared as futile to attempt to talk to the German dictator as to a mad dog. In many quarters the same attitude has been taken toward Russia, and with some apparent justification.

Nevertheless, giving the cold shoulder to the numerous proposals by Russia for peace talks does not seem the best way to encourage peace. If Russia is constantly affronted and mistrusted it is certain to turn more to thoughts of war than if its peace proposals were given at least a friendly hearing.

SYLVIA PORTER

Wages Continue To Rise In Spite Of Recessions

In 1948-49, we had a recession and joblessness in our land rose from 2 million to almost 3.4 million.

Yet, between 1948 and 1949, average hourly earnings of workers in all segments of manufacturing climbed from $1.35 to $1.40. And although as a result of the recession fewer hours were worked in our factories in 1949 than in 1948, workers in manufacturing still managed to hike their weekly pay to $54.92 — a peak unparalleled until that time.

In 1953-54, we had another recession and joblessness in the United States rose from 1.6 million to over 3.2 million.

Yet, during this downturn average hourly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries again climbed from $1.77 to $1.81. And although the pattern of a shorter workweek was repeated in 1954,

Citizens and Jaycee workers make the purchases and prepare and deliver the Christmas packages. All Goodfellow and Santa Claus letters asking assistance are turned over to these citizens, who make the investigations, make the purchases and deliver the packages. All purchases are charged to the Goodfellow fund. Payments are then made by check from the Goodfellow fund under the authorized signature of a representative of the News-Star and World.

Those who like to contribute so that their donations go entirely to the aid of the needy, with none of the money being spent on administration, salaries or overhead, will find that the Goodfellows are just what they are looking for.

If there is enough money to go around, each needy family will receive a big bag filled with the food items necessary for a joyous Christmas period. If there is not enough money, some must be left off the list.

The Goodfellow fund has never failed to achieve its goal. Last year more than $4,000 was received and placed in the Goodfellow fund. This meant that the required number of bags was sent out.

At least as much money, and probably more will be needed this year. The time is short and less than $1,700 has been raised. This means that about $2,500 more must be raised in less than two weeks if none are to go hungry. It means that checks and donations must start coming in fast if the need is to be met.

You, the citizens of this area, have brought joy to children on Christmas day many times before. We are sure you will do it again this year.

This does not mean that we must show the same faith in Russia that Chamberlain showed in Hitler. It does not mean that we must accept any of the Russian proposals. It does not mean that we must accept defeat in an international poker game.

The central theme of psychology and psychiatry is that the subject or patient is allowed to talk himself out. It is not the advice of the psychologist or psychiatrist that helps the subject most but the fact that he loses his animosities, resentments, fears and tensions by opening the release valve and bringing these things into the open by talking and saying everything he wants to say.

If we cannot trust Russia we can always consider the possibility that nation may talk itself into a good humor. We can rest assured that talking the matter over will not cause more ill-feeling than a blunt rejection of any overtures.

The argument has been made that Russia wants conferences only as a sounding board in order to impress other nations. Whether or not this is true may not matter greatly.

The final showdown will be between the United States and Russia. We must decide whether or not we are willing to try to find a way to peaceful co-existence.

The alternative will be that the United States and Russia must walk down the street like two gunmen to see which can draw the fastest and fire most effectively.

the pattern of higher weekly pay also was repeated. In that recession year, weekly paychecks in manufacturing hit $71.86, a record. In 1957-58, we're having the third recession since the end of World War II. Unemployment is currently officially estimated at 2.5 million, but it's definitely heading upward.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell has now publicly acknowledged this will be the trend. While he understandably refuses to predict the exact total who may be out of work by the end of February, top Administration economists privately talk in terms of at least 4 million jobless by then; some other forecasts run considerably higher.

Yet, once more, the average hourly pay of workers in all manufacturing will go up, will rise from the current level of $2.08 to an all-time high in 1958.

And once more it's a mighty good bet that even with a shortened workweek, weekly earnings will top today's average of $82.16.

A rise in joblessness, a decline in the number of hours worked a week, a general slowdown in business... And simultaneously, a rise in the average hourly pay of manufacturing workers and in weekly pay too...

To millions of Americans who recall the prewar '30s, the sharp conflicting job and pay trends I've pinpointed above may seem a paradox defying simple explanation. For these millions remember that a period of drooping corporate profits, slackening sales and climbing joblessness meant those employed didn't get raises; rather, they were happy to have job security and to avoid pay hour.

Armed Services Anxious To 'Tell All' To Public

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Up until the Russians announced their conquest of outer space, the three military services were almost smug in their refusals of information about the progress of their missile experiments, except that officers who had the results of latest tests did not fail to intimate that their branch of service was considerably ahead of the others.

Now they are tumbling over one another to get before the taxpayer public first hand demonstrations of what has been accomplished with billions of tax money, partly as a bid for more of the same. Recent days have seen keen competition between Army, Navy and Air Force in throwing their shows open to the press with the result that most newspapers have eyewitness stories crowding one another about new developments in the competition to reach the stratosphere.

The regrettable fact is that the reporter witnesses have seen little they were not pretty well informed about before, when the gates were closed to them. At the same time one operation which may eventually prove to have been more important than even the tense wait on Air Force's Vanguard missile was staged at Fore River shipyard at Quincy, Mass., where the keel of the first atomic powered guided missile vessel was being laid.

The USS Long Beach, named after the rapidly growing California city, marked the beginning of a new era in naval construction, ranking in importance with the historic ironclads, the Union Monitor and Confederate Merrimack, or the fleet Clipper ships which made the young United States a real competitor in world trade.

Truman Blamed For ICBM Missile Lag

Ford said a Truman directive impounding $5 million dollars of research and development funds by fiscal 1947 resulted in the elimination of work on long-range supersonic guided missiles.

He said that in April 1946 a research and development contract for the design and construction of an ICBM test vehicle had been awarded to the Convair Co., the contractor for the Atlas ICBM now under development.

About 14 months later, he said, the contract was canceled "as a consequence of the impounding of research and development funds by President Truman," and was not renewed until January 1951 "on a limited or study basis."

Ford said that information given him by experts who have worked on the missile program convinced him that "if the original ICBM program had been pushed instead of canceled for a 3½-year period the United States would have had an operational ICBM by 1953."

Ford said Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), whom he referred to as "one of the critics of the missile program," was assistant secretary of war for air at the time the original Convair contract was awarded and was secretary of the Air Force when it was canceled.

The British Embassy suggested to the British Chamber of Commerce that its members apply for exit visas for dependents in case they are needed in a hurry later on.

Neither of these developments was accompanied by any hint of an emergency affecting U.S. or British personnel and property similar to the anti-Dutch measures.

The 11 Americans reaching Singapore were families of the Standard Vacuum Oil Co. employees from South Sumatra. A Stanvac official in Singapore first described them as on a holiday, but later said they would remain there "until the situation in Indonesia clears up."

New York's Governor To Take Action

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (UP)—The first violence flared today in New York's three-day-old subway strike and Gov. Averell Harriman stood by poised to throw the full weight of his authority into efforts to break the 2,600-man stranglehold on the metropolis.

Harriman did not disclose what emergency measures could be taken. He did not indicate whether martial law had been considered. But he said he had informed Mayor Robert F. Wagner he was ready to take whatever steps were necessary to end the transit turmoil.

The Transit Authority termed the walkout a "public disaster." Official sources said the loss to the city was running up to seven million dollars a day in wages and business that had gone down the drain.

Punitive measures were taken against the strikers, both in courts and by management, while harassed New Yorkers battled through rain, fog and freezing temperatures to keep the city going.

A total of 2,600 motormen employed on the 228-mile network of city-owned subway lines serving this metropolitan area of 12 million went on strike Monday for recognition of their union, the independent motormen's benevolent association.

Six splinter unions joined in the subway tie-up and 600 maintenance workers on the city-owned bus lines walked out for the second day.

Rain turned to snow just before the evening rush hour, heightening the transit crisis. Merchants deluged city hall and the state capital in Albany with pleas for action to end the tie-up.

frame and plumbing and the satellite assembly. At Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Army launched last night what the Defense Department identified as a form of the Redstone rocket used in the Army Jupiter development program.

The Redstone rocket engine is used in the Jupiter-C research equipment. Redstones also are used in studies related to the perfection of the Jupiter intermediate-range ballistic missile.

Army sources here were reluctant to provide details, answering only a few questions. The Army and the Defense Department also are cautious about making any official predictions on when the Jupiter-C satellite might be ready.

An actual attempt to put the satellite cylinder into orbit might not come before February or March. Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy said last week he expected the Navy would make a second Vanguard launching attempt before the Army fires off a satellite.

MUSIC PROGRAM
The second concert of the season for the Twin City Symphony tonight will feature a program of Christmas music. The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. at Brown Auditorium at Northeast State College, and will include a children's chorus of 300 voices from Twin City grammar schools and 15-year-old guest soloist Margaret Allene Neale of Houston, Texas. Harry Lemert conducts the symphony orchestra.

entire economy of South Arkansas."

He expressed fear in the immediate application of federal law 606, which, in effect, prevents one state from polluting a stream when another state is affected.

Pressing Problem

Rodriguez explained to the Arkansas oilmen that the city is pressed with a problem of obtaining its water supply from the river rather than Bayou DeSiard. "The growth of our city is outstripping Bayou DeSiard," he stated.

Testimony heard in the West Two Bayou hearing was presented by the International Paper Company and the Barrett Roofing Company. The City of Camden offered no testimony.

According to commission member J. M. McIlaney, the hearing was called "to determine what steps the three agencies plan to take in preventing pollution of the river."

International, Barrett and the City of Camden are using West Two Bayou for disposal purposes. However, the City of Camden, in a pre-hearing statement, announced that it has applied for federal aid to construct a disposal plant.

Representatives of both International and Barrett testified that pollution of the river was not being caused by their disposals.

Alex Gaughan, International attorney, said the company recognizes that "under normal conditions" contamination caused by paper mills "takes care of itself within a short distance downstream."

Engineer Frank Coogan of International said the company's disposal in the river "has no effect on the pollution problem at Monroe." He blamed pollution of the river here on "salt content in the water."

To Be Scheduled

When interviewed after the hearing, C. E. Wright of the Arkansas commission said individual hearings on DeLoutre, Coffee Creek and Mill Creek, all located in Arkansas, will be scheduled in the future.

He expressed appreciation for the "cooperation and tolerance" that has been shown us by the Louisiana people, especially the officials of Monroe.

The Arkansas commission will meet in January to study yesterday's testimony and set the date of the next hearing, Wright said.

Attending the hearing from Monroe were Rodriguez, Curtis Smith, chairman of the Greater Ouachita Port Commission, Commissioner H. W. McSherry, Tom Underwood, Utilities Commission manager, Herbert Dickard, Utilities Commission consulting engineer, assistant city attorney Ford Pipes, Jr., Chamber of Commerce president, Benton M. Wakefield, Jr., Jim Williams, chamber executive secretary, and Jack Fluck and Lovell Hayden, III, both of the chamber.

Also present at the meeting was Dr. D. C. Lea, manager of research for Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, of West Monroe.

One of the largest deposits of fossilized fish in the world — geological age is estimated at about 40 million years — is near Kemmerer, Wyoming.

FOR OIL LEASES

Navajo Indians
Get $8 Million

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz., Dec. 11 (UP)—The Navajo Indian tribe was more than $8 million richer today after the most profitable oil and gas leasing ever held by the tribe.

The bonus on the 7,394 acres of Navajo and Indian-allotted lands in San Juan county, Utah, amounted to $8,135,867.20.

One bid alone brought an average of $1,038.50 an acre, the highest ever bid for a Navajo oil-gas lease. This was the bid of Carter Oil Co. of Tulsa, Okla., for a 240-acre tract for a total of $1,034,000.

The record leasing came despite a skeptical outlook by Council Chairman Paul Jones. He said earlier he may ask for a delay in future leasing plans because of a "poor time for leasing" at present.

Tuesday's bidding quickly changed his mind and he announced the next bid openings will be held Jan. 15.

More than 100 oil men attended the bid opening and each tract received an average of 4.7 bids.

Biggest bidder of the 32 oil companies represented was the Texas Company, whose successful bids totaled $4,261,438 for 2,794 acres.

Of the acreage up for bidding, 6,354 acres were tribal lands and 1,040 were Indian allotted.

The tribal leaders resumed their meeting today and were expected to discuss the Navajo dam project.

William Hurrie, who rang the Liberty Bell on the first U. S. Independence Day, is buried in the graveyard of Old Pine Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia.

Chance Cited
By Farm Group

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (UP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation today named Texas farmer, George G. Chance of Bryan, winner of one of three national awards for "distinguished and meritorious service" to agriculture in the United States.

The AFB convention also honored Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) and Donald Kirkpatrick, leader in Illinois agriculture.

Chance, who is president of the National Cotton Council, was one of the early leaders of the Texas Farm Bureau.

He recently donated the use of a large tract of land equipment to Texas A&M College, where he is a trustee of the college research foundation.

Chance was born on the family plantation in the Brazos River bottoms near Bryan. He was graduated from the University of Texas and worked for two years with the Southern Pacific Railroad before taking over operation of the plantation.

Old Wells Can Be New Wells,
Court Decides

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (UP)—The Texas Supreme Court ruled today that a "new" oil well also could be one that is drilled through an old, abandoned dry hole.

The ruling reversed the trial and appeals courts in a suit brought by L. E. Boley against Wesley Kothman seeking to cancel five oil and gas leases in Jack county.

Boley contended that Kothman failed to comply with a lease provision under which the lease would be terminated unless a well was drilled within 60 days to Ellenburger lime, or unless oil or gas was found at a lesser depth.

Kothman did complete a producing gas well in an abandoned dry hole within six weeks by drilling 400 feet beyond the original depth of 3,000 feet. A second gas well later was brought in on another abandoned dry hole.

The high court said Kothman didn't reach Ellenburger lime, but the discovery of gas in paying quantities relieved him of the obligation to do so.

Scot Court
Bans Wedding
Of Couple

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Dec. 11 (UP)—Playboy Dominic Elwes and heiress Tessa Kennedy today lost their final bid for a quick runaway marriage. A Scottish court barred their wedding in Scotland.

But Elwes received consolation in a separate decision by the Lord Chancellor of England that he would not be extradited from Scotland for running away with the pretty 20-year-old girl.

Four red-robed justices turned down the couple's appeal against a temporary injunction barring the marriage issued last week on application of Tessa's father Geoffrey Kennedy.

Lord Clyde, lord president of the Scottish court of session and father of two children, said he would have thrown out the injunction had there been no "imminent danger" of the marriage taking place.

But Tessa and Elwes, he said, "obviously" contemplated "plunging into immediate matrimony" and that the "aura of publicity" surrounding their flight from London had enhanced the danger.

The young couple remained behind locked doors in their hotel while their lawyers presented their appeal. Elwes has remained out of sight since London Justice Sir Ronald F. Roxburgh cited him for contempt and ordered him jailed for an indefinite term for contempt of court.

However, the office of England's Lord Chancellor announced there was no intention of trying to seize Elwes in Scotland for spiriting Tessa out of England.

Printers Strike
In Seventh Day

GALVESTON, Tex., Dec. 11 (UP)—A strike of 55 printers at the Galveston News, Texas' oldest newspaper, went into its seventh day today with no sign of a break in deadlocked negotiations.

In fact, General Manager Dave Leavell, while leaving the door open for further talks, said actually there was "no further need for negotiations as the printers don't work here (The News) anymore."

The printers, members of Typographical Union Local 22, walked out Dec. 4 in a demand for a $5.75 weekly pay boost, three-week vacations and other benefits. Leavell told them in a telegram they were fired if they failed to return to work on schedule.

Doggett Named

EDINBURGH, Tex., Dec. 11 (UP)—Bill J. Doggett, director of personnel and college life at the State School Farm Colony in Austin, was named today to head a four-county school for mentally-retarded children and adults.

Doggett was named to head the Rio Grande Valley school sponsored by the Rio Grande Valley Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Doggett, a graduate of Howard Payne College, holds a degree in sociology and has done graduate work at the University of Texas and Baylor.

The school and vocational training center to be built here will be the only school of its kind in Texas and the 11th such school to be built in the United States under a federal aid program. The school will serve Hidalgo, Starr, Cameron and Willacy counties.

FOR OIL LEASES

Navajo Indians Get $8 Million

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz., Dec. 11 (UP)—The Navajo Indian tribe was more than $8 million richer today after the most profitable oil and gas leasing ever held by the tribe.

The bonus on the 7,394 acres of Navajo and Indian-allotted lands in San Juan county, Utah, amounted to $8,135,867.20.

One bid alone brought an average of $4,038.50 an acre, the highest ever bid for a Navajo oil-gas lease. This was the bid of Carter Oil Co. of Tulsa, Okla., for a 240-acre tract for a total of $1,034,000.

The record leasing came despite a skeptical outlook by Council Chairman Paul Jones. He said earlier he may ask for a delay in future leasing plans because of a "poor time for leasing" at present.

Tuesday's bidding quickly changed his mind and he announced the next bid openings will be held Jan. 15.

More than 100 oil men attended the bid opening and each tract received an average of 4.7 bids.

Biggest bidder of the 32 oil companies represented was the Texas Company, whose successful bids totaled $4,261,438 for 2,794 acres.

Of the acreage up for bidding, 6,354 acres were tribal lands and 1,040 were Indian allotted.

The tribal leaders resumed their meeting today and were expected to discuss the Navajo dam project.

William Hurrie, who rang the Liberty Bell on the first U. S. Independence Day, is buried in the graveyard of Old Pine Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia.

Chance Cited By Farm Group

The AFB convention also honored Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) and Donald Kirkpatrick, leader in Illinois agriculture.

Chance, who is president of the National Cotton Council, was one of the early leaders of the Texas Farm Bureau.

He recently donated the use of a large tract of land equipment to Texas A&M College, where he is a trustee of the college research foundation.

Chance was born on the family plantation in the Brazos River bottoms near Bryan. He was graduated from the University of Texas and worked for two years with the Southern Pacific Railroad before taking over operation of the plantation.

PLEADS FIFTH AMENDMENT—Don Vestal, president and business agent of Teamsters Union Local 327 in Nashville, Tenn., declines to tell senate racketeers investigators whether he once was a communist party member in Texas. Vestal pleaded the Fifth Amendment when asked whether he took part in labor violence. (AP Wirephoto)

Old Wells Can Be New Wells, Court Decides

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (UP)—The Texas Supreme Court ruled today that a "new" oil well also could be one that is drilled through an old, abandoned dry hole.

The ruling reversed the trial and appeals courts in a suit brought by L. E. Boley against Wesley Kothman seeking to cancel five oil and gas leases in Jack county.

Boley contended that Kothman failed to comply with a lease provision under which the lease would be terminated unless a well was drilled within 60 days to Ellenburger lime, or unless oil or gas was found at a lesser depth.

Kothman did complete a producing gas well in an abandoned dry hole within six weeks by drilling 400 feet beyond the original depth of 3,000 feet. A second gas well later was brought in on another abandoned dry hole.

The high court said Kothman didn't reach Ellenburger lime, but the discovery of gas in paying quantities relieved him of the obligation to do so.

Scot Court Bans Wedding Of Couple

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Dec. 11 (UP)—Playboy Dominic Elwes and heiress Tessa Kennedy today lost their final bid for a quick runaway marriage. A Scottish court barred their wedding in Scotland.

But Elwes received consolation in a separate decision by the Lord Chancellor of England that he would not be extradited from Scotland for running away with the pretty 20-year-old girl.

Four red-robed justices turned down the couple's appeal against a temporary injunction barring the marriage issued last week on application of Tessa's father Geoffrey Kennedy.

Lord Clyde, lord president of the Scottish court of session and father of two children, said he would have thrown out the injunction had there been no "imminent danger" of the marriage taking place.

But Tessa and Elwes, he said, "obviously" contemplated "plunging into immediate matrimony" and that the "aura of publicity" surrounding their flight from London had enhanced the danger.

The young couple remained behind locked doors in their hotel while their lawyers presented their appeal. Elwes has remained out of sight since London Justice Sir Ronald F. Roxburgh cited him for contempt and ordered him jailed for an indefinite term for contempt of court.

However, the office of England's Lord Chancellor announced there was no intention of trying to seize Elwes in Scotland for spiriting Tessa out of England.

Printers Strike In Seventh Day

GALVESTON, Tex., Dec. 11 (UP)—A strike of 55 printers at the Galveston News, Texas' oldest newspaper, went into its seventh day today with no sign of a break in deadlocked negotiations.

In fact, General Manager Dave Leavell, while leaving the door open for further talks, said actually there was "no further need for negotiations as the printers don't work here (The News) anymore."

The printers, members of Typographical Union Local 28, walked out Dec. 4 in a demand for a $5.75 weekly pay boost, three-week vacations and other benefits. Leavell told them in a telegram they were fired if they failed to return to work on schedule.

Doggett Named

EDINBURGH, Tex., Dec. 11 (UP)—Bill J. Doggett, director of personnel and cottage life at the State School Farm Colony in Austin, was named today to head a four-county school for mentally-retarded children and adults.

Doggett was named to head the Rio Grande Valley school sponsored by the Rio Grande Valley Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Doggett, a graduate of Howard Payne College, holds a degree in sociology and has done graduate work at the University of Texas and Baylor.

The school and vocational training center to be built here will be the only school of its kind in Texas and the 11th such school to be built in the United States under a federal aid program. The school will serve Hidalgo, Starr, Cameron and Willacy counties.

AUTO HITS SEVEN SHOPPERS
SHREVEPORT — UP — Police said seven shoppers were injured Tuesday when an automobile driven by Dr. Arthur Herold, 75, of Shreveport plowed into the crowd after his accelerator became stuck. Officers said two of the persons, Mrs. W. N. Ward, Shreveport, and Mrs. C. Strange, Coushatta, were seriously injured.

Monroe Post Office Will Remain Open

The Monroe Post Office will remain open Saturday afternoon as long as people are there to buy stamps or mail packages. Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn announced yesterday.

He declined to set an exact closing hour, explaining that the postal windows will close when there is no more business.

Windows open will be parcel post, stamps, and registered mail. Money orders will not be sold after the usual Saturday closing time, at noon.

Hathorn stressed that only a few days are left before Christmas, with barely enough time for parcels to reach their destinations. "Mail now," he urged, "or some persons will be disappointed by not receiving their presents before Christmas."

"Right now, people have stacks of Christmas cards at home, all addressed, but some will wait until the last minute to mail them. Service will be far better if the cards are mailed now, instead of loading down the postal staff with a mountain of mail just before Christmas," he added.

Four Perish In Arkansas Coal Explosion

FORT SMITH, Ark., Dec. 11 (AP)—An explosion deep in a coal mine south of here today killed four members of a six-man graveyard shift and slightly injured the other two.

Company officials said the 5:15 a.m. blast in Peerless Coal Co.'s No. 3 mine apparently was caused by an accumulation of gas.

Killed were George Simmons of Greenwood, Ark., and L. D. Sewell, 36, Gene Moore, 45, and Joe Martin, 47, of Paris, Ark. All four bodies were recovered within five hours.

Kendrick Richardson, 50, of Fort Smith and Frank Miller, 48, of Charleston, Ark., survived the blast with minor scratches and bruises.

Owner W. H. Lewis said the mine, located in the Excelsior field about 18 miles south of Fort Smith, had been taken out of production about a month ago because of lack of orders. He said the miners were looking for new veins of coal.

Sanders Will Fill City Engineer Job

Wade M. Sanders, graduate civil engineer, has been employed by the city of Monroe to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Dick Harper, it was announced yesterday.

Sanders will fill the position of city engineer effective Jan. 1.

A 1949 graduate of Louisiana Tech, Sanders is currently connected with the Arnold Engineering Development Center at Tullahoma, Tenn. He is a registered professional engineer in civil engineering with the states of Louisiana and Tennessee.

Seeks Channel

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—Western Television Co. today re-submitted an application to the Federal Communications Commission for television Channel Five at Lubbock, Tex.

The commission recently turned back an application by Western Television on the grounds that the channel was not open for bid at the time. Western Television operates radio station KDAV at Lubbock.

The FCC recently held up grant of Channel Five to Texas Technological College which had been recommended by an examiner.

Givers Campaign Short Of Goal, Report Reveals

United Givers Fund Drive Chairman Richard M. Troy, said yesterday that the campaign is still $13,000 short of its goal of $208,000.

Troy said that pledges and contributions of $192,000 have been received, and that about $3,000 more is in sight, but that "unless there is a change of heart, United Givers has no place to turn for the shortage."

He pointed out that the 1957-58 campaign should have ended Oct. 31, but that officials are reluctant to conclude it until the needs of the 11 participating agencies have been met. He added that although the headquarters in the Troy and Nichols Building has been closed, the fund would continue to operate from its office in the Bernhardt Building.

"Every individual, firm and employee group is in a position to do its share to support the participating agencies by signing a pledge for monthly payments spread over 1958," Troy said. He urged the community to see that the drive does not fail.

City Courts

MONROE

Penalty action was taken on 33 cases in Monroe City Court yesterday with Judge W. M. Harper presiding.

Court records showed that two persons were sentenced on illegal weapons charges, four on drunk driving, and one for resisting arrest.

According to records, Sam P. Ladart, 38, of 1605 Auburn and Mack Taylor, 66, of 3216 Owl, were sentenced on the weapons counts. Ladart paid $255 in fines and costs and Taylor's sentence was $350 or seven months.

Named as sentenced on charges of driving while intoxicated were Donald Bally, 23, of Pittsburg, Pa., Leo Fontenot, 48, of 1909 Tim St. in West Monroe, and Charles Doffer, of 1003 1/2 Barlow.

Doffer, Bally and Fontenot paid fines and costs of $410 each, and the Archuleta woman drew a sentence of $400 or seven months plus 30 days compulsory.

Benson McClain, 28, of Ada Okla. received sentences of $25 or 25 days on a drunkenness charge, $50 or 50 days for disturbing the peace, and $100 or 100 days for resisting arrest, records showed.

In other court action, six persons paid a total of $82.50 bond forfeitures on traffic charges, three persons received $25 or 25-day sentences on drunkenness charges, and two persons drew compulsory 90-day jail sentences on drunkenness and vagrancy charges. Sixteen persons paid fines totaling $432.50 on charges of drunkenness, speeding, and reckless driving.

WEST MONROE

One man forfeited a $20.50 bond yesterday on reckless driving charges in West Monroe.

No cases were heard in the regular West Monroe City Court meeting.

Monroe Post Office Will Remain Open

The Monroe Post Office will remain open Saturday afternoon as long as people are there to buy stamps or mail packages. Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn announced yesterday.

He declined to set an exact closing hour, explaining that the postal windows will close when there is no more business.

Windows open will be parcel post, stamps, and registered mail. Money orders will not be sold after the usual Saturday closing time, at noon.

Hathorn stressed that only a few days are left before Christmas, with barely enough time for parcels to reach their destinations. "Mail now," he urged, "or some persons will be disappointed by not receiving their presents before Christmas."

"Right now, people have stacks of Christmas cards at home, all addressed, but some will wait until the last minute to mail them. Service will be far better if the cards are mailed now, instead of loading down the postal staff with a mountain of mail just before Christmas," he added.

Four Perish In Arkansas Coal Explosion

FORT SMITH, Ark., Dec. 11 (AP)—An explosion deep in a coal mine south of here today killed four members of a six-man graveyard shift and slightly injured the other two.

Company officials said the 5:15 a.m. blast in Peerless Coal Co.'s No. 3 mine apparently was caused by an accumulation of gas.

Killed were George Simmons of Greenwood, Ark., and L. D. Sewell, 36, Gene Moore, 35, and Joe Martin, 47, of Paris, Ark. All four bodies were recovered within five hours.

Kendrick Richardson, 50, of Fort Smith and Frank Miller, 48, of Charleston, Ark., survived the blast with minor scratches and bruises.

Owner W. H. Lewis said the mine, located in the Excelsior field about 18 miles south of Fort Smith, had been taken out of production about a month ago because of lack of orders. He said the miners were looking for new veins of coal.

Sanders Will Fill City Engineer Job

Wade M. Sanders, graduate civil engineer, has been employed by the city of Monroe to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Dick Harper, it was announced yesterday.

Sanders will fill the position of city engineer effective Jan. 1.

A 1949 graduate of Louisiana Tech, Sanders is currently connected with the Arnold Engineering Development Center at Tullahoma, Tenn. He is a registered professional engineer in civil engineering with the states of Louisiana and Tennessee.

Givers Campaign Short Of Goal, Report Reveals

United Givers Fund Drive Chairman Richard M. Troy, said yesterday that the campaign is still $13,000 short of its goal of $208,000.

Troy said that pledges and contributions of $192,000 have been received, and that about $3,000 more is in sight, but that "unless there is a change of heart, United Givers has no place to turn for the shortage."

He pointed out that the 1957-58 campaign should have ended Oct. 31, but that officials are reluctant to conclude it until the needs of the 11 participating agencies have been met. He added that although the headquarters in the Troy and Nichols Building has been closed, the fund would continue to operate from its office in the Bernhardt Building.

"Every individual, firm and employee group is in a position to do its share to support the participating agencies by signing a pledge for monthly payments spread over 1958," Troy said. He urged the community to see that the drive does not fail.

City Courts

MONROE

Penalty action was taken on 33 cases in Monroe City Court yesterday with Judge W. M. Harper presiding.

Court records showed that two persons were sentenced on illegal weapons charges, four on drunk driving, and one for resisting arrest.

According to records, Sam P. Ladart, 38, of 1605 Auburn and Mack Taylor, 66, of 3215 Owl, were sentenced on the weapons counts. Ladart paid $255 in fines and costs and Taylor's sentence was $350 or seven months.

Named as sentenced on charges of driving while intoxicated were Donald Bally, 23 of Pittsburg, Pa., Leo Fontenot, 48, of 1309 Tim St. in West Monroe, and Charles Doffer, of 1003 1/2 Barlow.

Doffer, Bally and Fontenot paid fines and costs of $410 each, and the Archuleta woman drew a sentence of $400 or seven months plus 30 days compulsory.

Benson McClain, 28 of Ada Okla. received sentences of $25 or 25 days on a drunkenness charge, $50 or 50 days for disturbing the peace, and $100 or 100 days for resisting arrest, records showed.

In other court action, six persons paid a total of $82.50 bond forfeitures on traffic charges, three persons received $25 or 25-day sentences on drunkenness charges, and two persons drew compulsory 90-day jail sentences on drunkenness and vagrancy charges. Sixteen persons paid fines totaling $432.50 on charges of drunkenness, speeding, and reckless driving.

WEST MONROE

One man forfeited a $20.50 bond yesterday on reckless driving charges in West Monroe. No cases were heard in the regular West Monroe City Court meeting.

TICKER TAPE HIGHLIGHTS

Ford Motor Co. announced it will lay off an additional 2,700 workers this month at its plants in the Detroit area. This brings to 3,300 the total number Ford plans to lay off there during December. About 1,500 employees of other Ford facilities across the country have already been laid off.

Congoleum Nairn, Inc. will raise prices 2 per cent to 5 per cent December 31 on various smooth surface floor coverings. Similar increases were announced last week by Armstrong Cork Co.

New York Shipbuilding Corp. signed a $20 million contract with the government to put together the hull of the nation's first atomic-powered merchant ship, slated to be in operation by 1960.

Republic Aviation Corp. set up a separate division to handle sales and services of the French-built five-place alouette II turbine-powered helicopter.

Successful Landing
The Navy blessed a regular II mediate range guided missile speed of nearly 1,200 miles per hour by means of a booster jet and landed it successfully by remote control Tuesday at the missile and aircraft flight test center at Edwards Air Force Base. Officials said the aim of the booster, similar in purpose to jet-assisted take-off, is to get on many present day military aircraft to give added power at take-off, is to make the nuclear warhead-carrying rocket II capable of being launched from submarines and other vessels at sea. The boosters are manufactured by Aerojet-General Corp., a subsidiary of General Tire and Rubber Co.

Lockheed Aircraft Corp. has a backlog of missile orders of more than $100 million and expects to increase its missile work force to more than 7,000 in 1958 from 5,800, Robert E. Gross, chairman, said in a letter to stockholders.

Northrop Aircraft Inc. has received a letter of intent from the air force for an excess of $70 million of additional work on the SM-62 snark intercontinental guided missile. Whitley C. Collins, president, said at the annual meeting. Collins also told shareholders that another $80 million in additional business, largely for production of the T-33 supersonic jet trainer, is anticipated very shortly. He predicted that Northrop's backlog would exceed $900 million shortly after the first of the year. Northrop Aircraft Corp. reported for the year ending July 31, 1957, is expected to exceed net income of any previous fiscal year, J. E. Rhein, president, said at the annual meeting.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner &amp; Bean

The market opened very strong reflecting a three pence advance in London futures prices. The London market appears to be discounting a lowering of the bank interest rate but to date no official announcement has been forthcoming.

It is conceivable that some announcement may be forthcoming today as the officials of the bank of London generally meet on Thursday. There was also some talk concerning a reduction in woolen fabric import duties which would be bullish on the London market but somewhat bearish on New York.

Heavy short covering by the trade and some stop loss buying by commission house resulted in futures closing near their day's high in moderately active trading. In general, the selling was hedging by trade interests.

Australian auction prices showed little improvement over yesterday while actual business in Bradford continues quiet. The futures markets appear also to be anticipating firmer prices at the Australian auctions as it is improbable that futures can hold or advance from current levels without improvement in raw wool auction prices abroad.

GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Wheat futures suffered their biggest single session setback in months today under pressure of general selling.

At the close old crop wheat futures were down 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents a bushel and the deferred July and September deliveries were off 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents. Corn finished unchanged to 3/4 higher, oats 1/4 to 3/8 lower, rye 1/4 to 3/8 lower, soybeans 1/2 to 2 cents lower, and lard 8 cents lower to 5 cents higher per hundred pounds.

Wheat: Dec 2.18 1/2, Mar 2.22 1/2, May 2.17 1/4, July 1.92 1/2, Sep 1.94 1/4.

Corn: Dec 1.16 1/4, Mar 1.19 1/2, May 1.22 1/2, Jul 1.25 1/4, Sep 1.25 1/4.

MICHIGAN STATE'S GAIN

Dougherty Rejects Texas A. And M. Coaching Post

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (UP)—Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty turned down "a lot of money" to become football coach at Texas A&M because "I couldn't go down there and leave half of myself here."

Daugherty, offered the Aggies job Monday, telephoned Jack Finney, a member of the A&M governing board, today to reject the bid.

"My roots are too deep," he said. "I have too much sentiment for Michigan State. I don't believe I could leave Michigan State and go anywhere."

Daugherty made his announcement brief. "I didn't have much to say," he told newsmen assembled in a hotel corridor, "except that I'm going to stay at Michigan State."

"I think the Texas A&M job is a wonderful opportunity," he said, "and I would recommend it to another coach who wants a great opportunity, someone who might not be completely satisfied where he is. There are no finer people than those down there."

Daugherty said that he had "pretty much" made up his mind Tuesday night to turn down the A&M job. He received the offer Monday when he was in Houston for an appearance at the A&M quarterback Cub meeting, and last night spoke in Rochester, N.Y.

"I think I was pretty well decided when I went to bed," he said.

No Bargaining
He said that he did not talk to Michigan State officials about the Texas offer until he had decided to turn it down. There was no bargaining over salary, and he said "my salary is the same today it was yesterday."

Daugherty is a professor of physical education, health and recreation at Michigan State and has no contract. "They could release me as football coach at any time," he said, "but I would retain my professorship."

Bantam Loop Bowling Meet Is Dated Here

The Bantam Bowling League of Monroe will conduct its first annual handicap tournament for boys and girls under 13 years of age at the Monroe Bowling Center here Saturday and Sunday.

The league members, who regularly bowl Saturday mornings, will start their tournament with singles competition Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Doubles events will be rolled Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

The tournament is sponsored by the Optimist Club which will donate two trophies for the doubles and singles champions.

Peggy Grishby, coach for the league's members, last night said at least 40 contenders in singles and 20 doubles teams are expected to participate.

Recovered Paul Waner Departs From Hospital

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP)—Paul Waner, the former hitting star and now a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, left a hospital today, completely cured of tuberculosis.

He was in such a hurry to leave the hospital he dropped his discharge papers and a pretty nurse ran after him with them before he left for his Sarasota home in an automobile.

In high spirits, Waner said he got a good rest, did lots of reading and typing on his portable typewriter. His reading field ran from novels to works of philosophy.

The former Pittsburgh batter here looked good. He added a 10 pounds to his 130 when he entered the hospital last September.

His doctors told him to take it easy for a while, lay off golf. But he should be ready to go next spring when baseball training time rolls around. He is batting instructor for minor league teams in the farm system of the Milwaukee Braves.

Kilbourne Boys Win Two Tilts

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La. (Special)—Kilbourne's "B" basketball boys beat the Lake Providence "B" team, 45-36, here last night after the invading junior boys had also won, 29-12.

Leading scorers were Jones, "B" Kilbourne, 15; Green, "B" Lake Providence, 11; Capers, junior Kilbourne, 20; and Jerry Thomas, junior Lake Providence, 4.

BOOST TO AUTO RACING

LONDON, Dec. 11 (UP)—Grand Prix auto racing, suffering from mounting costs and the aftermaths of racing disasters, received a shot in the arm today when two major British firms announced their full-fledged participation in the 1958 championship series. B.R.M. and the small racing stables both said they will enter teams of at least three racers, driving radically redesigned cars in the 1958 Grand Prix

He said he did not want to comment on reports that the Aggie offer might entail as much as $60,000 a year, but he said he believed the job would be "wonderful." The Aggie job was left vacant two weeks ago when Paul "Bear" Bryant asked for his release so that he could become head coach at Alabama.

Centenary Tags Northeast, 73-68

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special)—The Centenary Gentlemen of Shreveport saw some fine individual performing from Northeast's big center, Billy May, but shaded the invading Redskins, 73 to 68, in their basketball battle here tonight.

May was high scorer of the game with 18 points, most of them from the foul line where he connected for ten points. Landeros was top scorer for Centenary with 13.

The Gents led the invaders, 38 to 26, at the half and saw the Northeast cagers get their finest performance in the last half as they whittled away at the Centenary lead but were never able to catch up.

McLoughlin, Veteran Net Star, Is Dead

HERMOSA BEACH, Calif., Dec. 11 (UP)—The death of famed tennis star Maurice E. McLoughlin, 67, at his home here Tuesday night was disclosed today by his family.

McLoughlin, who starred on the courts prior to World War I, only this year was elected to the tennis Hall of Fame. He was national champion in 1913 and on the United States Davis Cup team four times from 1903 to 1914, leading this country to victory over Great Britain in the international competition in 1913.

The net star was nicknamed "the California Comet" for his aggressive net-rushing tactics which revolutionized the game. McLoughlin had suffered a heart attack a week ago and was hospitalized but apparently recovered and returned to his home here, suffering a relapse Tuesday night that caused his death.

Perhaps the most famous match in which McLoughlin participated was against Sir Norman Brookes of Australia in 1914. McLoughlin won by scores of 17-15, 6-3, 6-3 at Forest Hills.

For years after his retirement from active tournament play, McLoughlin officiated at tennis matches in Southern California and encouraged young players.

Southeastern Catches Cats In 81-68 Tilt

HAMMOND, La., Dec. 11 (AP)—Southeastern Louisiana launched a sizzling scoring surge in an overtime period tonight to thrash Louisiana College 81-68 after a nip-and-tuck second half.

Louisiana College, which trailed 34-29 at intermission, tied the count at 59-59 on a set shot by Glenn Graff in the final minutes, then went ahead on field goals by Don Berry and Bill Stringfellow.

The losers held the four-point margin, until the final 10 seconds, when Dave Glisson got the first of two quick baskets from the circle to send the game into overtime. In the extra period while the losers got only five.

Jimmy Casabat of Southeastern with 27 points, while Berry got 21 for the losers.

Demon Quint Beats Steve Austin, 42-40

NATCHITOCHES, La., Dec. 11 (AP)—Forward Elvin McCann tipped in a field goal with four seconds left tonight to give Northwestern State a 42-40 victory over Stephen F. Austin and hand the winners their first triumph of the season.

The winning field goal came after Jimmy Leach shot from the outside with nine seconds left. The ball bounced around the rim before McCann dunked it.

The game started slow, with Northwestern holding a 17 1/2 half-time edge. The second half picked up the pace.

Jimmy Adkins led Northwestern with 14 points, while McCann had 12. Willard Tinsley led SFA with nine points.

Dodgers Shoot For Rose Bowl

By BOB MYERS
PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 11 (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, with the personal help of Mayor Morris Poulson of Los Angeles, today made a pitch to play baseball in the famed Rose Bowl.

Poulson, President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers and several of his assistants met with Mayor Seth Miller and the Pasadena board of city directors in another move to find a place for the Dodgers to play on a temporary basis. Poulson said that negotiations were still going on between the Dodgers and the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum commission. But it was evident that the many problems involved with the Los Angeles stadium are proving most difficult to whip.

Poulson told the Pasadena city fathers that all of Southern California, including the 100,000 population of this sister city of Los Angeles, are a cooperative family and should help find a field for the Dodgers.

"I have come over here to appeal to you because we are in a situation," the Los Angeles mayor said. "You have the best place for major league baseball to be played in as far as Southern California is concerned. I suppose I'll get ridiculed from some factions in Los Angeles, but I believe you'll agree." He explained that, while Los Angeles is anxious to have the Dodgers, the 100,000-seat Rose Bowl can be adapted better pending the proposed establishment of a Dodger plant in Chavez Ravine.

Poulson, with a grin said, "It is embarrassing for Los Angeles to go to Pasadena to open the next baseball season."

O'Malley said he had received splendid cooperation from the coliseum commission in Los Angeles.

"Right now, however, it is one of construction and not necessarily anything else," O'Malley said. He apparently was referring to financial considerations over the Los Angeles stadium.

The Dodgers would assume all costs of construction and of returning the bowl to its original form.

In answer to one question, he said that the Dodgers would be a resident in Pasadena for at least one year, and very likely two seasons.

The Dodgers would guarantee that the bowl would be in its identical form between baseball seasons for the annual football game New Year's Day.

The city board will hold an open hearing next Tuesday before deciding whether it will continue into formal negotiations with the Dodgers.

Ask Louisiana College Teams Be Eliminated

GREELEY, Colo., Dec. 11 (AP)—The Colorado State College athletic board yesterday adopted a policy that no future athletic events will be scheduled with college which practice racial segregation.

A few hours after this action, the student council asked that three basketball games scheduled by the Colorado State College Bears in Louisiana this year be cancelled.

A meeting of the student council executive committee, Dr. Arthur F. Reynolds, chairman of the athletic board, and John Bunn, basketball coach, was called for tonight to discuss the council resolution.

The action by the two groups resulted from campus criticism of the Bears' trip to Louisiana next week without Oliver Bell, Negro senior forward, because of Louisiana segregation laws.

The Bears are scheduled to play Tulane Dec. 16 at New Orleans; McNeese Dec. 17 at Lake Charles, and Centenary Dec. 18 at Shreveport.

Rival Frats In 13-13 Tie At Northeast

Northeast State's first annual Frat Bowl football game between Tau Kappa Epsilon and Kappa Alpha fraternities ended in a 13-13 tie last night as heroes of the rival frats battled in near freezing weather at Brown Field.

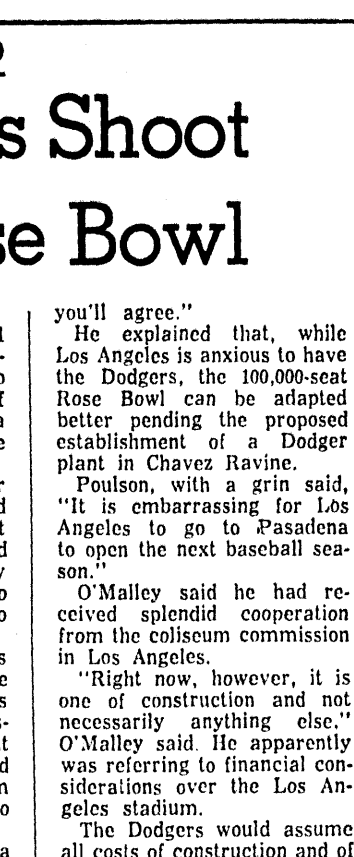

The fraternities pledged proceeds of their game to the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home for Christmas presents.

Windsor and "Skipper" Portman accounted for Kappa Alpha's points, while Guy DuPriest, Benny Franklin, and John Odom counted for the "Teesks."

Windsor scampered 65 yards for KA's first TD, and Portman ran for the extra point. Portman later got loose on a 70-yard touch-down run for his team.

DuPriest passed to Franklin for the opening TKE touch-down. Then DuPriest plunged two yards for another, and Odom kicked the point.

TKE led in first downs, 10 to 8.

Mustangs, Irish Change Gridiron For Next Game

DALLAS, Dec. 11 (UP)—Southern Methodist and Notre Dame will play their next football contest in the Cotton Bowl on Oct. 4, 1958, rather than as originally scheduled at South Bend, it was announced today by Matty Bell, director of athletics at SMU.

The move was approved by both Notre Dame's Board of Governors and SMU's faculty committee on athletics.

The Notre Dame game will be SMU's first home game of the 1958 season, which will open with the Mustangs meeting Ohio State in Columbus on Sept. 27.

The SMU squad will be out to erase the bitter memories of this year's 54-21 defeat by the Irish last Saturday in the Cotton Bowl.

MICHIGAN STATE'S GAIN

Dougherty Rejects Texas A. And M. Coaching Post

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (UP)—Michigan State's Duffy Dougherty turned down "a lot of money" to become football coach at Texas A&M because "I couldn't go down there and leave half of myself here."

Dougherty, offered the Aggies job Monday, telephoned Jack Finney, a member of the A&M governing board, today to reject the bid.

"My roots are too deep," he said. "I have too much sentiment for Michigan State. I don't believe I could leave Michigan State and go anywhere."

Dougherty made his announcement brief. "I didn't have much to say," he told newsmen assembled in a hotel corridor, "except that I'm going to stay at Michigan State."

"I think the Texas A&M job is a wonderful opportunity," he said, "and I would recommend it to another coach who wants a great opportunity, someone who might not be completely satisfied where he is. There are no finer people than those down there."

Dougherty said that he had "pretty much" made up his mind Tuesday night to turn down the A&M job, when he was in Houston for an appearance at the A&M quarterback club meeting, and last night spoke in Rochester, N.Y.

"I think I was pretty well decided when I went to bed," he said.

No Bargaining
He said that he did not talk to Michigan State officials about the Texas offer until he had decided to turn it down. There was no bargaining over salary, and he said "my salary is the same today it was yesterday."

Dougherty is a professor of physical education, health and recreation at Michigan State and has no contract "They could relieve me as football coach at any time," he said, "but I would retain my professorship."

Bantam Loop Bowling Meet Is Dated Here

The Bantam Bowling League of Monroe will conduct its first annual handicap tournament for boys and girls under 13 years of age at the Monroe Bowling Center here Saturday and Sunday.

The league members, who regularly bowl Saturday mornings, will start their tournament with singles competition Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Doubles events will be rolled Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

The tournament is sponsored by the Optimist Club which will donate two trophies for the doubles and singles champions.

Peggy Grigsby, coach for the league's members, last night said at least 40 contenders in singles and 20 doubles teams are expected to participate.

Recovered Paul Waner Departs From Hospital

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 11 (UP)—Paul Waner, the former hitting star and now a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, left a hospital today, completely cured of tuberculosis.

He was in such a hurry to leave the hospital he dropped his discharge papers and a pretty nurse ran after him with them before he left for his Sarasota home in an automobile.

In high spirits, Waner said he got a good rest, did lots of reading and typing on his portable typewriter. His reading field ran from novels to works of philosophers.

The former Pittsburgh batting hero looked good. He added a 10 pounds to his 130 when he entered the hospital last September.

His doctors told him to take it easy for a while, lay off golf.

But he should be ready to go next spring when baseball training time rolls around. He is batting instructor for minor league teams in the farm system of the Milwaukee Braves.

Kilbourne Boys Win Two Tilts

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La. (Special)—Kilbourne's "B" basketball boys beat the Lake Providence "B" team, 45-36, here last night after the invading junior boys had also won, 29-12.

Leading scorers were Jones, "B" Kilbourne, 11; Capers, junior Kilbourne, 20; and Jerry Thomas, junior Lake Providence, 4.

BOOST TO AUTO RACING

LONDON, Dec. 11 (UP)—Grand Prix auto racing, suffering from mounting costs and the aftermath of racing disasters, reaps a shot in the arm today when two major British firms announced their full-fledged participation in the 1958 championship series. B.R.M. and Vanwall racing stables both said they will enter teams of at least three racers, driving radically redesigned cars, in the 1958 Grand Prix events.

He said he did not want to comment on reports that the Aggie offer might entail as much as $60,000 a year, but he said he would live the job would be "wonderful." The Aggie job was left vacant two weeks ago when Paul "Bear" Bryant asked for his release so that he could become head coach at Alabama.

Centenary Tags Northeast, 73-68

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special)—The Centenary Gentlemen of Shreveport saw some fine individual performing from Northeast's big center, Billy May, but shaded the invading Redskins, 73 to 68, in their basketball battle here tonight.

May was high scorer of the game with 18 points, most of them from the foul line where he connected for ten points. Landeros was top scorer for Centenary with 13.

The Gents led the invaders, 38

McLoughlin, Veteran Net Star, Is Dead

HERMOSA BEACH, Calif., Dec. 11 (UP)—The death of famed tennis star Maurice E. McLoughlin, 67, at his home here Tuesday night was disclosed today by his family.

McLoughlin, who starred on the courts prior to World War I, only this year was elected to the tennis hall of fame. He was national champion in 1912-13 and on the United States Davis Cup team four times from 1909 to 1914, leading this country to victory over Great Britain in the international competition in 1913.

The net star was nicknamed "the California Comet" for his aggressive net-rushing tactics which revolutionized the game.

McLoughlin had suffered a heart attack a week ago and was hospitalized but apparently recovered and returned to his home here, suffering a relapse Tuesday night that caused his death.

Perhaps the most famous match in which McLoughlin participated was against Sir Norman Brookes of Australia in 1914. McLoughlin won by scores of 17-15, 6-3, 6-3 at Forest Hills.

For years after his retirement from active tournament play, McLoughlin officiated at tennis matches in Southern California and encouraged young players.

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 11 (UP)—Yvon Durelle won a unanimous decision over Jerry Leudee in a bruising 10-round light heavyweight bout tonight.

Durelle, the British Empire light heavyweight champion, using a left hook and right uppercut with telling effect, built up an early lead and was in control throughout.

Luedee, though willing and tough, rarely was able to penetrate Durelle's defense for a telling blow.

Durelle, weighing 174 1/2 to 172 for his New Haven, Conn., opponent, was the stronger in the clinches and got in some of his best blows in the fighting.

The Canadian was warned in the fifth for a low blow and from ringside appeared he hit low on other occasions.

Luedee began to come on in the seventh. He backed Durelle against the ropes and flailed away with rights and lefts. He popped Durelle's head back a couple of times, but the more experienced Durelle caught most of the blows on his arms and gloves.

Dodgers Shoot For Rose Bowl

By BOB MYERS
PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 11 (UP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, with the personal help of Mayor Morris Poulson of Los Angeles, today made a pitch to play baseball in the famed Rose Bowl.

Poulson, President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers and several of his assistants met with Mayor Seth Miller and the Pasadena board of city directors in another move to find a place for the Dodgers to play on a temporary basis.

Poulson said that negotiations were still going on between the Dodgers and the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum commission. But it was evident that the many problems involved with the Los Angeles stadium are proving most difficult to whip.

Poulson told the Pasadena city fathers that all of Southern California, including the 100,000 population of this sister city of Los Angeles, are a cooperative family and should help find a field for the Dodgers.

"I have come over here to appeal to you because we are in a situation," the Los Angeles mayor said. "You have the best place for major league baseball to be played in as far as Southern California is concerned. I suppose I'll get ridiculed from some factions in Los Angeles, but I believe you'll agree."

He explained that, while Los Angeles is anxious to have the Dodgers, the 100,000-seat Rose Bowl can be adapted better pending the proposed establishment of a Dodger plant in Chavez Ravine.

Poulson, with a grin said, "It is embarrassing for Los Angeles to go to Pasadena to open the next baseball season."

O'Malley said he had received splendid cooperation from the coliseum commission in Los Angeles.

"Right now, however, it is one of construction and not necessarily anything else," O'Malley said. He apparently was referring to financial considerations over the Los Angeles stadium.

The Dodgers would assume all costs of construction and of returning the bowl to its original form.

In answer to one question, he said that the Dodgers would be a resident in Pasadena for at least one year, and very likely two seasons.

The Dodgers would guarantee that the bowl would be in its identical form between baseball seasons for the annual football game New Year's Day.

The city board will hold an open hearing next Tuesday before deciding whether it will continue into formal negotiations with the Dodgers.

Ask Louisiana College Teams Be Eliminated
Greeley, Colo., Dec. 11 (UP)—The Colorado State College athletic board yesterday adopted a policy that no future athletic events will be scheduled with college which practice racial segregation.

A few hours after this action, the student council asked that three basketball games scheduled by the Colorado State College Bears in Louisiana this year be cancelled.

A meeting of the student council executive committee, Dr. Arthur F. Reynolds, chairman of the athletic board, and John Bunn, basketball coach, was called for tonight to discuss the council resolution.

The action by the two groups resulted from campus criticism of the Bears' trip to Louisiana next week without Oliver Bell, Negro senior forward, because of Louisiana segregation laws.

The Bears are scheduled to play Tulane Dec. 16 at New Orleans; McNeese Dec. 17 at Lake Charles, and Centenary Dec. 18 at Shreveport.

you'll agree."

He explained that, while Los Angeles is anxious to have the Dodgers, the 100,000-seat Rose Bowl can be adapted better pending the proposed establishment of a Dodger plant in Chavez Ravine.

Poulson, with a grin said, "It is embarrassing for Los Angeles to go to Pasadena to open the next baseball season."

O'Malley said he had received splendid cooperation from the coliseum commission in Los Angeles.

"Right now, however, it is one of construction and not necessarily anything else," O'Malley said. He apparently was referring to financial considerations over the Los Angeles stadium.

The Dodgers would assume all costs of construction and of returning the bowl to its original form.

In answer to one question, he said that the Dodgers would be a resident in Pasadena for at least one year, and very likely two seasons.

The Dodgers would guarantee that the bowl would be in its identical form between baseball seasons for the annual football game New Year's Day.

The city board will hold an open hearing next Tuesday before deciding whether it will continue into formal negotiations with the Dodgers.

Ask Louisiana College Teams Be Eliminated
Greeley, Colo., Dec. 11 (UP)—The Colorado State College athletic board yesterday adopted a policy that no future athletic events will be scheduled with college which practice racial segregation.

A few hours after this action, the student council asked that three basketball games scheduled by the Colorado State College Bears in Louisiana this year be cancelled.

A meeting of the student council executive committee, Dr. Arthur F. Reynolds, chairman of the athletic board, and John Bunn, basketball coach, was called for tonight to discuss the council resolution.

The action by the two groups resulted from campus criticism of the Bears' trip to Louisiana next week without Oliver Bell, Negro senior forward, because of Louisiana segregation laws.

The Bears are scheduled to play Tulane Dec. 16 at New Orleans; McNeese Dec. 17 at Lake Charles, and Centenary Dec. 18 at Shreveport.

Bengals Tumble To Miami, 73-65

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 11 (AP)—Early lead that stretched to 21-12, Miami combined superior height and the clutch shooting of Bill Talbot for a 73-65 basketball victory over Louisiana State University tonight.

Talbot, a 6-1 guard, notched 13 points in the first half as the Florida team moved to a 29-23 lead, then added 14 more for a total of 27 as Florida Hurricanes weathered a frantic closing drive by the hustling squad.

Joe Combs, LSU's tallest man at 6-6, led his team to a quick

However, Combs drew four personal fouls in the opening half, guarding Miami's seven-foot center, Dick Berghoff, and sat out most of the second half. Berghoff scored only eight points, but grabbed 20 rebounds as Miami totaled 61 rebounds to 34 for the losers.

Miami used a fast breakout of its close-knit zone defense to pull away from LSU just before the intermission. Gene Stage, a six-foot Miami guard, scored several key baskets to put Miami in the lead, then broke away for two more scores in the closing minutes when LSU surged within two points of the lead at 67-65. Stage totaled 16.

It was LSU's second straight loss after two victories. Miami lost last night to Loyola at New Orleans.

Pettit's Great Show Ramrods Hawks' Victory

BOSTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Bob Pettit's 43 points sparked the St. Louis Hawks to a 125-126 victory over the New York Knickerbockers tonight in the first half of a National Basketball Association double header at the Boston Garden.

Pettit hit for 18 field goals, tying the Boston court record, and added seven free throws in a terrific performance.

Reward Dempsey For Meritorious Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (UP)—Jack Dempsey teamed with Carmen Basilio today to receive boxing's top awards for 1957.

The Boxing Writers' Association announced that ex-heavyweight champion Dempsey, the 62-year-old "Manassa Mauler," had been voted the James J. Walker award for "long and meritorious" service to the sport.

Middleweight champion Basilio, 30, became the first two-time winner of the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque for "Fighter of the year." Carmen of Chittenango, N.Y., had won it as welterweight ruler in 1955. Last year it went to heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Dempsey, heavyweight king from 1919 to 1926, had been honored before the Writers' Association.

That was in 1938 when he was voted the first Neil plaque, which at that time went to the person who had contributed most to the sport during the year—a fighter, ex-fighter or enthusiastic supporter.

Only one other man ever won both the Neil and Walker awards. That was the late James J. Walker, himself—before his death.

Walker, former mayor of New York and father of New York state's modern boxing law, won the Neil plaque in 1945 and the long-and-meritorious award in 1940. That award later was named in his honor.

Spieser's Camp Charges IBC Stronger Than Ever

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT, Dec. 11 (AP)—The brother of light heavyweight challenger Chuck Spieser said tonight the International Boxing Club has used "all its power and influence" to keep him from lining up television coverage of the Spieser-Archie Moore title fight.

Joe Spieser, who is the fighter's manager, said Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams has stepped into the picture in an effort to fix the situation.

The fight is scheduled for late January in the state Fairgrounds Coliseum in Detroit. Local independent promoters guaranteed Moore, the champion, $100,000 to defend his championship in a 15-round bout against Spieser.

"I thought the supreme court broke up this monopoly they call the IBC," Spieser's manager screamed. "It looks like that bunch is stronger than ever. They've stopped us cold on two good television deals."

Spieser said two companies who sponsor the regular Wednesday night and Friday night fights were interested in televising the Spieser-Moore bout for $75,000. Preliminary arrangements were worked out each time, he added.

"But the IBC gang stepped in and ruined both deals," he said. "They control boxing, television and everything. A guy can't make a move unless the IBC tells him which way to go."

Spieser said there was a meeting in Detroit last night attended by himself, Jack (Doc) Kearns, one of Moore's managers; Floyd Stevens, chairman of the Michigan state boxing commission, and several others.

At this gathering, Spieser said, he read a letter that had been written by Gov. Williams to the head of one of the companies that sponsors fights on television. (Williams' family owns the Mennen Co., which helps to sponsor the Wednesday night fights, and the governor is a member of the board of directors.)

Spieser said Gov. Williams wrote, in part, that the people of Michigan want the fight, that television is needed and that the company should sponsor the bout. Spieser said "the governor told them they shouldn't allow themselves to be pushed around by the IBC."

Williams was reported in New York and was not immediately available for comment.

The independent promoters have put up only $65,000 of the $100,000 guarantee and Kearns was in town yesterday and today in an effort to bolster the promotion. He suggested that it might be wise to postpone it until late February. Spieser said tonight the promoters are "thinking about a postponement."

The fight was announced in October and Moore's handlers could have walked off with a $10,000 check after the deadline for posting the remaining $90,000 passed that same month. But Kearns was quoted as saying today that he would rather go ahead with this fight rather than start all over on another promotion.

"We need the TV," said Spieser. "Chuck deserves the shot at the title, and it'd be pretty rough to promote the thing without television. Just because we're running an independent deal without the IBC horning in, they're putting the squeeze on us."

"We haven't been able to do any promotion or publicity work since we scheduled the fight. If Chuck doesn't get this crack at Moore, the IBC will see to it that he never gets a decent fight again."

Longhorns Take Day Off In Work For Sugar Bowl

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (UP)—The Texas Longhorns, facing Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day, were given a day off from the football practice field today by Coach Darrell Royal.

Royal, seeking to bring his team to peak form slowly left the matter of exercise up to each individual member of the squad. Workouts resume Thursday.

The Longhorns, 6-3-1 for the season and strong finishers with an upset victory over Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day, were scheduled for moderate drills until the tempo speeds up at their pregame training camp at Biloxi, Miss., Dec. 26.

Sooners Given Brief Practice

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 11 (UP)—Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson switched signals today and called a brief Orange Bowl practice.

The Sooners had been scheduled to work out Thursday, then lay off until Monday, when they will begin daily drills lasting all week. Wilkinson said the team appears to be in good physical shape for the encounter against Duke Jan. 1 at Miami.

The squad worked only on fundamentals today.

Giants Blaming Browns Injuries For Own Decline

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer
Why did the New York Giants fail to retain the National Football League's Eastern Division crown and gain a shot at a second straight championship? Coach Jim Lee Howell says the Cleveland Browns' injuries and weaknesses at several key positions caused the downfall of his Giants.

First of all, the Giants are in the same division with Cleveland, most consistent winner in pro football history. "Our record now is 7-4. There is only one team in the league with a better record and that is Cleveland," Howell said. "A 7-4 record is good enough for a share of first place right now in the Western Division."

This is an old, frustrating story for the Giants. They have wound up 9-2-1 and found that record only good enough for second behind the Browns. In 12 seasons since they were organized, the Browns only twice lost more than one game at a time during the regular season. They lost two in a row in 1946 and three in a row last season when both their quarterbacks were sidelined.

Howell denied the Giants would make wholesale changes in the squad. "We won't do that unless we can get better men," Howell said. "And boys like Svoboda, Frank Gifford, Charley Conerly, Ray Wietecha, Dick Modzelewski, Roosevelt Brown and Andy Robustelli are hard to find."

The Giants get a chance to whip the new Eastern Division champions when they entertain the Browns Sunday. The Giants, four-point favorites, will go all out to defeat the club that has forced them to take its dust green out of eight seasons since 1950.

Sunday's key games are in the Western Division, where the Baltimore Colts, Detroit Lions and San Francisco Forty-Niners are tied for first with a game to play. Baltimore is a four-point underdog against the Rams at Los Angeles, the Lions are 2-1-2 point underdogs against the Bears at Chicago and the Forty-Niners are 14-1-2 point favorites against the visiting Green Bay Packers.

The Washington Redskins are seven-point choices against the visiting Pittsburgh Steelers. In a Saturday afternoon game, the Eagles are one-point favorites to beat the Chicago Cardinals.

This week's selections: Cardinals (2-8) over Eagles (4-7); Bears (5-6) over Lions (7-4); Forty-Niners (7-4) over Packers (3-8); Rams (5-6) over Colts (7-4); Browns (8-2-1) over Giants (7-4); Redskins (4-6-1) over Steelers (3-5).

BRISBANE, Australia, Dec. 12 (Thursday) (UP)—Unpredictable Herb Flam, trying to shake off a bad case of the jitters with a full day of rest, met Jackie Brichant today as the United States and Belgium opened the three day Davis Cup Interzone final.

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 34-year-old former U.S. and Wimbledon champion, met 33-year-old Philippe Washer in the second match of the day. Seixas was a heavy favorite.

The five-match series continues Friday when Seixas teams with 44-year-old Gardner Mullos in doubles against Brichant and Washer. In the singles windup on Saturday, Seixas is pitted against Brichant and Flam meets Washer.

The winner of the series will face heavily favored Australia in the challenge round Dec. 26-28 at Melbourne, Australia and the United States have met in every challenge round since 1937.

Norton Against Contract Jumps

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 11 (AP)—Homer Norton, coach of the 1939 national championship football team at Texas A&M, said today the NCAA should take steps to prevent coaches from breaking long term contracts while moving to other schools.

"If and when the NCAA wants to put a rule into effect forbidding schools to negotiate with a coach under contract to another school, I'll be the first to support it," Norton said in his football column published by the Houston Post.

The column included a review of 1957 trends and a forecast of trends which may be expected in 1958.

Norton said 1957 saw a decided trend away from the straight-T and split-T, and that a swing to the multiple offense is indicated for 1958.

"In several games this fall you saw teams use an unbalanced line in one direction, with an end and a halfback spread opposite the line," he said. "More mauling plays were used, the quick kick became popular again and the forward pass emerged from disrepute."

"In the case of SMU, we saw the return of the wide open spread," he said. "General speaking, it looks as though the swing for 1958 will be to the multiple offense, which to me will please the fans who became bored with the gridiron."

Norton said two Southwest Conference coaches—Jack Mitchell of Arkansas and Paul "Bear" Bryant of Texas A&M—have been re-

Washington Boat Safety Talks Begin

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—Representatives of one of the fastest growing sports in America—recreational boating—opened a two-day conference here today, hoping to come up with some firm recommendations on small boat safety.

The conference was called by the treasury department at the request of the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries. The U. S. coast guard, which is part of the treasury department, is taking a leading part in the discussions.

A spokesman for the coast guard said there are no firm statistics on boating accidents, but estimates of fatalities last year range from 800 to 1,200.

John Drewry, chief counsel for the house committee, said recreational boating has grown at a fantastic rate in the past 10 years and now includes six million boats and 25 million users.

Since safety problems have grown in proportion, he said, education in boating safety is necessary and legislation may be required.

Drewry said the committee held hearings in 16 cities and heard hundreds of witnesses before asking the treasury department to call the safety conference.

Among questions debated today was whether the boating industry should set up its own standards of boating safety or whether new laws might be needed raising the minimum safety requirements.

The coast guard spokesman said the question of state and federal legislation is a touchy one. He said state legislation should be uniform to be effective. He noted many of the lakes and rivers used in recreational boating border on two or more states.

The national Association of Marine Dealers told the conference it is prepared to accept its responsibility in the field of boating safety.

M. J. Styron, president of the association, told the conference safety education should be aimed at those already in the sport as well as newcomers.

New York City's first general post office was privately owned until 1783.

Warn Majors Again Of Selfish Motives

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—The House Anti-Trust Subcommittee's top two members said today they will look into a dispute between major and minor league baseball teams over plans to televise some major league games. Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.) and Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (N. Y.), ranking Republican member, said they plan to discuss the problem next month with Attorney General William P. Rogers and officials of both major and minor leagues. The aim, he said, is to determine if new legislation is needed.

Meanwhile, they said in a joint statement, major league clubs should defer signing contracts with TV networks.

"In our opinion," they said, "precipitous action taken now would seriously interfere with an ultimate solution that is far and equitable to all concerned."

Cells and Keating commended Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick for opposing the idea and said clubs in the American and National league should exercise self-restraint "in the interest of baseball as a whole."

The subcommittee has been investigating the anti-trust status of professional sports and expects to submit a report and recommendations early next year.

Schwall Quits Sooners, Signs Red Sox Pact

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 11 (UP)—University of Oklahoma basketball ace Don Schwall said today he has signed a baseball contract with the Boston Red Sox. He signed for a bonus reportedly in excess of $50,000.

The lanky 6-foot-5, 210-pounder quit the Sooner cage team Monday and at that time disclosed he was considering offers from five major league baseball clubs.

R. B. Rice, Red Sox scout who tagged Schwall, a righthander, would not disclose the amount of the bonus but said:

"His bonus is bigger than any Oklahoma boy ever received before."

Lindy and Von McDaniel of Hollis each received a $50,000 bonus when they signed with the St. Louis Cardinals. Last spring Jerry Walker, of Ada, signed with Baltimore for a bonus allegedly ranging between $50,000 and $50,000.

A junior from Ypsilanti, Mich., Schwall did not have a spectacular baseball record with OU because he was held as a relief hurler. He was troubled with lack of control but in semi-pro play in Nebraska last summer improved considerably. At O.U. he pitched only nine innings, losing only one game, striking out 10 and walking nine.

Rice said Schwall would report to Minneapolis of the American Association next spring.

Another Upset Adds To Davis Cup Confusion

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 11 (UP)—Roy Emerson and Bob Mark threw added confusion into the Australian Davis Cup picture by upsetting Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser, 6-8, 19-17, 10-8, 6-2, today in the doubles semifinals of the Victorian Tennis championships.

Mal Anderson and Mervyn Rose won the other semifinal with a 6-3, 0-7, 6-4 victory over Bob Howe and Rod Laver.

Emerson and Mark needed four hours for their surprise triumph over Cooper and Fraser, who hold the U.S. doubles title and shape up as a possible team for the Davis Cup challenge round.

Rose played well in the other match although Anderson, the U.S. singles champion, was unimpressive. There were indications that Australian Davis Cup selectors may stick with the Rose-Anderson team or pair Rose with Cooper for doubles. Rose, a southpaw, is rated the outstanding doubles player in amateur tennis.

A Davis Cup singles berth will be at stake Thursday when Cooper plays Rose and Anderson faces Fraser in the semi-finals of singles. Cooper seemed assured of the No. 1 singles assignment in Davis Cup matches but the three others all have a chance for the other job.

Pistons Obtain Knicks' Jordan; Must Free One

DETROIT, Dec. 11 (UP)—The Detroit Pistons today signed tall Phil Jordan after a one-game try-out.

The 6-10 former New York Knicks' player scored five points and picked off nine rebounds in his trial game Tuesday night against Philadelphia. The New York club placed him on waivers last week and the Pistons were permitted to take a look at him in action.

The Detroit team must cut one player from the roster by midnight Sunday and it likely will be Bill Ebben, a rookie from University of Detroit.

Two players are on the injured list. Bob Houbrigs' disc trouble may force him to miss most—or all—of the campaign. Dick Atha sprained his ankle during a workout and will miss at least five

Giants Blaming Browns Injuries For Own Decline

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

Why did the New York Giants fail to retain the National Football League's Eastern Division crown and gain a shot at a second straight championship?

Coach Jim Lee Howell says the Cleveland Browns' injuries and weaknesses at several key positions caused the downfall of his Giants.

First of all, the Giants are in the same division with Cleveland, most consistent winner in pro football history.

"Our record now is 7-4. There is only one team in the league with a better record and that is Cleveland," Howell said. "A 7-4 record is good enough for a share of first place right now in the Western Division."

This is an old, frustrating story for the Giants. They have wound up 9-2-1 and found that record only good enough for second behind the Browns. In 12 seasons since they were organized, the Browns only twice lost more than one game at a time during the regular season. They lost two in a row in 1946 and three in a row last season when both their quarterbacks were sidelined.

Howell denied the Giants would make wholesale changes in the squad.

"We won't do that unless we can get better men," Howell said. "And boys like Svoboda, Frank Gifford, Charley Conerly, Ray Wietecha, Dick Modzelewski, Roosevelt Brown and Andy Robustelli are hard to find."

The Giants get a chance to whip the new Eastern Division champions when they entertain the Browns Sunday. The Giants, four-point favorites, will go all out to defeat the club that has forced them to take its dust green out of eight seasons since 1950.

Sunday's key games are in the Western Division, where the Baltimore Colts, Detroit Lions and San Francisco Forty-Niners are tied for first with a game to play. Baltimore is a four-point underdog against the Rams at Los Angeles, the Lions are 2-1-2 point underdogs against the Bears at Chicago and the Forty-Niners are 14-1-2 point favorites against the visiting Green Bay Packers.

The Washington Redskins are seven-point choices against a visiting Pittsburgh Steelers. In a Saturday afternoon game, the Eagles are one-point favorites to beat the Chicago Cardinals.

This week's selections: Cardinals (2-3) over Eagles (4-7); Bears (5-6) over Lions (7-4); Forty-Niners (7-4) over Packers (3-3); Rams (5-6) over Colts (7-4); Browns (8-2-1) over Giants (7-4); Redskins (4-6-1) over Steelers (5-5).

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 11 (AP)—Homer Norton, coach of the 1939 national championship football team at Texas A&M, said today the NCAA should take steps to prevent coaches from breaking long term contracts while moving to other school.

"In several games this fall you saw teams use an unbalanced line in one direction, with an end and a halfback spread opposite the line," he said. "More mousetrapp plays were used, the quick kick became popular again and the forward pass emerged from disrepute."

"In the case of SMU, we saw the return of the wide open spread," General speaking, "it looks as though the swing for 1958 will be to the multiple offense, which to me will please the fans who became bored with the gridiron."

Norton said two Southwest Conference coaches—Jack Mitchell of Arkansas and Paul "Bear" Bryant of Texas A&M—have been released from long term contracts to return to their home states or schools.

"I question this practice from both sides," he said. "It occurs to me that colleges have no protection against such an act, and that both the coach and school suffer for it. In an order to curb this, the NCAA should develop a method of enforcing these long term contracts. A penalty should be levied against whichever party violates the agreement. Or perhaps faculty tenure as professors for all coaches would solve the problem."

Unemployment In U.S. Mushrooms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UPI)—mean war. The number of jobless Americans jumped to 3,200,000 last month, an increase of 700,000 over October and the highest November figure since the 1949 recession, the government reported today.

The commerce and labor departments said in a joint report that total civilian employment fell to 64,900,000 in November.

The report attributed most of the employment drop to a decrease in farm work. It said that unusually bad weather added to the normal seasonal autumn decline in agricultural employment.

Meanwhile, the number of factory workers fell to a total of 16,600,000 a decrease of 230,000 from October and about 625,000 below the level of November, 1956. The report said the decrease from October was sharper than usual.

Work Week Declines

It said the average work week of factory workers declined by 18 minutes in November to 39.2 hours. This also was the lowest November level since 1949 when the national economy experienced a turnaround just prior to the Korean war.

Eastland Asks Legislation To Aid Businesses

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UPI)—Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) today proposed emergency legislation to help small businessmen in southern states where floods have stopped the harvesting of farm crops.

He recommended an amendment to the small business law to permit federal loans to businessmen who supply farmers. The loans would cover debts businessmen are unable to collect from the hard-hit farmers.

The small business law now provides such loans may be made in disaster areas damaged by hurricanes or drought. Eastland's amendment would include excessive rain.

Eastland made his proposal in a letter to Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. He asked that the amendment be drafted and sent immediately to government agencies so their reports would be available when Congress meets early next month.

Eastland expressed fear there would be widespread bankruptcies along the Mississippi Valley without the legislation.

He is making a survey to determine the extent of damages and relief requirements in Mississippi. More than a thousand letters from his office were mailed today.

Miss. Legislator Sworn Into Office

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 11 (UPI)—The Mississippi Legislature's newest member was sworn in today shortly before the lawmakers packed up and went home.

Philip Singley, 30-year-old Columbia lawyer, drove to Jackson after defeating former Marion County Sheriff J. C. Broom 1,320-1,064 in a run-off election yesterday for the seat vacated by Jerome Foxworth.

Foxworth resigned to become a rural mail carrier.

Singley, a tall, smiling figure in a light suit, was escorted to the House chamber by Speaker Walter Sillers of Bolivar County. Singley is president of the Marion County board of education and is a former county attorney, a post he held eight years. He also is a former acting postmaster of Columbia.

Singley, a Marion County native, also is a landowner. He and Mrs. Singley have five children.

600 Families Sign For Commodities

About 600 needy families are now registered by the Ouachita Welfare to receive surplus commodities from the federal government.

BEFORE PARDON

Solon Asks Full Study On Johnson

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 11 (UPI)—The chairman of the Legislative Narcotics Committee today urged a full investigation before considering a pardon for Ben Johnson, who claims he was framed in a 1954 narcotics conviction.

The State Pardon Board yesterday took under advisement the request from Johnson, termed "the vice king of south Louisiana" by former state police Supt. Francis Grevenberg. He is serving a 10-year term in the state penitentiary and as a narcotics violator is not eligible for parole.

Rep. Richard Bertrand of Lafayette said, "I don't think the State Pardon Board is in a position after hearing only one side in a hearing that lasted about 20 minutes to determine the man was improperly convicted or not."

Slated To Meet

Bertrand's committee is slated to meet some time before Christmas, he said.

At its last meeting in September, the joint committee voted to seek the death penalty for sale of narcotics to youths under 21. If the jury's verdict did not specify death, then the legislation would set a mandatory 30 to 90 year jail term.

The committee has been assembling information from district attorneys over the state for several months.

"Some district attorneys are not providing the information we want," Bertrand said. "They are sending us records of convictions, but not giving the sentences imposed."

Bertrand, an administration leader, has been a strong opponent of clemency for narcotics offenders.

Since taking office in May, 1956, Gov. Earl Long has granted pardons restoring citizenship to less than a half dozen narcotics violators.

The pardon board heard testimony that Ford (Bobby) Dees, a witness in the case, had admitted Morgan said.

Unemployment In U.S. Mushrooms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—The number of jobless Americans jumped to 3,200,000 last month, an increase of 700,000 over October and the highest November figure since the 1949 recession, the government reported today.

The commerce and labor departments said in a joint report that total civilian employment fell to 64,900,000 in November.

The report attributed most of the employment drop to a decrease in farm work. It said that unusually bad weather added to the normal seasonal autumn decline in agricultural employment.

Meantime, the number of factory workers fell to a total of 16,600,000, a decrease of 230,000 from October and about 625,000 below the level of November, 1955. The report said the decrease from October was sharper than usual.

Work Week Declines

It said the average work week of factory workers declined by 18 minutes in November to 39.2 hours. This also was the lowest November level since 1949 when the national economy experienced a turnaround just prior to the Korean war.

But the report said average weekly factory earnings declined only slightly to $82.32. Average hourly earnings rose by one cent to $2.10, almost offsetting the shorter average work week.

The departments set the jobless rate at 5.1 per cent in November, compared with 4.6 per cent in October.

The department conceded that the unemployment total was held down by the fact that a majority of the one million workers who left farm jobs during the month withdrew completely from the labor force instead of looking for other employment.

Count Lookers Only

The government regards as unemployed only those jobless persons who actually are looking for work.

Some labor experts have predicted that as many as five million Americans may be jobless early next year. In this connection, AFL-CIO President George Meany said recently that every barometer pointed to a downturn in the general economy, with declines imminent in sales, consumer income, non-farm employment and plant expansion.

As a remedy, he proposed that unions seek wage increases next year to bolster consumer income and purchasing power.

The Labor-Commerce report attributed most of last month's unemployment rise to workers who lost non-farm jobs and to those who entered the labor market to seek Christmas jobs. Non-farm payrolls, which usually rise in November, fell instead by 300,000 to a total of 32,800,000.

Eastland Asks Legislation To Aid Businesses

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) today proposed emergency legislation to help small businessmen in southern states where floods have stopped the harvesting of farm crops.

He recommended an amendment to the small business law to permit federal loans to businessmen who supply farmers. The loans would cover debts businessmen are unable to collect from the hard-hit farmers.

The small business law now provides such loans may be made in disaster areas damaged by hurricanes or drought. Eastland's amendment would include excessive rain.

Eastland made his proposal in a letter to Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. He asked that the amendment be drafted and sent immediately to government agencies so their reports would be available when Congress meets early next month.

Eastland expressed fear there would be widespread bankruptcies along the Mississippi Valley without the legislation.

He is making a survey to determine the extent of damages and relief requirements in Mississippi. More than a thousand letters from his office were mailed today.

Miss. Legislator Sworn Into Office

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 11 (UP)—The Mississippi Legislature's newest member was sworn in today shortly before the lawmakers packed up and went home.

Philip Singley, 39-year-old Columbia lawyer, drove to Jackson after defeating former Marion County Sheriff J. C. Broom 1,330-1,064 in a runoff election yesterday for the seat vacated by Jerome Foxworth.

Foxworth resigned to become a rural mail carrier.

Singley, a tall, smiling figure in a light suit, was escorted to the House chamber by Speaker Walter Sillers of Bolivar County. Singley is president of the Marion County board of education and is a former county attorney, a post he held eight years. He also is a former acting postmaster of Columbia.

Singley, a Marion County native, also is a landowner. He and Mrs. Singley have five children.

600 Families Sign For Commodities

About 600 needy families are now registered by the Ouachita Welfare to receive surplus commodities from the federal government.

J. S. Worley, parish director, said distribution, which is handled by the parish police jury, will begin near the end of the month, with 1,200 families expected to be registered by that time.

Ex-Mayor Elected

COLUMBUS, Miss., Dec. 11 (UP)—William J. Propst, former mayor of Columbus, was elected president today of the Lowndes County Citizens Council, succeeding Louis Nabors, an auto dealer.

BEFORE PARDON

Solon Asks Full Study On Johnson

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 11 (UP)—The chairman of the Legislative Narcotics Committee today urged a full investigation before considering a pardon for Ben Johnson, who claims he was framed in a 1954 narcotics conviction.

The State Pardon Board yesterday took under advisement the request from Johnson, termed "the vice king of south Louisiana" by former state police Supt. Francis Grevenberg. He is serving a 10-year term in the state penitentiary and as a narcotics violator is not eligible for parole.

Rep. Richard Bertrand of Lafayette said, "I don't think the State Pardon Board is in a position after hearing only one side in a hearing that lasted about 20 minutes to determine the man was improperly convicted or not."

Slated To Meet

Bertrand's committee is slated to meet some time before Christmas, he said.

At its last meeting in September, the joint committee voted to seek the death penalty for sale of narcotics to youths under 21. If the jury's verdict did not specify death, then the legislation would set a mandatory 30 to 90 year jail term.

The committee has been assembling information from district attorneys over the state for several months.

"Some district attorneys are not providing the information we want," Bertrand said. "They are sending us records of convictions, but not giving the sentences imposed."

Bertrand, an administration leader, has been a strong opponent of clemency for narcotics offenders.

Since taking office in May, 1956, Gov. Earl Long has granted pardons restoring citizenship to less than a half dozen narcotics violators.

The pardon board heard testimony that Ford (Bobby) Dees, a witness in the case, had admitted planting the evidence against Johnson.

However, Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion read a letter from the late Dist. Judge Charles A. Holcombe which said Dees, now a patient in the criminal section of East Louisiana State Hospital refused to admit framing Johnson during a visit by the judge.

Gremlion, a member of the pardon board, prosecuted Johnson in 1954, when he was assistant district attorney in East Baton Rouge Parish.

"If I were on the pardon board," Bertrand said, "I would ask the governor to appoint an investigator. That's the only proper thing to do, especially since the trail judge is dead."

"If he was framed, he should be turned loose," Bertrand added. "If he is guilty, he should remain in prison."

Bertrand said it would be a simple matter for an investigator to travel to the mental hospital at Jackson to question Dees, if doctors said he was capable of giving valid testimony.

Suspect Arrested

DALLAS, Dec. 11 (UP)—A Negro teenager pulled a gun on Mrs. Ellis Stewart at the Stewart Grocery today and demanded her money. Mrs. Stewart refused and started to scream when the youth said he would shoot her. He fled and police arrested a suspect answering his description within minutes.

"Out For A Spin"

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 11 (UP)—Police held George G. Morgan, 31, of Algora, Tex., after he admitted driving a car from Victoria, Tex., to Buffalo without paying for it. "The salesman told me to take it out for a trial spin, but he didn't say how far to go," Morgan said.

WOMAN'S WORLD

A tree skirt and personalized stockings, individuality and sparkle to the festive Christmas setting.

INTERIOR DECORATING

Make A Merrier Noel With Sewing Machine

By BETTY LENAHAN

This year make a Merry Christmas with the sewing machine. Simple and fun to do, make a frothy white felt tree skirt and matching stockings to hang up for Santa — one for every member of the family.

The tree skirt is a colorful and practical needle catcher complete with candy canes and bright machine-stitched stars.

The matching white felt stockings are easily made with simple applique designs and decorative stitching which help identify the owner on Christmas morning. Dad's stocking, for example, boasts a bow tie of black felt with a satin-stitched "shirt collar" outline.

Mother's stocking is a dainty white carriage boot, detailed with a big snowman smiling awaiting to be claimed. The child's "stocking" can be made in various sizes, indicating which child is the owner.

Here are instructions for the tree skirt: 1 — Take a 36-inch square of white felt, fold in half and find center point, then mark. (Larger trees require 42- or 48-inch squares, following rest of directions.) 2 — Measure from center mark along fold to edge of fabric, swing a half circle on fabric. Mark and cut. 3 — Measure 2 inches from center point, swing arc, mark and cut. 4 — Cut on fold from edge to center point. Fold out flat. 5 — On separate piece of red felt, mark four candy canes, about 10 inches long. Draw diagonal lines 1 1/2 inches apart. Using a wide white satin stitch, follow these diagonal lines. Cut out canes. 6 — Pin canes on white felt, as pictured. Use narrow satin stitch around edge. Use straight stitching around edge for finished effect. 7 — Mark snowflakes by criss-crossing four lines. Use lacy stitching on lines, making snowflakes in dark green thread.

Here is how to make Christmas "stockings": For The Man: Use white felt. Cut in shape of sock 14 inches long, 10 inches wide for the foot and 8 inches wide at top. For the simulated shirt collar at stocking top, stitch in black satin stitch. Then cut bow shape of red felt. Stitch in center to form knot and leave ends free. Use gray felt for pipe shape and applique near the bottom. Add back half of sock using a satin stitch around the edge.

For The Lady: Cut white felt in shape of carriage boot. It should be 14 inches long, and 10 inches wide at foot, curve front and top. Mark "snowflakes" by crossing four lines in center, then stitch with decorative stitches. Scatter rhinestones between flaps. Use plain cotton basting along edge of boot to simulate fur. Attach back of boot with a small zigzag or satin stitch.

For The Child: Make a small boot shape in white felt inches long 6 1/2 inches wide at foot, and 6 inches wide at top. Red felt snowman is applied to front half with a satin stitch. Graduated satin stitch makes eyes, nose, mouth and buttons. Small satin stitch in black outlines hair, brim and scarf. Add back half of boot, using a narrow satin stitch.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Asks What To Do About Chain Smoking Husband

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: What can I do with a husband who is a chain smoker and continually burns holes in the bedroom floor?

He's always falling asleep with a lit cigarette in his hand. Although I've put a large metal ash-tray by his bed, the cigarette always seems to land on the floor. Fortunately, the floors are fire-proof. He tells me not to worry, but I'm a wreck all the same.

I have frequent nightmares about the house burning down and the kids and myself fleeing for our lives. It's interfering with my health because I can't get a decent night's sleep.

If you can help me with this problem, I'll never be able to thank you enough. No — Sleep-Sal.

Tell your husband to cut it out or the ashes on the floor may be his own. You can fire-proof people. If his pajamas or the bedclothes ever caught on fire, he wouldn't have a chance.

It's selfish and inconsiderate of your husband to put you through the torture of nightmares just because he likes to smoke in bed. If he has any respect for your mental health he'll promise to smoke his last cigarette of the day before he turns out the light.

Suggested bedtime reading literature for this chimney is the material put out by the insurance companies telling about the number of people who went to sleep with a cigarette and woke up playing a harp in St. Peter's orchestra.

Dear Ann: I have a problem that may not sound serious to you, but it's making a nervous wreck out of me.

I'm a girl 18 and have been going with a swell fellow for several months. At first everything was fine and we got along well together. Then, when we became better acquainted (romantically speaking) I began to be terribly afraid of him whenever he came near me. I don't know why.

He sensed something was wrong and accused me of not caring for him. I want to make it plain that he did not try to get out of line. He was perfectly willing to settle for kisses and this is the God's truth.

After several weeks of becoming petrified when he wanted to kiss me goodnight he announced he was going to date other girls. I'm sure he still loves me, but he has been dating others and I'm really in love with him and want him back. I have a terrible fear that I may lose not only him, but the next fellow that I might get interested in. Can you tell me, Ann, why am I afraid of this perfectly fine boy? — Nervous.

You aren't afraid of him — you're afraid of yourself.

The guilt feelings that you've been nurturing since childhood are crippling you, emotionally. See a doctor.

If you can't get straightened around in time to get this fellow back, you may at least be able to cope with your next romance in a healthy, normal fashion.

Dear Ann: Please help me with a serious problem. I'm a girl 15 and our home is sort of the headquarters for our crowd. We have a large rec room in the basement and the kids like to come over because there's always something to do.

Most of my friends are well behaved, but two fellows who have been hanging around a lot lately have created a problem for everybody. They are piggy about food.

Last Sunday they helped themselves to a casserole that Mom had prepared for dinner. Mom got mad and said I couldn't have any more kids over because my friends are "wild and unmannerly" and don't know how to conduct themselves in a nice home. I am heart sick. Please tell me what to do. She means business. — Bonnie.

Your Mom has a point. When the gang meets at your home, you are the hostess. If they don't behave properly, it's your place to lay down the law. The pigs should be told they are not welcome in the future, and be sure to explain why.

Wait for a couple of weeks until things simmer down, then ask your Mom for permission to have a few friends over by special invitation. Since teenagers are always hungry, a few sacks of pretzels or chips round will stave off starvation and keep them out of the lobster Newburg!

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

The bidding: South, 1 club; West, pass; North, 1 heart; East, 1 spade. South, 1 no trump; West, pass; North, 3 no trump; East, pass. South, pass; West, pass. Opening lead: Nine of spades. Declarer had two chances to find the ninth trick in his three no trump contract today. Through improper timing he was able to avail himself of only one of these, and the outcome was a one trick set.

West opened the nine of spades and South took East's queen with the ace. A rapid inventory disclosed that South had five tricks available in spades and diamonds and that the other two suits would therefore have to yield four.

Observing that a successful club finesse would put him over, declarer forthwith led the queen of clubs and permitted it to ride. East won with the king, and declarer had had his day. The spade suit was promptly established, and South could run only eight tricks without surrendering to the ace of hearts.

North promptly took the floor to announce that South should have avoided the club finesse and gone after the hearts, because East's bid of one spade seemed to place him with the king of clubs. South contended that was not necessarily so, for an overall at the level of one might readily have been made on six spades to the king - queen - ten and the ace of hearts or perhaps the ace-queen.

But the charge against declarer was justified. Proper play after winning the opening lead was the jack of hearts in the hope that West held the queen. If that play succeeds, declarer will have three heart tricks and the ace of clubs to bring his total to nine. If the jack of hearts loses to the queen, then South must fall back on the hope that West has the king of clubs.

In other words, the club suit could wait, because if the king was "right" the contract was safe, but the heart suit could not wait. It had to be developed at once.

WHY GROW OLD?

Does Hair Return After Electrolysis Treatment?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This is the last of a series of articles I have published this week about superfluous hair. There are so many conflicting statements concerning it that I felt it would be helpful to offer authoritative information. With this in mind, I had a long talk with Mr. Garo Artinian, Director of the Kree Institute in New York.

I receive a great many letters from women saying that they had electrolysis treatments but the hair grew back again, others want to know if this can happen. I took this question to Mr. Artinian who is not only an expert in his field but an extremely ethical one.

He said, "In ordinary circumstances the hair cannot grow back because the papilla which nourished it is destroyed. However, women must understand that if the hair has been tampered with, as in tweezing, it may be distorted beneath the skin surface. In such instances five to 15 hairs out of a hundred may return."

Straight from Tip to Root

A hair is usually straight from its tip to its root, where it reaches the papilla. Sometimes tweezing causes the hair to curve under the skin as it approaches the papilla. Fortunately the first electrolysis treatment tends to straighten this so that the operator can reach the papilla on the second attempt. Anyway, the percentage of hair which will grow out again is extremely small.

Many times women sincerely believe that the hair which was removed by electrolysis has grown back because entirely new hairs sprout or because in tweezing them before the treatment they had broken the hair off at the surface of the skin. This often happens.

Superfluous hair is due to hormonal activity and to the endocrine glands. The glandular setup changes at middle life and new hair patterns may appear.

Shaving and cosmetic wax are essentially the same because they remove only that part of the hair that the surface of the skin. Naturally when hair is removed by shavir or a depilatory the process must be repeated more frequently.

I asked Mr. Artinian if creams of any sort can stimulate the growth of hair. He replied, "Creams can never increase the production of hair because hair gets its nourishment from the blood stream only. It is possible that the massage which goes along with the cream may have some influence. Any form of outside stimulation may have this effect if the woman has a TENDENCY in this direction."

He then gave me one example of this. A woman he knew had taken a long motorcycle trip and had acquired a whole crop of new, superfluous hair because of the stimulation of the wind on the hair.

The Central Home Demonstration Club met to head a talk on child development, in the Delhi home of Mrs. J. M. Sledge who served as hostess for the occasion. The Extension Service agent, Mrs. Hodgkins, gave a thought-provoking lecture on "Child Development Through Recreation," which was of great interest and concern to her listeners.

During the business hour, plans were formulated for the December meeting and Christmas party to be held on Dec. 10, in the home of Mrs. L. M. McIntyre. Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Marion McIntyre, Miss Annie Montgomery, Mrs. L. M. McIntyre and those already mentioned. Among the guests was Mrs. Hodgkins.

In contrast was the performance by Mrs. J. R. McKinley of a piano composition keyed to the twentieth century. Mrs. McKinley played "Polka" by the contemporary Russian composer, Alexander Tscherepnin.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Miss Emy Lou Biedenbarn, Mrs. James G. Caldwell, Mrs. W. M. Harper, Mrs. James Harris, Mrs. H. H. ### Make A Merrier Noel With Sewing Machine

By BETTY LENAHAN

This year, make a Merry Christmas with the sewing machine. Simple and fun to do, make a frosty white felt tree skirt and matching stockings to hang up for Santa — one for every member of the family.

The tree skirt is a colorful and practical needle catcher complete with candy canes and bright machine-stitched stars.

The matching white felt stockings are easily made with simple applique designs and decorative stitching which help identify the owner on Christmas morning. Dad's stocking, for example, boasts a bow tie of black felt with a satin-stitched "shirt collar" outline.

Mother's stocking is a dainty, white carriage boot, detailed with a big snowman smiling awaiting to be claimed. The child's "stocking" can be made in various sizes, indicating which child is the owner.

Here are instructions for the tree skirt: 1 — Take a 36-inch square of white felt, fold in half and find center point, then mark.

Larger trees require 42- or 45-inch squares, following rest of directions. 2 — Measure from center mark along fold to edge of fabric, swing a half circle on fabric. Mark and cut. 3 — Measure 2-inches from center point, swing arc, mark and cut. 4 — Cut on fold from edge to center point.

Fold out flat. 5 — On separate piece of red felt, mark four candy canes, about 10 inches long.

Draw diagonal lines 1½ inches apart. Using a wide white satin stitch, follow these diagonal lines. Cut out canes. 6 — Pin canes on white felt, as pictured. Straighten stitch around edge. Use narrow satin stitch around this edge for finished effect. 7 — Mark snowflakes by criss-crossing four lines. Use lacy stitching on lines, making snowflakes in dark green thread.

Here is how to make Christmas "stockings": For The Man: Use white felt. Cut in shape of a sock 14 inches long, 10 inches wide for the foot and 8-inches wide at top. For the simulated shirt collar at stocking top, stitch in black satin stitch. Then cut bow shape of red felt. Stitch in center to form knot and leave ends free. Use gray felt for pipe shape and applique near the bottom. Add back half of sock using a satin stitch around the edge.

For The Lady: Cut white felt in shape of carriage boot. It should be 14 inches long, and 10 inches wide at foot, curve front and top. Mark "snowflakes" by crossing four lines in center, then stitch with decorative stitches. Scatter rhinestones between flares. Use plain cotton basting along edge of boot to simulate fur. Attach back of boot with a small zigzag or satin stitch.

For The Child: Make a small boot shape in white felt 9 inches long 6½ inches wide at foot, and 6-inches wide at top. Red felt snowman is applied to front half with a satin stitch. Graduated satin stitch makes eyes, nose, mouth and buttons. Small satin stitch in black outlines hat, trim and scarf. Add back half of boot, using a narrow satin stitch.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Asks What To Do About Chain Smoking Husband

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: What can I do with a husband who is a chain-smoker and continually burns holes in the bedroom floor?

He's always falling asleep with a lighted cigarette in his hand. Although I've put a large metal ash-tray by his bed, the cigarette always seems to land on the floor. Fortunately, the floors are fire-proof. He tells me not to worry, but I'm a wreck all the same.

I have frequent nightmares about the house burning down and the kids and myself fleeing for our lives. It's interfering with my health because I can't get a decent night's sleep.

If you can help me with this problem, I'll never be able to thank you enough. No - Sleep Sal.

Tell your husband to cut it out or the ashes on the floor may be his own. You can fire-proof a building, but you can't fire-proof people. If he pajamas or the bedclothes ever caught on fire, he wouldn't have a chance.

It's selfish and inconsiderate of your husband to put you through the torture of nightmares just because he likes to smoke in bed. If he has any respect for your mental health he'll promise to smoke his last cigarette of the day before he turns out the light.

Suggested bedtime reading literature for this chimney is the material put out by the insurance companies telling about the number of people who went to sleep with a cigarette and woke up playing a harp in St. Peter's orchestra.

Dear Ann: I have a problem that may not sound serious to you, but it's making a nervous wreck out of me.

I'm a girl 18 and have been going with a swell fellow for several months. At first everything was fine and we got along well together. Then, when we became better acquainted (romantically speaking) it began to be terribly afraid of him whenever he came near me. I don't know why.

He sensed something was wrong and accused me of not caring for him. I want to make it plain that he did not try to get out of line. He was perfectly willing to settle for kisses and this is the God's truth.

After several weeks of becoming petrified when he wanted to kiss me goodnight he announced he was going to date other girls. I'm sure he still loves me, but he has been dating others. I'm really in love with him and want him back. I have a terrible fear that I may lose not only him, but the next fellow that I might get interested in. Can you tell me, Ann, why am I afraid of this perfectly fine boy? — Nervous.

You aren't afraid of him — you're afraid of yourself. The guilt feelings that you've been nurturing since childhood are crippling you, emotionally. See a doctor.

If you can't get straightened around in time to get this fellow back, you may at least be able to

Choudrant OES Elects New Officials

The Order of the Eastern Star members of Choudrant held the election for new officers on Tuesday, following their regular business meeting.

Chosen to head the Chapter for the ensuing year was Mrs. Bessie Fletcher as Worthy Matron, her Worthy Patron will be Jimmie Whitman. Mrs. Ocie Taylor will be the Associate Matron and will serve with Allen O'Neal, as Associate Patron.

Mrs. Geraldine Kirby will officiate as Conductress, with Mrs. Hull Baker as her Associate. The secretary will be Mrs. Virginia Kelly, and the treasurer will be Troy Lowe. To serve as Chaplain is Mrs. Tiny Parnell, Mrs. Winona Walker as Marshall, Mrs. Johnnie O'Neal as Warder, and Leonard Faulkner will be the Sentinel.

Star Points will be as follows: Adah - Mrs. Alverne Whitman; Ruth - Mrs. Lois Britt; Ester - Mrs. Sarah Vining; Martha - Mrs. Irene Barr; and Electra - Mrs. Joy Faulkner.

cope with your next romance in a healthy, normal fashion.

Dear Ann: Please help me with a serious problem. I'm a girl 15 and our home is sort of the headquarters for our crowd. We have a large rec room in the basement and the kids like to come over because there's always something to do.

Most of my friends are well behaved, but two fellows who have been hanging around a lot lately have created a problem for everybody. They are piggy about food.

Last Sunday they helped themselves to a casserole that Mom had prepared for dinner. Mom got mad and said I couldn't have any more kids over because my friends are "wild and unmannerly" and don't know how to conduct themselves in a nice home. I am heart sick. Please tell me what to do. She means business. — Bonnie.

Your Mom has a point. When the gang meets at your home, you are the hostess. If they don't behave properly, it's your place to lay down the law. The pigs should be told they are not welcome in the future, and be sure to explain why.

Wait for a couple of weeks until things simmer down, then ask your Mom for permission to have a few friends over by special invitation. Since teenagers are always hungry, a few sacks of pretzels or chips round will save off starvation and keep them out of the lobster Newburg!

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

GOREN ON BRIDGE

East - West vulnerable. South deals.

NORTH		EAST

♦ 9 2	♣ K Q 10	♦ 8 7 6	♣ A J 3
♠ 9 8 4	♥ 8 7	♠ 10 7 5 3	♥ K 2
♦ 8 7 5	♣ K J 6 3

The bidding:

South, 1 club; West, pass; North, 1 heart; East, 1 spade. South, 1 no trump; West, pass; North, 3 no trump; East, pass. South, pass; West, pass.

Opening lead: Nine of spades. Declarer had two chances to find the ninth trick in his three no trump contract today. Through improper timing he was able to avail himself of only one of these, and the outcome was a one trick set.

West opened the nine of spades and South took East's queen with the ace. A rapid inventory disclosed that South had five tricks available in spades and diamonds and that the other two suits would therefore have to yield four.

Observing that a successful club finesse would put him over, declarer forthwith led the queen of clubs and permitted it to ride. East won with the king, and declarer had had his day. The spade suit was promptly established, and South could run only eight tricks without surrendering to the ace of hearts.

North promptly took the floor to announce that South should have avoided the club finesse and gone after the hearts, because East's bid of one spade seemed to place him with the king of clubs. South contended that was not necessarily so, for an overcall at the level of one might readily have been made on six spades to the king - queen - ten and the ace of hearts or perhaps the ace-queen.

But the charge against declarer was justified. Proper play after winning the opening lead was the jack of hearts in the hope that West held the queen. If that play succeeds, declarer will have three heart tricks and the ace of clubs to bring his total to nine. If the jack of hearts loses to the queen, then South must fall back on the hope that West has the king of clubs.

In other words, the club suit could wait, because if the king was "right" the contract was safe, but the heart suit could not wait. It had to be developed at once.

TEXAS PARTIES . . . are marvelous, and Miss Bonny Lou Pettit went to Panhandle, to be the guest of Mrs. C. W. Herndon and Faye Herndon when they introduced the engaged Miss to their Texas friends at a morning Coffee. A houseparty of ten joined the seventy five guests over the steaming cups.

STARTING EARLY . . . to fly is ten-year-old Jeff Stein of Great Neck, New York. He will buzz in on the 20th, to visit Jerry Album during the Christmas Holidays. The lads, who were camp companions last summer, will be at Jerry's home with his parents. Jeff's parents are vacationing in Rio.

ARRIVED YESTERDAY . . . and William Thomas Stevenson will spend four days of a pre-holiday vacation with his parents, Mrs. W. C. Stevenson at their home on North Third Street.

THE GARDENERS . . . will be pleased to learn that Dr. and Mrs. Scott Hamilton have as their houseguests, Dr. and Mrs. George A. Spader of Morrisville, New York. Dr. Spader is the Executive Secretary of the Mens Garden Clubs of America. The hosts and guests will join Mr. and Mrs. Dick Davis on a visit to Mrs. Emy Lou Beidenharn.

A NEW IDEA . . . in a guest register was advanced this week when Paul Peridot asked his wife's coffee guests to sign their names—in India ink—on a new nylon hunting coat. Makes a conversation piece at the shooting lodge, says Paul.

WHY GROW OLD?

Does Hair Return After Electrolysis Treatment?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This is the last of a series of articles I have published this week about superfluous hair. There are so many conflicting statements concerning it that I felt it would be helpful to offer authoritative information. With this in mind, I had a long talk with Mr. Garo Artinian, Director of the Kree Institute in New York.

I receive a great many letters from women saying that they had electrolysis treatments but the hair grew back again, others want to know if this can happen. I took this question to Mr. Artinian who is not only an expert in his field but an extremely ethical one.

He said, "In ordinary circumstances the hair cannot grow back because the papilla which nourishes it is destroyed. However, women must understand that if the hair has been tampered with, as in tweezing, it may be distorted beneath the skin surface. In such instances five to 15 hairs out of a hundred may return."

Straight from Tip to Root. A hair is usually straight from its tip to its root, where it reaches the papilla. Sometimes tweezing causes the hair to curve under the skin as it approaches the papilla. Fortunately the first electrolysis treatment tends to straighten this so that the operator can reach the papilla on the second attempt. Anyway, the percentage of hair which will grow out again is extremely small.

Many times women sincerely believe that the hair which was removed by electrolysis has grown back because entirely new hairs sprout or because in tweezing them before the treatment they had broken the hair off at the surface of the skin. This often happens.

Superfluous hair is due to hormonal

redity and to the endocrine glands. The glandular setup changes at middle life and new hair patterns may appear.

Shaving and cosmetic wax are essentially the same because they remove only that part of the hair above the surface of the skin. Naturally when hair is removed by shavir or a depilatory the process must be repeated more frequently.

I asked Mr. Artinian if creams of any sort can stimulate the growth of hair. He replied, "Creams can never increase the production of hair because hair gets its nourishment from the blood stream only. It is possible that the massage which goes along with the cream may have some influence. Any form of outside stimulation may have this effect if the woman has a TENDENCY in this direction."

He then gave me one example of this. A woman he knew had taken a long motorcycle trip and had acquired a whole crop of new, superfluous hair because of the stimulation of the wind on the hair.

David Golson Is Feted At Party

The Golson home at Oak Grove had a circus air Saturday when Mrs. Jack Golson entertained for her son, David, on the occasion of his fourth birthday.

Brightly colored balloons, candles, and a "merry-go-round" cake added to the celebration. Favors for the youngsters were circus coloring books which they received after the games.

In to enjoy the day with David were Jeff Colvin, Mack McCormick, Bobby Ferris, "Tish" Crowe, Jacqueline Ferris, Lynn Weaver, Bain Fiske, Ricky Jones and Phillip McIntosh.

Mrs. J. M. Sledge Is Hostess For Central HD Club

The Central Home Demonstration Club met to head a talk on child development, in the Delhi home of Mrs. J. M. Sledge who served as hostess for the occasion.

The Extension Service agent, Mrs. Hodgkins, gave a thought-provoking lecture on "Child Development Through Recreation," which was of great interest and concern to her listeners.

During the business hour, plans were formulated for the December meeting and Christmas party to be held on Dec. 10, in the home of Mrs. L. M. McIntyre.

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Marion McIntyre, Miss Annie Montgomery, Mrs. L. M. McIntyre and those already mentioned. Among the guests was Mrs. Hodgkins.

Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr. discussed the French chanson of the early period with its Italian counterpart, the canzona francese, and the lute dances then popular in much of Europe. To illustrate these early musical forms Mrs. Trousdale played recordings of Crequillon's "Chanson," Gabrieli's "Canzona francese," and a German lute dance.

In contrast was the performance by Mrs. J. R. McKinley of a piano composition keyed to the twentieth century. Mrs. McKinley played "Polka" by the contemporary Russian composer, Alexander Tscherepnin.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Miss Emy - Lou Biedenbarn, Mrs. James G. Caldwell, Mrs. W. M. Harper, Mrs. James Harris, Mrs. H. H. Land, Mrs. Elmer Marshall, Mrs. Hugh Gibson McDonald, Mrs. J. R. McKinley, Mrs. James Murphy, Mrs. Estelle Sanders, Miss Gertrude Sandrock, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr., Mrs. Henry Whitfield, Mrs. Everett Zeagler and the hostess, Mrs. Guthrie.

Pre-Nuptial Parties Are Given For Miss Pettit

Many delightful parties are being given for Miss Bonny Pettit, fiancée of Joe Herndon. Among them was the chit-chat hour in the home of Mrs. Randall Preston McKay on K. Street.

The hostess, Mrs. McKay, attired in a stunning pink faille frock, received with the honoree who wore a black and white sheath.

Beautifully designed arrangements in blue, white and silver were used throughout the reception area. The lace-covered refreshment table was centered with a bride's miniature bouquet, sided by silver candelabra containing blue tapers. Mrs. Earl Pettit provided at the silver punch service.

Miss Pettit, who has been in Dallas, Texas, for the past two years was delighted to receive greetings and good wishes from the many Monroe friends calling. Among whom were Mrs. Max Dill, Mrs. Robert Branch, Mrs. Edward Horne, Mrs. Fred Bill, Mrs. Patsy Wilson, Miss Pat Young also entertained for Miss Pettit in the Shepherd home on Mallard Drive where Mrs. G. L. Shepard and Mrs. John Young were co-hostesses for the occasion.

White chrysanthemums and slim white tapers were used for the decor in the bride's table where a host of friends partook of the refreshments.

Tea Shower

Mrs. Calvin Dorris, with Mrs. Henry Blazer also complimented the popular young bride-elect with a tea shower in the Dorris home. The dining table, overlaid with white lace, held an arrangement of white mums and diamond wedding bells. Dainty finger foods were served by the hostesses Mrs. Earl Pettit, and to the Mesdames Benton Moore, Bennie Brakeloff, George King, Aldina West, Fred Riser, Melvin Riser, Billy Sanders, M. E. Gross, Bill Dorris, Louis Comrat, Billy Smith, Fred Barrett, and the Mesdames Josephine Comrat, Josephine Anzalone and Nadine Barrett.

Tea At Ruston Held For Diocesan Council Meet

St. Thomas Aquinas Parish Council, of Ruston, was hostess Sunday afternoon to a Monroe Diocesan meeting of the Alexandria Diocesan Council of Catholic Women. Rev. Donard Paulus, O.F.M., pastor, opened the meeting with a prayer to Our Lady of Good Counsel, patroness, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. He welcomed the representatives from Monroe, West Monroe, Rayville, Bastrop, Delhi, Hodges and Farmerville, and Miss Marguerite Coenen of Rayville responded to the welcome.

Mrs. D. M. Moore, Deane president, introduced the Deane officers and parish council presidents. Reports on the activities of the parishes were given by the following council presidents: Mrs. J. B. Filhol, Sr., St. Matthew's; Mrs. Robert Semmes, Jr., for Mrs. Laura Slater of St. Joseph's; Miss Metrea Scalia, Catholic Daughters of America; Mrs. Stanley Haner, Our Lady of Fatima; Mrs. Frank Redfern for Mrs. E. E. White of St. Pascual's; Mrs. Hal Cockrell, St. Joseph's; Bastrop: Miss Marguerite Coenen, Sacred Heart, Rayville and Delhi; Mrs. Leo Gerow, St. Thomas Aquinas, Ruston; and Mrs. C. Harold Allen of St. Henry's at Hodges.

The President's Message, "National Council of Catholic Women Structure," a slide commentary and oral explanation, was given by Mrs. D. M. Moore.

Rev. John Wakeman, St. Matthew's Church, Monroe, spoke of the liturgy of the church and the part that Catholic women play in

The Deane Chairmen gave their reports as follows: In the absence of Mrs. W. B. Anderson, Miss Marguerite Coenen gave the report of the Organization and Development Committee; Mrs. Mildred DeBlieux of the Spiritual Committee stressed indoor and outdoor Nativity scenes for the Christmas season to bring Christ back into Christmas; Mrs. Semmes read the report of M. S. Henry C. Norris of the Confraternity committee; Mrs. Mildred Rose, Youth; Mrs. Burl Hollis, Study Group; Mrs. A. V. Breard, Catholic Charities, asked that all organizations cooperate with the "Feed a Family" and "China Doll" projects; Ways and Means, Mrs. Connie Petrus; Historian, Mrs. Cecile Marzoula; Mrs. Richards of Ruston gave an explanation of "Monthly Message" and how it can be utilized on the local level.

Members of the clergy introduced were Rev. John Wakeman, St. Matthew's, Monroe; Rev. George Martinez, Our Lady of Fatima, Monroe; Rev. Bernard McGuire, St. Henry's Hodges; Rev. Finian, O.F.M., West Monroe; and Rev. Donard Paulus, O.F.M., Ruston.

Deane officers are Mrs. D. M. Moore, president; Mrs. Laura Slater, first vice president; Miss Marguerite Coenen, Rayville, second vice president; Mrs. Leo Gerow, Ruston, third vice president; Mrs. L. M. Brinson, recording secretary; Miss Magdalen Amman, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. R. W. Fowlkes, treasurer.

Tea was served following the business meeting. Centering the tea table was a silver centerpiece containing a lovely arrangement of red carnations and fern. Assisting the general chairman, Mrs. LeMoine Bleick, were Mesdames Del Barbaux, L. P. McLane, Leo Gerow, and Misses Rose Marie Gerow and Mary Jane Riley, pages.

The Hodge WSCS Holds Supper

The reception rooms of the Hodge Methodist Church were festively decorated in the Christmas theme this week as the Women's Society for Christian Service held a seated supper, prior to their Yule program and monthly meeting.

Mrs. Carl Etter was in charge of the program, the topic of which was "Ye Are My Witnesses." Mrs. A. E. McKeithen gave "Our Work from Korea," and Mrs. E. G. Knobloch gave our "Missionary from India."

The devotion was given by Mrs. A. E. Wickham and Mrs. T. Julian. Each member brought a gift to be sent to the Methodist Children's Home in Ruston, instead of exchanging gifts.

Attending, beside those already mentioned, were Mrs. G. A. Morgan, Mrs. Wesley Sentell, Mrs. John Dennis, Mrs. Nelson Michaud, Mrs. Tom Crozier, Mrs. Frank Stewart, Mrs. Walter Wade, Mrs. W. H. Buford and Mrs. Douglas McLean. A welcomed visitor was the Reverend G. A. Morgan.

Miss Dixie Brown Feted With Series Of Parties

A series of charmingly appointed parties have been given this week for Miss Dixie Brown, popular bride-elect of Elvis Stout. The Cypress Room of the Rendezvous was the setting on Saturday for a pretty seated luncheon hosted by Mrs. Earl Cox and Mrs. Roy C. Brooks.

A miniature Christmas tree centered the long, white-clothed table and the elegantly decorated table was set with tall candles and holiday foliage. The honoree chose to wear a Clan plaid in emerald green and royal blue, and her belt was jeweled in emeralds.

Seated with the hostesses and the honoree were Mrs. Harry Winter, Mrs. R. N. Seidenspinner, Miss Barbara Rogers, Miss Nell Rogers, Miss Ann Ray, Miss Patsy Davis and Mrs. Joe Jordan.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Some Fear Has Made 3 Yr. Old 'Mama Boy'

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It may be hard for a mother to accept that her child may cling to her, not because of any extraordinary affection, but because of anxiety. For some reason he does not feel secure in her affection, or she has threatened him with "going away" if he isn't a good boy, and so he is constantly at her heels, fearful that unless he stands guard over her, she will disappear.

That would seem to be the case with this 3-year-old who is, his mother says, a regular "Mama's boy." Mrs. A. writes, "I don't encourage him to be a Mama's boy. His father works late at night and his only chance to see him is for about an hour before he goes to bed. I always say nice things to him about his Dad and he is very good to him and spends a lot of time with him on the weekends.

old, unless he has been made anxious about this, I think you will know how to allay the anxiety, and make him feel so secure in your love and protection that he does not have to be on guard all of the time and suffer anxiety when you are out of sight.

Little Theatre Players To Stage Broadway Hit

The Little Theatre at Selman Field again responds to the resonant voices of the players as they run through their lines for "Hatful of Rain," one of the newest plays on Broadway.

The play, written by Michael Vincente Gazzo, is a modern problem drama and has been suggested as a possible Academy Award winner in the moving picture list of "bests." Anthony Franciosa starred in both the stage and Hollywood productions, with Shelley Winters as his feminine lead in New York, and Eva Marie Saint in the movie version.

Pre-Nuptial Parties Are Given For Miss Pettit

Many delightful parties are being given for Miss Bonny Pettit, fiancée of Joe Herndon. Among them was the chit-chat hour in the home of Mrs. Randall Preston McKay on K. Street.

The hostess, Mrs. McKay, attired in a stunning pink faille frock, received with the honoree who wore a black and white sheersweat sheath.

Beautifully designed arrangements in blue, white and silver were used throughout the reception area. The lace-covered refreshment table was centered with a bride's miniature bouquet, sided by silver candelabra containing blue tapers. Mrs. Earl Pettit presided at the silver punch service.

Miss Pettit, who has been in Dallas, Texas, for the past two years was delighted to receive greetings and good wishes from the many Monroe friends calling; among whom were Mrs. Max Dickinson, Mrs. Robert Branch, Mrs. Edward Horne, Mrs. Fred Billhorn and Miss Pat Young and Miss Patsy Wilson.

Miss Pat Young also entertained for Miss Pettit in the Shepard home on Mallard Drive where Mrs. G. L. Shepard and Mrs. John Young were co-hostesses for the occasion.

Tea At Ruston Held For Diocesan Council Meet

St. Thomas Aquinas Parish Council, of Ruston, was hostess Sunday afternoon to a Monroe Diocesan Council of Catholic Women. Rev. Donard Paulus, O.F.M., pastor, opened the meeting with a prayer to Our Lady of Good Counsel, patroness, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. He welcomed the representatives from Monroe, West Monroe, Rayville, Bastrop, Delhi, Hodges and Farmerville, and Miss Margaret Coenen of Rayville responded to the welcome.

Mrs. D. M. Moore, Deaneary president, introduced the Deaneary officers and parish council presidents. Reports on the activities of the parishes were given by the following council presidents: Mrs. J. B. Filholt, St. Matthew's; Mrs. Robert Semmes, Jr., for Mrs. Laura Slater of St. Joseph's; Miss Metta Scalia, Catholic Daughters of America; Mrs. Stanley Haner, Our Lady of Fatima; Mrs. Frank Redfern for Mrs. E. E. White of St. Paschal's; Mrs. Hal Cockrell, St. Joseph's; Bastrop; Miss Margaret Coenen, Sacred Heart, Rayville and Delhi; Mrs. Leo Gerow, St. Thomas Aquinas, Ruston; and Mrs. C. Harold Allen of St. Henry's at Hodges.

The President's Message, "National Council of Catholic Women Structure," a slide commentary and oral explanation, was given by Mrs. D. M. Moore.

Rev. John Wakeman, St. Matthew's Church, Monroe, spoke on the liturgy of the church and the part that Catholic women play in

Miss Dixie Brown Feted With Series Of Parties

A series of charmingly appointed parties have been given this week for Miss Dixie Brown, popular bride-elect of Elvis Stout, the Cypress Room of the Rendezvous was the setting on Saturday for a pretty seated luncheon hosted by Mrs. Earl Cox and Mrs. Roy C. Brooks.

A miniature Christmas tree centered the long, white-clad table and the elongated decor was carried out with tall candles and holiday foliage. The honoree chose to wear a Clan plaid in emerald green and royal blue, and her beret was jeweled in emeralds.

Seated with the hostesses and the honoree were Mrs. Harry Winter, Mrs. R. N. Seidenspinner, Miss Barbara Rogers, Miss Neil Rogers, Miss Ann Ray, Miss Patsy Davis and Mrs. Joe Jordan.

Tea Shower. The home of Mrs. A. T. Stout, at Bosco, was filled with friends of Miss Brown when the Logtown Home Demonstration Club entertained for her on Sunday with a Silver and white holiday decorations were carried out with snowy gladiolus, burning white tapers, silvered globes and foliage. The bride's table featured a centerpiece of the gladiolus combined with white and silver candles.

Mrs. H. V. Hanson, Mrs. E. M. Granberry Sr., and Mrs. Calder Stout alternated at the coffee and tea services, assisted by Miss Talma Stout and Miss Patricia Ann Stout who extended the courtesies.

The honoree wore a cardinal-red sheath and her gift corsage of white and silver, as she received with her hostesses.

Among those coming in were Mrs. D. R. Brown, Mrs. Gertrude Landrum, Mrs. Virginia Barnett, Mrs. H. V. Hanson, Mrs. D. F. Dennis, Mrs. Mattie R. Faust, Mrs. Marvin Shipp, Mrs. John Filholt, Mrs. E. M. Granberry, Sr., Mrs. Emmitt Lee, Mrs. Calder Stout, Mrs. Jack W. Brown, Mrs. I. H. Hamilton, Miss Doris Brown, Mrs. Claris Rae Landrum, Mrs. Joe L. Brown, and Mrs. Alma Stout.

Morning Coffee. Mrs. Lee Buatt with Miss Katherine Averett honored Miss Brown with a handsomely appointed Morning coffee on Saturday between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock.

The reception area was entirely decorated in poudre pink Camellias, creating a beautiful picture. The table was gay with silver candles, foliage and tiny Christmas lights.

Mrs. I. H. Hamilton, Mrs. Alpha McGee, Mrs. H. H. Walters, Mrs. Lary Louise Ellis, Mrs. Guy E. DuPriest Jr., and Mrs. R. N. Seidenspinner assisted the hostesses in the courtesies of the day.

YOUR BABY AND MINE Some Fear Has Made 3 Yr. Old 'Mama Boy'

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED
It may be hard for a mother to accept that her child may cling to her, not because of any extraordinary affection, but because of anxiety. For some reason he does not feel secure in her affection, or she has threatened him with "going away" if he isn't a good boy, and so he is constantly at her heels, fearful that unless he stands guard over her, she will disappear.

That would seem to be the case with this 3-year-old who is, his mother says, a regular "Mama's boy." Mrs. A. writes, "I don't encourage him to be a Mama's boy. His father works late at night and his only chance to see him is for about an hour before he goes to bed. I always say nice things to him about his Dad and he is very good to him and spends a lot of time with him on the weekends.

Always With Her

"But, no matter what, he wants me. Every room I go in he is right behind me, or in front of me when I talk over the phone. All I have to say is, 'I am going some place' and he cries, 'Don't leave me, don't go away.' He carries on something awful on the nights I go shopping and leave him with his father. He won't go sound asleep until I am home and when he takes milk or food it is always Mommy who must give it to him.

"He hasn't too many playmates, but the one he likes best he will go over to see by himself. But he has to call to make sure I am home. Most of the time I have to go over there and have coffee with the mother to assure him I am not going away. I can't imagine anything to frighten him and I never go any important place without him. I would appreciate you dropping me a line."

Answer

I would have been happy to but must use the column since you forgot an addressed and stamped envelope.

Something has made him fear that you will go away. What this is, one can only guess. Either he has heard you discuss the death of some mother, or a divorce of some mother, or you have thoughtlessly threatened him with going away, in order to discipline him.

Small children always are devoted to their mothers, but this fear that you will leave him, is not the natural behavior of a 3-year-old, unless he has been made anxious about this very thing.

With this clue, I think you will know how to allay the anxiety, and make him feel so secure in your love and protection that he does not have to be on guard all of the time and suffer anxiety when you are out of sight.

If you would like our leaflet, "Prayers and Graces of Many Religions," which is pertinent to the holiday season, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 88. Address Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

LOSL Drafts Legislation For Solons

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Louisiana Organization for State Legislation today heard progress reports on five of the group's major proposals for the 1958 Legislature.

Mrs. W. B. Myrick, Baton Rouge LOSL president, said the proposals include:

1. Uniform traffic laws.
2. Prohibition of fireworks sales throughout the state.
3. Granting mail absentee voting rights to citizens.
4. Labeling poisonous substances which might fall into the hands of children.
5. Requiring proof of age for marriage certificates.

The LOSL is drafting these proposals and seeking support in preparation for the next Legislature. The group represents 21 statewide organizations.

Lawrence Higgins, executive secretary of the Louisiana Youth Commission, told the LOSL of a report being developed for the Legislature dealing with recommendations for juvenile detention facilities.

"The report will show that more than 5,000 Louisiana children in 1956 were held in jails before trial anywhere from one night to four or five months, which is a violation of the law," Higgins said.

"There is an awakening interest in the problem," he continued. "While East Baton Rouge and Ouachita parishes at present are the only places with juvenile detention facilities, Caddo is building one and New Orleans plans a tax election next year for similar purposes."

Jefferson and Calcasieu are studying the feasibility of such juvenile detention centers," Higgins said.

A second major project, Higgins said, is a study of a year or 1½ years, starting in January, to determine the feasibility of establishing regional juvenile courts in Louisiana. Only Orleans and Caddo now have them, while East Baton Rouge has a family court.

San Antonio Told To Set Up Own Defenses

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 11 (UP)—The director of the Bexar county civil defense agency charged today that his group has received less than half the money allocated to it in the budget this year and suggested that the city of San Antonio take care of its own defense needs.

Civil Defense Director K. R. Spencer made public today a three-page single-spaced letter he wrote to City Manager Steve Matthews.

In the letter, he suggested that the City of San Antonio withdraw from the metropolitan civil defense group and operate on its own effective Dec. 31, 1957.

Spencer said that Civil Defense asked for $16,000 this year. The city passed an ordinance giving it $15,000 but Spencer claims he has received only $7,000.

Matthews has proposed that civil defense be handled through the local police department. He was not in the city today to comment on Spencer's letter.

Spencer's letter, dated Dec. 6, said the Civil Defense group "thinks it is regrettable that the original budget agreement has not been lived up to, that the Civil Defense facilities have knowingly been left sub-standard and that expected cooperation has been substituted by definite resistance to ward successful undersanding."

"I am sorry you are going to leave a mess of this kind on Lynn Andrews' hands because he does not deserve it," Spencer's letter said.

Andrews, the assistant city manager, will succeed Matthews as city manager within a few weeks.

Two Appointed To Texas Posts
AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel today appointed E. E. McAdams as chairman and L. H. Flewellen as member of the Texas Board of Control, the state's purchasing agency.

The two appointees will succeed J. M. Patterson, Jr., of Austin, who resigned, and Harold Beck, whose term has expired.

Daniel said he accepted Patterson's resignation with regret and appreciated his service as chairman of the board of control.

"I am happy, however, that in these two vacancies on the board it has been possible to attract men with the experience and ability of E. E. McAdams and Judge L. H. Flewellen. We are fortunate to have their services in the state government," Daniel said.

McAdams has served for 23 years as executive director of the League of Texas Municipalities, and previously was city manager of Bryan and Waco.

Flewellen served two terms as member of the House, and also served as a special district judge. He served three years as an assistant attorney general and nine years as a member of the Industrial Accident Board. He is a native of Bell county.

LOSL Drafts Legislation For Solons

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 11 (UP)—The Louisiana Organization for State Legislation today heard progress reports on five of the group's major proposals for the 1958 Legislature.

Mrs. W. B. Myrick, Baton Rouge LOSL president, said the proposals include:

1. Uniform traffic laws.
2. Prohibition of fireworks sales throughout the state.
3. Granting mail absentee voting rights to civilians.
4. Labeling poisonous substances which might fall into the hands of children.
5. Requiring proof of age for marriage certificates.

The LOSL is drafting these proposals and seeking support in preparation for the next Legislature. The group represents 21 statewide organizations.

Lawrence Higgins, executive secretary of the Louisiana Youth Commission, told the LOSL of a report being developed for the Legislature dealing with recommendations for juvenile detention facilities.

"The report will show that more than 5,000 Louisiana children in 1956 were held in jails before trial anywhere from one night to four or five months, which is a violation of the law," Higgins said.

"There is an awakening interest in the problem," he continued. "While East Baton Rouge and Ouachita parishes at present are the only places with juvenile detention facilities, Caddo is building one and New Orleans plans a tax election next year for similar purposes."

Jefferson and Calcasieu are studying the feasibility of such juvenile detention centers," Higgins said.

A second major project, Higgins said, is a study of a year or 1 1/2 years, starting in January, to determine the feasibility of establishing regional juvenile courts in Louisiana. Only Orleans and Caddo now have them, while East Baton Rouge has a family court.

San Antonio Told To Set Up Own Defenses

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 11 (UP)—The director of the Bexar county civil defense agency charged today that his group has received less than half the money allocated to it in the budget this year and suggested that the city of San Antonio take care of its own defense needs.

Civil Defense Director K. R. Spencer made public today a three-page single-spaced letter he wrote to City Manager Steve Matthews.

In the letter, he suggested that the City of San Antonio withdraw from the metropolitan civil defense council and operate on its own effective Dec. 31, 1957.

Spencer said that Civil Defense asked for $15,000 this year. The city passed an ordinance giving it $15,000 but Spencer claims he has received only $7,000.

Matthews has proposed that civil defense be handled through the local police department. He was not in the city today to comment on Spencer's letter.

Spencer's letter, dated Dec. 6, said the Civil Defense group "thinks it is regrettable that the original budget agreement has not been lived up to, that the Civil Defense facilities have knowingly been left sub-standard and that expected cooperation has been substituted by definite resistance toward successful undersanding."

"I am sorry you are going to leave a mess of this kind on Lynn Andrews' hands because he does not deserve it," Spencer's letter said.

Andrews, the assistant city manager, will succeed Matthews as city manager within a few weeks.

Two Appointed To Texas Posts
AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel today appointed E. E. McAdams as chairman and L. H. Flewellen as member of the Texas Board of Control, the state's purchasing agency.

The two appointees will succeed J. M. Patterson, Jr., of Austin, who resigned, and Harold Beck, whose term has expired.

Daniel said he accepted Patterson's resignation with regret and appreciated his service as chairman of the board of control.

"I am happy, however, that in these two vacancies on the board it has been possible to attract men with the experience and ability of E. E. McAdams and Judge L. H. Flewellen. We are fortunate to have their services in the state government," Daniel said.

McAdams has served for 23 years as executive director of the League of Texas Municipalities, and previously was city manager of Bryan and Waco.

Flewellen served two terms as a member of the House, and also served as a special district judge. He served three years as an assistant attorney general and nine years as a member of the Industrial Accident Board. He is a native of Bell county.

Attorney To Get Affidavit From Benson

DALLAS, Dec. 11 (UP)—Attorneys for an eastern Oklahoma farmer who claims the government can't keep him from growing wheat will go to Washington, D. C., to obtain a deposition from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, they said today.

Benson had advised U. S. District Attorney John Ford he was unable to come here to make the deposition in the government's $306.11 wheat penalty suit against J. Evetts Haley Jr.

U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson had asked Benson to give an oral deposition, unless prevented by official business, in the office of Haley's attorneys, William F. Billings and James P. Donovan, at 10 a. m. today.

The government filed suit against Haley on April 16 charging that he grew 43 acres of wheat on his Sequoyah county, Okla., ranch in 1956 when the ranch had no wheat acreage allotment.

Billings said a letter to U. S. Attorney John Ford stated that Benson would submit to deposition Dec. 20 in Washington.

Trust Company Suspended From Texas Operation

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (UP)—The First Trust Company of Houston has been temporarily restrained from doing further business in Texas as under an order from District Judge Jack Roberts.

The order was granted on the petition of Attorney General Will Wilson, who filed suit alleging the Houston firm is "hopelessly insolvent" and has a deficit of $381,634.

Roberts set hearing on temporary injunction for Dec. 19 and named Gibson R. Randle of Austin as receiver.

The suit, filed Tuesday alleged that a financial statement filed with the state banking department stating the company's condition as of Dec. 31, 1956 was "false and fraudulent and calculated to deceive and did deceive the state agencies charged with supervision of defendant corporation."

It also said the company is incurring an average monthly operating loss of $3,496, and incurring an impairment of capital of $791 a month.

President of the firm is W. W. (Jeff) Mayne, Houston, and Mrs. Maida Jennings of Houston is secretary.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Crossett Council Okays Fluoridation

CROSSETT (Special) — A special meeting Monday night of the Crossett City Council the group unanimously approved an ordinance designed to authorize fluoridation of the water, and possible adverse effects such treatment might have.

Meadows reported that in his committee's study, which has extended over a year, they have not received a single instance where damage of any sort has resulted from fluoridation of the water. On the other hand, prominent dentists and doctors over the country, as well as those in Crossett report that from one-half to two-thirds of tooth decay is prevented by introduction of fluoride to the water during pregnancy and early childhood, before the teeth of a child erupt.

Recommended Proportion

The recommended proportion is part of fluoride in one million parts of water. Fluoride is a natural substance appearing in all water and foods. However, a test of Crossett water shows "just a trace" in its natural state.

At present there are 24 cities in Arkansas which have artificially fluoridated water and over 1500 communities in the United States, including such cities as Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Washington, and Baltimore. Meadows stated that his committee preferred that in the event

Air Force Puts $5 Million In Housing Units

ALEXANDRIA, La., Dec. 11 (AP) — The Air Force is investing nearly five million dollars in a 300-unit housing project at England Air Force Base, but it figures that's a lot cheaper than losing trained men.

The cost of the housing project, soon to be completed, will be paid eventually by rentals, but the basic idea is to provide comfortable housing to persuade airmen to make a career of the Air Force.

The homes will be air conditioned with fully equipped modern kitchens and five-channel master television antennas.

Typical rental charges for the 180 units reserved for officers, a typical monthly rental would be $94.20.

The Air Force calculates training an airman costs $4,872, while a jet pilot sets Uncle Sam back $125,000 before he is combat-ready. They figure it cheaper to keep one man 20 years than train five four-year men.

Judging will be at 6:30 p.m. on December 20.

Fire Destroys Two Buildings At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11 (AP) — Fire today destroyed commercial buildings and a nearby home a few hundred yards from the site of a million-dollar oil refinery fire last week.

Damages were unofficially estimated at $100,000.

Firemen said a stove exploded in the commercial building and soon raged out of control in near-by St. Bernard Parish.

The loss included C. E. Collins Furniture Co.; Progressive Rentals, a heavy equipment firm; Sylite Inc., a plastics factory; and the home of Louis Blanchard, owner of both buildings.

The buildings were located a few hundred yards from Ingram Oil and Refining Co., where explosions and a petroleum fire last Wednesday and Thursday caused about one million dollars damage.

Holiday Affairs Planned At Tech

RUSTON (Special) — President and Mrs. R. L. Ropp of Louisiana Tech have scheduled three Christmas receptions at their home on the college campus. Open house for the Tech students and their parents will be held Sunday from 2-4 p.m. Members of the faculty and administrative staff will be guests Tuesday, Dec. 17, from 6-9 p.m. Ruston townpeople will be invited to the president's home Thursday, Dec. 19, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Dance Scheduled By Ferriday Club

FERRIDAY (Special) — David L. Crews, president of the Ferriday Teen Age Club, announced that the weekly meeting would be held at the High School on Friday. The program will be a Lucky 13th Dance.

Since its reorganization, the club has had a Sadie Hawkins night, Record Hop, and Boom Town Dance. All have been well attended.

He said that teen-agers from neighboring towns are welcomed. Small Entrance fee is charged for non-members. All rules of the club must be obeyed by both members and non-members, he said. Door prizes will be given. Party time is from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

NATO Group Studies Need For Missiles

PARIS, Dec. 11 (U) — NATO's Military Committee today tackled the question of missile needs—and presumably some members' reluctance to accept a new U.S. offer of intermediate-range weapons.

The two-day secret meeting is preliminary to the summit conference of NATO opening Monday. The United States will make its formal offer of intermediate-range ballistic missiles then.

Some NATO nations are reluctant to accept the missiles for fear they will invite Soviet retaliation. The Moscow propaganda machine is playing on these fears now.

In the past few days, Turkey and Belgium have formally announced acceptance of the year-old U.S. offer.

For some time, however, Italy, West Germany, Norway and Denmark have had missile crews under training at Ft. Sill, Okla., so their coming acceptance is a fair bet, U.S. sources said.

Denmark and Norway, on the northernmost flank of the NATO defense area, have made it clear they will not accept any offer of nuclear warheads for the missiles.

Washington's original offer covered only defensive missiles for use against aircraft, or tactical weapons for use against enemy troops within a 250-mile radius, but now is prepared to offer IRBMs that can deliver atomic devastation 1,500 miles away.

Secretary of State Dulles yesterday made it clear that missiles will not be forced on any country. But the idea remains a key point in the U.S. program to shore up the Atlantic Alliance in the face of Russian technological advances.

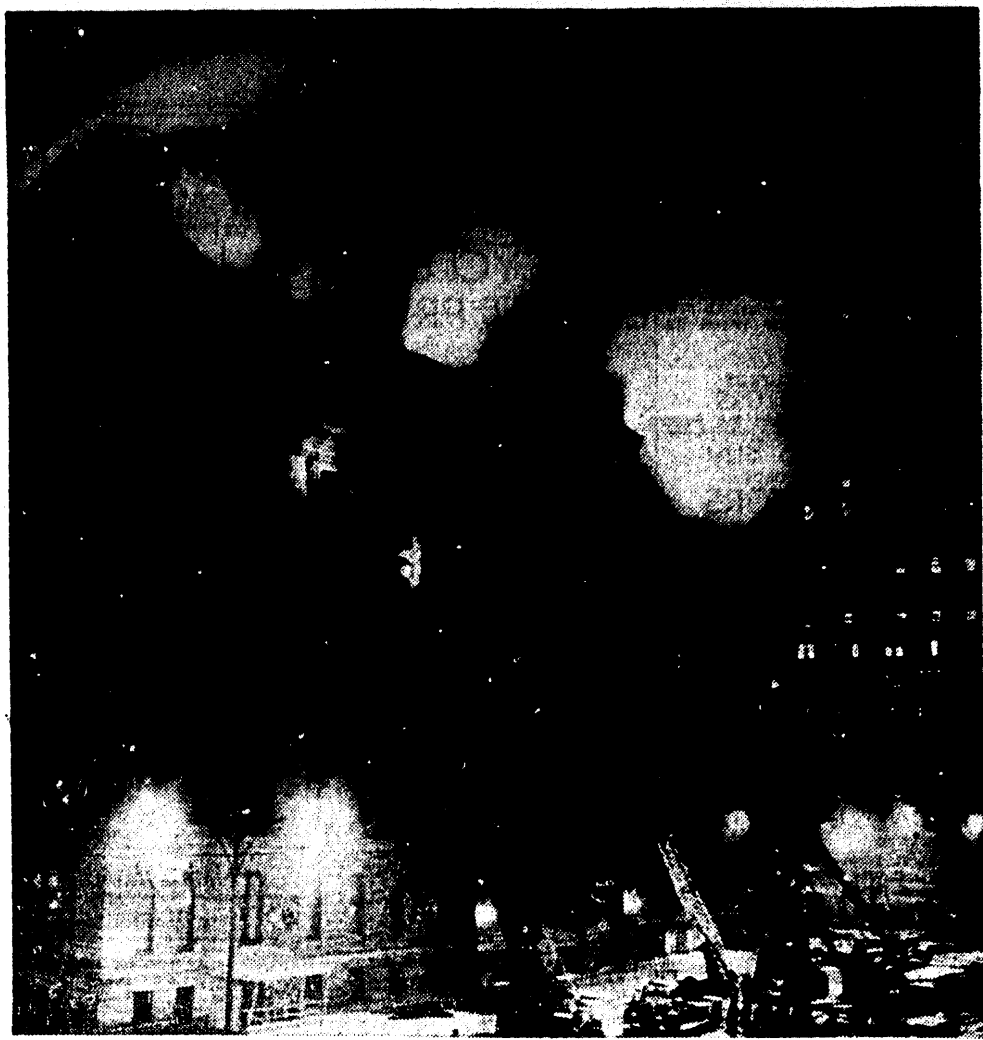

For the next few years, IRBM bases in Western Europe are needed to protect the United States itself. Agreement is near between London and Washington to set up four IRBM launching bases in Britain.

France is still debating whether to take either the short-range or intermediate-range missiles.

France has perfected its own short-range missiles, and announced successful testing of three high altitude rockets last month.

France is also believed to be forging ahead with its own nuclear weapons.

Moscow for months has been warning NATO nations against letting the United States set up missile bases on their soil. West Germany got a new warning yesterday.

'Watch Dog' Committee's Work Studied

RUSTON (Special) — School superintendents and representatives from 22 parishes met here yesterday to review a program of study set up by the Louisiana "watch dog" legislative committee on segregation.

It was the first of a series of meetings to be held before the 1958 state legislature meets to hear proposed laws for blocking integration in Louisiana.

The "watch dog" group, headed by Sen. W. M. Rainach of Homer, met with about 40 superintendents and representatives from the Fourth and Fifth Congressional Districts, and C. C. Graham of Natchitoches Parish in the Eighth Congressional District.

Eight members of Rainach's committee were present, including L. D. Napper of Lincoln Parish, and B. R. Patton of Union Parish.

A resolution was introduced by Van Odom, superintendent of Monroe City schools, and passed unanimously, recommending the committee for its active part in protecting the schools of Louisiana from the consequences of integration.

Rainach said the school leaders exhibited a "spirit of cooperation."

The committee plans to meet with school officials and teachers throughout the state prior to the next session of legislature before making final decisions on what program to present before lawmakers.

"At this stage, we are not in a position to make any final decisions," Rainach said.

Solon Addresses Group By Phone

Congressman Otto E. Passman yesterday spoke directly from Washington to a group of Winn-boro high school students as South ern Bell demonstrated its new direct distance dialing system.

Jack Whitehead, Southern Bell public relations man, said the new advance, which is basically similar to local dial service, will be nationally instituted in 1970.

Meeting Slated To Select Bids

A special meeting of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury will be held Friday, Dec. 20, to decide on bids offered for air conditioning units for the new agricultural building in West Monroe.

Bids for eight one-ton units were opened yesterday at the regular monthly meeting of the jury, and were taken under study.

W. Montgomery, president, said that the jurors must decide on the units before January 1, since lower prices now available will be good only until then.

Other bids on a six months' supply of concrete and metal curbs were also opened, and a warding of the contract will be made at a later date.

The group voted to purchase a new four-door sedan for the parish. The auto will cost $1511.90, after the present parish car is traded in at Brown-River-Scoggin, Inc.

Survey Slated

A survey will be made to determine the practicality of constructing a new road between Highway 165 north and the Swartz road to Bastrop.

The road would start near the junction of Finks-Hideaway road and route 165, a few miles north of Monroe. It would cut across in a diagonal to the Swartz road.

The connection with the Swartz road would be beyond the Lakeshore addition, near Bayou Desiard.

"A committee will make the survey, to find out if property owners will give us the right-of-way, and also to determine the cost of such a project," Montgomery said. Reports will be made at the regular January meeting.

The new project resulted after a delegation requested the new route, which would cross Wards 1, 2, and 10.

Approve Bond Project

The jury also went on record as approving the Monroe capital improvement bond project, which will be voted on next week.

Montgomery said that he and the majority of the jurors from city wards 3 and 10 "feel that Monroe needs the improvements which can be gained through this bond election."

The jurors learned that the annual convention of all police juries throughout the state will take place April 17-19 in New Orleans.

Seven All-Staters Of WMHS Vocal Dept. To Appear

Seven all-state members of the West Monroe High School vocal department will be featured in the fifth annual Christmas Concert at 8 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium.

They are Madeline Brown, Pat Tompkins, Wynona Stewart, Gwen Barnes, Sandy Lawn, Harry Boyd and Kenny Waggoner.

Also on the program are Rebecca Wallace, soloist; Mary Jordan, chimes; James Hinton, Kenneth Redding, Freddie Cook, DeWayne Carter and Ken Wright, brass quintet; Madeline Brown and Ruth Kincaide, soloists and Lynn Hamm, bells. Director is Henry Camp, music instructor of West Monroe.

The stage committee consists of Arlo Pennington, Martha Kempf, Billy Weber, F. P. Cobb, Dickie Soigner, Robert Aldridge, Carol Green and Louise Lester.

To be presented are such well known compositions as "Winter Wonderland," "Silver Bells," "White Christmas," "Carol of the Bells," "Hallelujah Chorus," from "The Messiah," and "What Child is This?"

YOUTH SLIGHTLY INJURED HERE IN MISHAP WITH GUN

A Monroe youth was slightly injured when struck in the stomach by a wad of soap fired from a .22 caliber rifle over the weekend, it was revealed yesterday.

The parish sheriff's department and juvenile division said last night the incident was under investigation.

Information released by the authorities explained that the teenager was apparently shot by his young companion as a prank.

According to investigators, the bullet had been removed from the cartridge and replaced by soap, before one of the youths then fired it at the other.

In such juvenile cases, authorities explained, definite information on identification of subjects involved is not permitted released.

Monroe Woman Hurt In Mishap

A Monroe driver last night was injured when her car went out of control near the intersection of Breard and Louisville, jumped a ditch and rammed into a telephone pole.

Monroe police identified her from driver's license found in the car, as Mary Earle Brumfield, Box 172. Her age was listed as 18.

Condition of the victim, who was rushed to St. Francis Hospital, had not been determined late last night. Time of the accident was around 11 p.m., according to police.

The 1956 Chevrolet four-door sedan sustained considerable damage in the accident. Police said that the vehicle, traveling south, left the road, dropped into a four-foot ditch, hit a concrete culvert, jumped a driveway and came to a halt against a telephone pole. The distance traveled after leaving the road was approximately 200 feet, according to police.

MRS. R. F. BENNETT —Funeral services for Mrs. R. F. Bennett, 75, of Dubach, who died at her residence yesterday morning of a heart attack, will be held at the Corinth Baptist Church 3:30 p.m. today with Rev. Forest Post officiating.

Mrs. Bennett was a member of the Corinth Baptist Church.

Interment will be in the Corinth Cemetery under direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Ruston.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Honor Campbell, Dubach; four sons, Grady Bennett, W. M. Bennett and B. F. Bennett all of Dubach, and Carl Bennett, Yakima, Wash.; one sister, Mrs. Queen Lewis, Dubach and nine grandchildren.

JOSEPH D. DANNER

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (Special)—Joseph D. Danner, retired employee of the Monroe district of Union Producing Company, died yesterday at 1 p.m. in a Hot Springs, Ark., hospital.

Mr. Danner, age 69, had been in declining health for several months.

A native of Bradford, Pa., Mr. Danner came to Louisiana at an early age, and was educated in the schools at Jennings.

He joined Union Producing Company, a subsidiary of United Gas, at Jackson, Miss., in 1932. Later he transferred to the Shreveport district of the company and from 1939-1946 he was engaged in field production operations at Myrtle and Rodessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Danner have been making their home in Pearcy, Ark., near Hot Springs.

Survivors are his widow; one son, W. C. Danner, Pearcy; a brother, J. M. Danner, North Carolina, and a sister, Mrs. Agnes Loving, Alhambra, Calif.

Run-Away Auto Pins Man Here

A run-away automobile pinned a 50-year-old Negro against a building here today breaking his right leg.

The vehicle's owner was booked for negligent injury and leaving a car unattended with the motor running.

According to police, the vehicle was parked at 1700 Lou Berta and its gears engaged allowing it to run several feet before pinning William Harris of 3905 Barlow against a cafe at 1700 1/2 Lou Berta, about 11 a.m.

Lester Sanders, 45-year-old Jonesboro Negro, was charged in the incident, and Harris was treated at Conway Hospital.

Youth Slightly Injured Here In Mishap With Gun

A Monroe youth was slightly injured when struck in the stomach by a wad of soap fired from a .22 calibre rifle over the week-end, it was revealed yesterday.

The parish sheriff's department and juvenile division said last night the incident was under investigation.

Information released by the authorities explained that the teenager was apparently shot by his young companion as a prank.

According to investigators, the bullet had been removed from the cartridge and replaced by soap, before one of the youths then fired it at the other.

In such juvenile cases, authorities explained, definite information on identification of subjects involved is not permitted released.

Monroe Woman Hurt In Mishap

A Monroe driver last night was injured when her car went out of control near the intersection of Breard and Louisville, jumped a ditch and rammed into a telephone pole.

Monroe police identified her from driver's license found in the car, as Mary Earline Brumfield, Box 172. Her age was listed as 18.

Condition of the victim, who was rushed to St. Francis Hospital, had not been determined late last night. Time of the accident was around 11 p.m., "according to police."

The 1956 Chevrolet four-door sedan sustained considerable damage in the accident. Police said that the vehicle, traveling south, left the road, dropped into a four-foot ditch, hit a concrete culvert, jumped a driveway and came to a halt against a telephone pole. The distance traveled after leaving the road was approximately 200 feet, according to police.

Run-Away Auto Pins Man Here

A run-away automobile pinned a 50-year-old Negro against a building here today breaking his right leg.

The vehicle's owner was booked for negligent injury and leaving a car unattended with the motor running.

According to police, the vehicle was parked at 1700 Lou Berta and its gears engaged allowing it to run several feet before pinning William Harris of 3905 Barlow against a cafe at 1700 1/2 Lou Berta, about 10:30 a.m.

Lester Sanders, 45 - year - old Jonesboro Negro, was charged in the incident, and Harris was treated at Conway Hospital.

Services For Infant

A memorial service for Donald Clay Johnson, three-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Johnson, 906 Cole Ave., will be held today at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Ralph Cain will conduct the service at Sherrouse Methodist Church. Interment will be at 10 a.m. at Memorial Park Cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home.

Besides his parents, the infant is survived by a brother Charles T. and two sisters, Judith Jo, and Patti Ann.

He had sometime tomorrow.

Survivors include the widow, Leslie Gough; two sons, Newton of Lake Charles and Leon of Corpus Christi; three daughters, Mrs. Ledell Fauthere of Transylvania, Mrs. Sam Copeland, Corpus Christi, and another daughter in Texas.

NATO Group Studies Need For Missiles

PARIS, Dec. 11 (AP) — NATO's Military Committee today tackled the question of missile needs—and presumably some members' reluctance to accept a new U.S. offer of intermediate-range weapons.

The two-day secret meeting is preliminary to the summit conference of NATO opening Monday. The United States will make its formal offer of intermediate-range ballistic missiles then.

Some NATO nations are reluctant to accept the missiles for fear they will invite Soviet retaliation. The Moscow propaganda machine is playing on these fears now.

In the past few days, Turkey and Belgium have formally announced acceptance of the year-old U.S. offer.

For some time, however, Italy, West Germany, Norway and Denmark have had missile crews under training at Ft. Sill, Okla., so their coming acceptance is a fair bet, U.S. sources said.

Denmark and Norway, on the northernmost flank of the NATO defense area, have made it clear they will not accept any offer of nuclear warheads for the missiles.

Washington's original offer covered only defensive missiles for use against aircraft, or tactical weapons for use against enemy troops within a 250-mile radius, but now is prepared to offer IRBMs that can deliver atomic devastation 1,500 miles away.

Secretary of State Dulles yesterday made it clear that missiles will not be forced on any country. But the idea remains a key point in the U.S. program to shore up the Atlantic Alliance in the face of Russian technological advance.

For the next few years IRBM bases in Western Europe are needed to protect the United States itself. Agreement is near between London and Washington to set up four IRBM launching bases in Britain.

France is still debating whether to take either the short-range or intermediate-range missiles.

France has perfected its own short-range missiles, and announced successful testing of three high altitude rockets last month.

France is also believed to be forging ahead with its own nuclear weapons.

Moscow for months has been warning NATO nations against letting the United States set up missile bases on their soil. West Germany got a new warning yesterday.

'Watch Dog' Committee's Work Studied

RUSTON (Special) — School superintendents and representatives from 22 parishes met here yesterday to review a program of study set up by the Louisiana "watch dog" legislative committee on segregation.

Bids for eight one - ton units were opened yesterday at the regular monthly meeting of the jury, and were taken under study. M. W. Montgomery, president, said that the jurors must decide on the units before January 1, since lower prices now available will be good only until then.

Other bids on a six months' supply of concrete and metal culverts were also opened, and awarding of the contract will be made at a later date.

The group voted to purchase a new four - door sedan for the parish. The auto will cost $1511.90, after the present parish car is traded in at Brown - River - Scoggin, Inc.

Auditor Gives Testimony In Longmire Trial

NATCHEZ, Miss., Dec. 11 (AP) — Auditor E. Y. Pettus testified at the Elmer Longmire embezzlement trial today he had not gotten his information on Adams County affairs from defeated candidates for political posts.

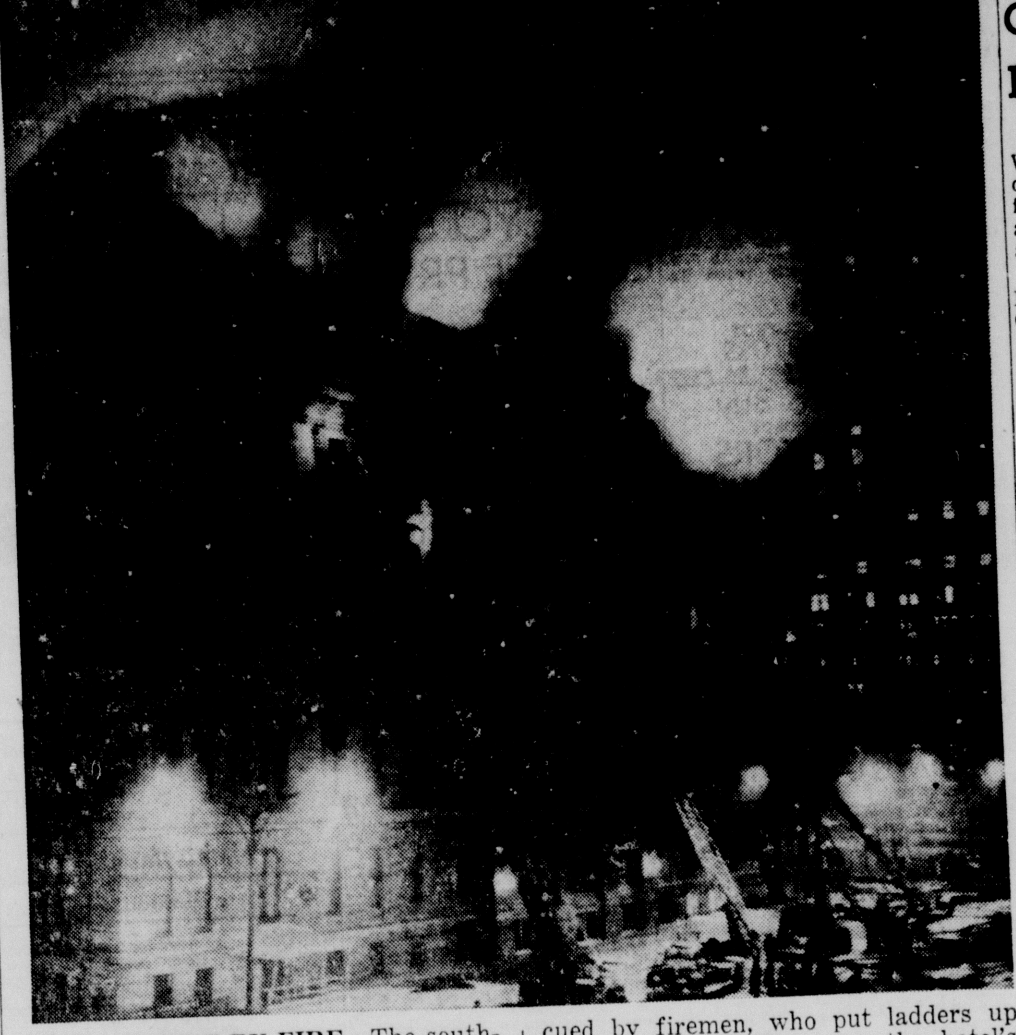

Pettus, who checked the books for the State Auditor Department, appeared at the trial of Longmire, a county supervisor indicted on charges of embezzling $2,586 in county funds. His investigation led to the charges against Longmire and three other supervisors, whose trials are scheduled to follow.

The state charges the funds were used to construct a combination county barn and apartment on property owned by Mrs. Longmire. Defense attorneys contended the money went only for the barn part and not the apartment above it.

The case recessed until tomorrow.

Police Report Body

HOUSTON, Dec. 11 (UP) — The body of a middle-aged man was found in a "hobo jungle" on Houston's north side today. Police said his head had been battered by a weapon. He was not identified.

Meeting Slated To Select Bids

A special meeting of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury will be held Friday, Dec. 20, to decide on bids offered for air conditioning units for the new agricultural building in West Monroe.

Bids for eight one - ton units were opened yesterday at the regular monthly meeting of the jury, and were taken under study. M. W. Montgomery, president, said that the jurors must decide on the units before January 1, since lower prices now available will be good only until then.

Video Tower Here Nears Completion

The 500-foot tower of Video Incorporated will be completed today, providing the basis for Twin Cities residents to view four channels in addition to those now serving Monroe.

Using commercial equipment and antennas, the tower will pick up TV channel signals sent through the air from Shreveport —two channels; from Alexandria, one; and one from El Dorado.

Costing between $20-$25,000 for the tower alone, the project will work similarly to a telephone system, according to James H. Hall of West Monroe, vice-president of the corporation.

Lines and cables will be strung throughout the two cities, and those who desire it may have the lines connected into their homes, so their television sets may receive the complete network of channels.

Hall stated that there will be one installation charge, and then a monthly charge for the service.

Public Showing

A public showing is scheduled at the West Monroe Fairgrounds early in January, and programs will be on the air for public viewing late this month.

President of the corporation is Max Rhulen, formerly from Monticello, New York. He plans to make Monroe his home. Hall holds the office of vice-president, and Jim Morgan of West Monroe is secretary - treasurer. Of the ten stockholders, five are from Louisiana, and five are from other states. Hall stated.

Work on the project has been going on for 18 months. Through-out the nation, 500 similar systems are in operation.

The corporation's office is 1215 Cypress street, West Monroe.

Solon Addresses Group By Phone

Congressman Otto E. Passman yesterday spoke directly from Washington to a group of Winnsboro high school students as South ern Bell demonstrated its new direct distance dialing system.

Jack Whitehead, Southern Bell public relations man, said the new advance, which is basically similar to local dial service, will be nationally instituted in 1970.

Bonds Approved

WACO, Tex., Dec. 11 (UP) — Waco voters Tuesday by a large margin approved seven separate bond issues for civic improvement totaling $12,305,000 over a five-year program.

Sinking Creek, in Breckinridge County, Ky., disappears, then follows a subterranean course for an undetermined number of miles before emerging suddenly again as a scenic fountain.

Seven All-Staters Of WMHS Vocal Dept. To Appear

Seven all-state members of the West Monroe High School vocal department will be featured in the fifth annual Christmas Concert at 8 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium.

They are Madeline Brown, Pat Tompkins, Wynora Stewart, Gwen Barnes, Sandy Law, Harry Boyd and Kenny Wagoner.

Also on the program are Rebecca Wallace, soloist; Mary Jordan, chimes; James Hinton, Kenneth Redding, Freddie Cook, DeWayne Carter and Ken Wright, brass quintet; Madeline Brown and Ruth Kincaid, soloists and Lynn Hamm, bells. Director is Henry Camp, music instructor of West Monroe.

The stage committee consists of Arlo Pennington, Martha Kemp, Billy Weber, F. P. Cobb, Dickie Soignier, Robert Aldridge, Carol Green and Louise Lester.

To be presented are such well known compositions as "Winter Wonderland," "Silver Bells," "White Christmas," "Carol of the Bells," "Hallelujah Chorus," from "The Messiah," and "What Child is This?"

NATO MEETING

Nixon 'Pleased'
Ike Will Attend

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — Although Eisenhower had said Vice President Nixon is reported pleased that President Eisenhower —and not he—will head the American delegation to the Paris NATO meeting.

Miller Named
'Man Of Year'
By Growers

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11 (AP) — The Vegetable Growers Assn. of America today named Dr. Julian C. Miller, head of the Louisiana State University department of horticulture, "Man of the Year."

Miller, noted for development work with sweet potatoes, fruits and other vegetables, was chosen at the 49th annual convention banquet.

Author of more than 100 agricultural publications, Miller has directed LSU horticultural research since 1929.

He was the first person to induce the sweet potato plant to bloom and set seed in the United States, opening an outstanding breeding program.

LSU researchers have bred and improved foundation seed, greatly aiding the state's sweet potato industry.

The introduction of the Klonmow strawberry variety, which boosted profits of Louisiana berry growers, brought Dr. Miller a national award.

He is directing work with the "cortisone yam," a Mexican plant which yields a compound from which cortisone is made. The drug has brought striking and rapid improvement in such diseases as rheumatic fever and arthritis.

The LSU professor, a native of Lexington, S. C., is a graduate of Clemson College and received his doctor's degree from Cornell University.

Commerce Research
Director Resigns

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Joseph S. Horan, director of the research and industrial development division of the Department of Commerce and Industry for five years, has resigned to enter private business. Horan, who has been associated with the department since 1951, leaves the department December 15. He and Sydney Carter have formed the firm of Carter-Horan, consultants in community planning and industrial development, with offices at 6300 Airline Highway, Baton Rouge.

In announcing Horan's resignation, Cura Siegelin, executive director of the department, paid high tribute to Horan's executive ability and the efficient manner in which he has headed the research and industrial development division of the department.

He said he would do anything Eisenhower asked and he was prepared to give it all he had if he had been designated.

It was evident Nixon agreed with many others that any NATO conference without Eisenhower would be held in an empty sounding hall. Nixon recognized that he could not hope to offer the kind of personal prestige with which Eisenhower may give the conference an air of success.

Possible Risk

For Nixon, the assignment to Paris would have meant the possible risk of his political future against the long-odds chance that a conference at which Eisenhower was represented only by proxy could have produced any notable achievements.

While protocol would have put him at the head of the delegation, Nixon probably would have had extreme hesitation in overruling any action Secretary of State Dulles wanted to take.

Nixon apparently also feels keenly that he ought to avoid any appearance of taking over presidential policy duties.

Anything less than a substantial success at Paris would have given Nixon's critics in both the Republican and Democratic parties fresh ammunition to use against him in his expected bid for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

He recognized that his enemies could have seized upon any conference failure to contend that he lacked ability.

Benson Meets
With Eastland

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson conferred today with Senator Eastland (D-Miss.) on cotton legislation.

Both were in Chicago for the convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation — Benson to address it and Eastland to receive a federation award for "distinguished and meritorious service" to agriculture.

Eastland told newsmen after his conference with Benson that they had merely exchanged views on the cotton situation and proposals for legislative action to be laid before Congress.

Eastland has been instrumental in the past in helping Benson get some of his proposals through the Senate. Both believe that cotton must be priced to meet its competition in world markets and synthetic fibers at home.

COMMUTING CRUSH — Work-bound commuters to Manhattan, who seldom find rush-hour travel easy, are jammed tighter than usual aboard subway car of Interborough Rapid Transit line at Hunters Point station, just across East River in Queens, yesterday during the strike of subway workers. IRT line, one of three subway divisions, was reported running at nearly 50 per cent of normal. (AP Wirephoto)

More Fire Ant
Hills Reported
In Parish Area

New hills of fire ants are being reported daily on lawns and in flower beds in West Monroe, according to George Tyner, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce fire ant committee.

He commented favorably on the collections made thus far in the move to get state and federal action on an all-out eradication program for the city. More than $325 has been mailed to Fire Ant, Box 427, West Monroe.

The goal is $3,000, which would comprise one-fourth of the total needed for thorough treatment. Further costs will be borne by state and federal agencies, officials said.

The only solution to this problem is a city-wide, concerted effort, Tyner declared. Attempts by individuals to treat their own property would only be a temporary measure, because ants in the untreated areas would re-invade, he said.

Christmas Spirit
Film Available

A thirty minute film, "Spirit of Christmas," consisting of two Christmas stories, the "Nativity From The Holy Bible" and the "Night Before Christmas," is available to schools, civic clubs, social groups, and other organizations, through Southern Bell Telephone Company. Both stories in the film are enacted by the Mable Beaton Marionettes. The film, which is in color, may be obtained by calling the Southern Bell Telephone Company business office, company spokesmen said.

Sen. Ellender
To Address
Tech Assembly

RUSTON (Special) — Allen J. Ellender, United States senior senator of Louisiana, is scheduled to speak at an assembly in Howard Auditorium at Louisiana Tech at 9:40 a.m. on Monday, December 16.

Classes will be shortened to provide for the convocation, the Tech president, Dr. R. L. Ropp, has announced.

Senator Ellender, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, recently returned from his third trip to Russia in the last three years. His talk at Tech is expected to be based largely upon his findings in Russia.

Senator Ellender was the keynote speaker Monday at the opening session, of the annual convention of the Vegetable Growers Assn. of America in New Orleans.

He appeared Wednesday night at Ferriday, where he spoke in the high school auditorium. He recently has made several other talks in various parts of Louisiana.

Nixon 'Pleased' Ike Will Attend

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — Although Eisenhower had said he would send Nixon as the delegation chief if he himself were unable to attend, it can be said now that Nixon hoped from the beginning he would not draw the assignment.

Miller Named 'Man Of Year' By Growers

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11 (AP) — The Vegetable Growers Assn. of America today named Dr. Julian C. Miller, head of the Louisiana State University department of horticulture, "Man of the Year."

Miller, noted for development work with sweet potatoes, fruits and other vegetables, was chosen at the 49th annual convention banquet.

Author of more than 100 agricultural publications, Miller has directed LSU horticultural research since 1929.

He was the first person to induce the sweet potato plant to bloom and set seed in the United States, opening an outstanding breeding program.

LSU researchers have bred and improved foundation seed, greatly aiding the state's sweet potato industry.

The introduction of the Klonmor strawberry variety, which boosted profits of Louisiana berry growers, brought Dr. Miller a national award.

He is directing work with the "cortisone yam," a Mexican plant which yields a compound from which cortisone is made. The drug has brought striking and rapid improvement in such diseases as rheumatic fever and arthritis.

The LSU professor, a native of Lexington, S. C., is a graduate of Clemson College and received his doctor's degree from Cornell University.

Commerce Research Director Resigns

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Joseph S. Horan, director of the research and industrial development division of the Department of Commerce and Industry for five years, has resigned to enter private business.

Horan, who has been associated with the department since 1951, leaves the department December 15. He and Sydney Carter have formed the firm of Carter-Horan, consultants in community planning and industrial development, with offices at 6800 Airline Highway, Baton Rouge.

In announcing Horan's resignation, Cura Siegelin, executive director of the department, paid high tribute to Horan's executive ability and the efficient manner in which he has headed the research and industrial development division of the department.

Both were in Chicago for the convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation — Benson to address it and Eastland to receive a federation award for "distinguished and meritorious service" to agriculture.

Eastland told newsmen after his conference with Benson that they had merely exchanged views on the cotton situation and proposals for legislative action to be laid before Congress.

Eastland has been instrumental in the past in helping Benson get some of his proposals through the Senate. Both believe that cotton must be priced to meet its competition in world markets and synthetic fibers at home.

CROW EDUCATION

CONCORD, N. H. — (UP) — Mary and her little lamb have nothing on Susan Webb. This 11-year-old girl nursed a baby crow back to health after it had tumbled from a tree. Now the bird follows her to school each day.

Possible Risk

For Nixon, the assignment to go to Paris would have meant the possible risk of his political future against the long-odds chance that a conference at which Eisenhower was represented only by proxy could have produced any notable achievements.

While protocol would have put him at the head of the delegation, Nixon probably would have had extreme hesitation in overruling any action Secretary of State Dulles wanted to take.

Nixon apparently also feels keenly that he ought to avoid any appearance of taking over presidential policy duties.

Anything less than a substantial success at Paris would have given Nixon's critics in both the Republican and Democratic parties fresh ammunition to use against him in his expected bid for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

He recognized that his enemies could have seized upon any conference failure to contend that he lacked ability.

COMMUTING CRUSH — Work-bound commuters to Manhattan, who seldom find rush-hour travel easy, are jammed tighter than usual aboard subway car of Interborough Rapid Transit line at Hunters Point station, just across East

River in Queens, yesterday during the strike of subway workers. IRT line, one of three subway divisions, was reported running at nearly 50 per cent of normal. (AP Wirephoto)

More Fire Ant
Hills Reported
In Parish Area

New hills of fire ants are being reported daily on lawns and in flower beds in West Monroe, according to George Tyner, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce fire ant committee.

He commented favorably on the collections made thus far in the move to get state and federal action on an all-out eradication program for the city. More than $325 has been mailed to Fire Ant, Box 427, West Monroe.

The goal is $3,000, which would comprise one-fourth of the total needed for thorough treatment. Further costs will be borne by state and federal agencies, officials said.

The only solution to this problem is a city-wide, concerted effort, Tyner declared. Attempts by individuals to treat their own property would only be a temporary measure, because ants in the untreated areas would re-invade, he said.

Christmas Spirit
Film Available

A thirty minute film, "Spirit of Christmas," consisting of two Christmas stories, the "Nativity From The Holy Bible" and the "Night Before Christmas," is available to schools, civic clubs, social groups, and other organizations, through Southern Bell Telephone Company. Both stories in the film are enacted by the Mable Beaton Marionettes. The film, which is in color, may be obtained by calling the Southern Bell Telephone Company business office, company spokesmen said.

Sen. Ellender
To Address
Tech Assembly

RUSTON (Special) — Allen J. Ellender, United States senior senator of Louisiana, is scheduled to speak at an assembly in Howard Auditorium at Louisiana Tech at 9:40 a.m. on Monday, December 16.

Classes will be shortened to provide for the convocation, the Tech president, Dr. R. L. Ropp, has announced.

Senator Ellender, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, recently returned from his third trip to Russia in the last three years. His talk at Tech is expected to be based largely upon his findings in Russia.

Senator Ellender was the keynote speaker Monday at the opening session, of the annual convention of the Vegetable Growers Assn. of America in New Orleans.

He appeared Wednesday night at Ferriday, where he spoke in the high school auditorium. He recently has made several other talks in various parts of Louisiana.

Adcock To Head
Tech AF ROTC

RUSTON (Special) — William E. Adcock of Coushatta has been elected president of the Air Force ROTC rifle team for the 1957-58 school year, M-Sgt. O. E. Jones, team coach, has announced.

Thomas D. Howard was elected treasurer.

Today the team will fire the annual Randolph Hearst Trophy competition. This will match the
